Now Burbank Knows.

BURBANK is dead, and now knows more than he could guess at concerning Providence and the hereafter.

He said, in a hasty moment, that he did not believe an all powerful and merciful God would create weak human beings, knowing exactly what they would do when created, and then burn them through all eternity. He, Burbank, would not treat one of his plants that way. For expressing his views, he was overwhelmed with reproaches and many abusive letters, from well meaning believers. His doctor says the abuse undoubtedly shortened the old man's life. He was 77.

This shows that it is hard for us, even for some clergymen, to take seriously the doctrine that Americans have a constitutional right to believe what they choose, and express their beliefs. Religions can set up theories flatly contradicting each other, and each is respected as it should be. But let any one say "you can't all be right, and I think you are all wrong," and you hear dismal howling.

Burbank cultivated his own garden, made plants grow better than they had grown before, did his work well. Perhaps Divine justice will forgive him for suggesting that it could be guilty of such cruelty as would disgrace an Apache Indian on the war path.

THIS is written after seeing New Orleans, with Colonel Ewing, who will go to his grave, 40 or 50 years hence, filled with anguish, that millions of Americans should have lived and died without spending at least a month in New Orleans. It is to him like living in Egypt, without seeing the pyramids.

One hundred and thirty-five thousand men and women of French descent live in New Orleans, which means many things, including perfect cooking, that other cities have not.

The old French Cathedral is beautiful and the Cabildo, in which was signed the Louisiana purchase, is a museum of American treasures and memories, not equaled elsewhere.

We bought Louisiana, by the way, a territory that reached north, from the gulf to the Great Lakes, for three cents an acre, the world's record in real estate bargains. "The first consul of France," as Napoleon was then called, must often wonder, in Heaven, why he did not hold on to that parcel.

NEW ORLEANS is a city of sunlight, warmth, beauty, grace, wide streets that make Fifth avenue or State street seem narrow lanes. The people are cheerful, courteous and energetic. But Col. Ewing wants you to know first of all, that New Orleans is a leading American boom town. He must have written the sign that taxi drivers put on their windshields: I Believe in New Orleans.

Bear in mind and remember, Col. Ewing tells it to you, that the Gulf coast, adjoining New Orleans, is the

JAIL INSPECTED

Time for Arraignment of Prisoners Not Determined.

Indictments, charging arson, were returned by the grand jury late yesterday afternoon against William Uhlworm, 21, Clyde Jackson, 23, and Harlan H. Crawford, 45, all of this city in connection with the attempted burning of the Mrs. Agnes Vaughn home, Crook alley, Saturday, April 3.

In Session Two Days.

Uhlworm and Jackson pleaded guilty to arson charges upon preliminary arraignment, the former having made a written confession to his part in the crime. Crawford, who denies any complicity in the fire, is at liberty under $2,000 bond.

The grand jury, which was in session but two days, returned eleven true bills, three of them being secret indictments. Forty-seven witnesses were examined, 16 cases considered and four cases ignored. George Blackmore, of East Liverpool, was foreman of the jury.

County Jail Visited.

The jurors made their customary visit to the county jail before adjourning.

"We find the jail in excellent condition and commend Sheriff George Wright and his wife for the way in which it is kept," the report reads.

Strange Disappearance Of Mansfield Man To be Investigated

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Only on petition of Mansfield citizens, will Governor Donahey consider the appointment of special counsel to investigate the mysterious disappearance from Mansfield on March 10 of Clark Baker, dance hall proprietor, the governor announced today.

The governor's statement was prompted by a visit here of Phillip Wolfe, Mansfield editor, who told the executive Richland county officials were making no progress in the investigation.

Wolfe also conferred with Attorney General Crabbe but was informed that the attorney general's office could take no action in the matter unless ordered by the governor.

Wife, Who Talks in Her Sleep, Guilty of Moral Misconduct

PARIS, April 14.—There are worried folk in France today.

A magistrate in southern France has granted a divorce to a husband who charged that while his wife talked in her sleep she mentioned the name of another man.

"Even though the wife did not actually commit misconduct," said the court's judgment, "she rendered herself guilty of moral misconduct by pronouncing in her sleep the name of a man other than her husband."

G. A. ANDERSON IS RELEASED ON $4,000 BOND

Alleged Slayer Granted Freedom Pending New Trial.

LEAVES LISBON

Case to be Assigned at End of Present Term.

George A. Anderson, of East Liverpool, held following the slaying of Frank R. McLain, fleet manager of the McLain Yellow Cab system here, today is free under bond of $4,000.

Verdict of manslaughter found against Anderson at a hearing in common pleas court, was reversed by the court of appeals, on account of the charge to the jury of Judge John Worley, of Cadiz.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes today did not indicate when the case will again be assigned, although it was thought probable that no action will be taken until after the present work of the grand jury has been completed.

Anderson was returned to the county jail on Friday night from the state penitentiary at Columbus after the court of appeals had granted a new trial.

Anderson furnished bond Tuesday and left Lisbon in company with his counsel and a number of friends.

He is represented by Attorney Frank Grosshans, of this city, H. E. Grosshans, of Youngstown, and George T. Farrell, of Lisbon.

Two Payroll Bandits Kidnap Truck Driver And Make Big Haul

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., April 14.—Approximately $50,000 of the Inland Steel company's payroll and three sacks of mail are believed to have been taken by two armed bandits who kidnaped the driver of a United States mail truck here early today.

Postal officials were unable to valuate the loot in the three sacks, but expressed the fear that part of the Inland payroll and other valuable registered mail composed their contents.

The kidnapers, who escaped with the government employee in a high-speed motor car, headed toward Chicago.

SHOW CAST WILL BE ENTERTAINED

World Court Opponent Easy Winner In Illinois Race

Smith Beats McKinley for Republican Nomination for Senator by 100,000 Majority—Brennan is Democratic Choice.

CHICAGO, April 14.—With returns little more than half tabulated, aides of Col. Frank L. Smith today proclaimed his victory for the Republican nomination for United States senator over Senator William B. McKinley in yesterday's primaries by upwards of 100,000 majority. McKinley late last night conceded defeat and sent his congratulations to Col. Smith.

George E. Brennan won the Democratic senatorial nomination by an overwhelming majority.

After the first few precincts in Chicago had reported it became apparent that Smith would carry the city by a huge figure. His aides place his majority in Cook county at 65,000. Smith also developed unusual strength downstate. Even in districts where McKinley was thought invincible, Smith not only held his own but polled slight majorities.

Col. Smith made his campaign almost solely on an anti-world court issue, with McKinley's vote favoring the world court as his chief target.

The nomination of Brennan by the Democrats, to oppose Smith at the November general elections, assures a wet and dry referendum in Illinois this fall. Smith is a dry and has been indorsed by the Anti-Saloon league. Brennan made his campaign on his advocacy of modification of the prohibition laws to permit sale and manufacture of light wines and beer, and predicts his election in November on this platform.

Returns from the congressional districts, near enough complete in most districts to make the results certain, show that practically all of the state's 27 congressmen were renominated. In many districts there were no contests, particularly on the Democratic side, and it is highly probable that all of the incumbents will be renominated when final returns are in.

Only meagre returns are available in the Republican race for two congressman-at-large, but these figures show an overwhelming tendency toward nomination of the present congressmen, Richard Yates and Henry R. Rathbone.

TRIAL OF DEPOSED POLICE CHIEF OF WELLSVILLE STARTS TOMORROW

Civil Service Commission Will Hear Charges Which Mayor Fogo Has Filed Against Ex-police Department Head.

John H. Fultz, deposed chief of police of Wellsville, tomorrow night at 7 o'clock will go on trial before the Wellsville civil service commission on charges of neglect of duty and laxity in enforcement of state and municipal laws brought by Mayor W. L. Fogo.

The hearing, which is expected to continue over a period of several days as a result of the large number of witnesses said to have been subpoenaed by both the prosecution and the defense, will be staged in council chamber of the city hall building.

The chief figures in the trial will be:

John H. Fultz, suspended from office during the latter part of March, by—

Mayor W. L. Fogo, who filed charges of neglect and laxity before—

The Wellsville Civil Service Commission, consisting of Chairman Dwight McLean, A. C. Fogo and Harry Hammond.

Attorneys Ben L. Bennett and Frank E. Grosshans of East Liverpool, and William A. O'Grady of Wellsville, representing the accused police officer.

Attorneys Charles Boyd of Wellsville and Frank L. Lones, of the law firm of Lones, Hill & Davidson of East Liverpool, assisting City Solicitor Samuel C. Luccock of Wellsville, prosecuting the charges.

The defendant asserts that, in the event of an unfavorable decision from the civil service commission, the case will be carried to higher courts.

Mayor W. L. Fogo announces that he is ready to take the charges to as high a tribunal as necessary.

The hearings, according to present indications, will be held chiefly at night. Sessions during the day, Chairman McLean indicates, will be avoided as far as possible.

The suspended police officer, in appealing to the commission for a hearing, denied the charges filed against him.

HOUSE WETS ARE JUBILANT OVER PROPOSED SURVEY OF PROHIBITION

Enforcement Officials to be Questioned Regarding Legislation to Halt Flow of Liquor.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—House wets were jubilant today over the decision of the alcoholic liquor traffic committee to hold a survey of prohibition, commencing next Tuesday.

With the senate judiciary subcommittee finishing its work next week, the wets believed the house hearings would serve to both bring out new facts and keep the issue alive against the coming elections.

This attitude was not shared by Rep. Hudson, Michigan, chairman of the committee. Hudson, regarded as one of the "extra-dry" men in congress, declared today the hearings would not be a forum for debate between wets and drys.

"We propose to hear enforcement officials with a view to recommending legislation, if necessary, to further aid in reducing the flow of liquor," said Hudson.

Despite the cold water thrown on the scope of the survey, Rep. Hill, Maryland, leader of the house wet bloc regarded the move as "most encouraging."

JURY CASE IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Damage case in which John F. Kerr, Saltneville, is suing the Buckeye Motor company, will be heard before a jury tomorrow in the municipal court beginning at 10 o'clock.

The following jurors have been drawn: Cora M. Beatty, Harry Altman, G. R. Pattison, T. J. Kerr, Sylvester Cripps, Clara M. Osborne, Leon Rubin and Alfred Peterson.

WAITRESS ROUTS BOLD BANDIT

MIDDLETOWN, O., April 14.—Undaunted by the bold, bad bandit who pointed a gun at her and demanded that she hand over the contents of the cash register, Miss Bess Ross, waitress in a local restaurant, seized a heavy water carafe and attacked the man. He fled.

VISITING PASTOR HERE TOMORROW

Dr. Charles L. De Bow.

DR. C. L. DEBOW SPEAKER HERE

Cleveland Man to Fill Pulpit of First M. E. Church.

Dr. Charles L. DeBow, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Cleveland, will speak at the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night, in connection with the fourth annual Epworth League institute, which is being conducted this week.

Dr. DeBow recently went to Cleveland from the First church at Oklahoma City, Okla. He is regarded as one of the leading pastors in the North-East Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal denomination.

The institute which opened Monday has been well attended. Sessions are held each evening. It will be concluded next Sunday, which will be known as Institute Sunday.

Samuel W. Swindell Former Resident Dies at Chicago

Samuel William Swindell, former resident of East Liverpool, died Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at his home in Chicago, where he had been a resident for approximately 17 years.

In addition to his wife, Fannie Forman Swindell, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sarah Jones, of Chicago; a son, William Swindell, of Inglewood, Ill.; his father, William, of East Palestine; a sister, Mrs. Fred Owen, of East Palestine, and a brother, J. E. Swindell, of Chester, W. Va.

The body will arrive here tomorrow morning at 11:45 o'clock. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, in charge of Rev. F. C. Roberts, rector of the St. Matthew's church, of Chester.

Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Advertising for Baseball Schedule Not Authorized

As a warning to East Liverpool merchants and business men, C. C. Cline, president of the Industrial Baseball League, today announced that the league is not seeking advertisements for score cards or schedule forms and anyone who represents himself in an undertaking of this kind does not have the authority of the league behind him.

President Cline calls the matter to the attention of business men following reports that such solicitation has been made of various merchants.

ROBERT WHITE, 23, SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES EARLY TODAY

Victim Believed to Have Fallen From Train.

INTERNALLY HURT

Body Will be Shipped to Cleveland for Burial.

As a result of injuries sustained Monday morning at 2 o'clock when he fell from an eastbound fast freight at the western end of the Pennsylvania railroad shops, near Boring's Crossing, Wellsville, Robert White, 23 years old, of Cleveland, died this morning at 3:30 o'clock in the City hospital here.

Unconscious When Found.

Although C. & P. railroad representatives at Wellsville today said they knew nothing about the accident, it is believed that White lost his footing at some point on the train and was thrown with great force to the right of way.

He was unconscious when picked up by railroad men at Boring's. He was badly cut and bruised and was believed to have been hurt internally. He was attended by Dr. J. S. McCulloch of Wellsville and Dr. W. A. Hobbs of East Liverpool.

The body was removed to the Miller undertaking establishment and will be shipped today to the family residence in Cleveland for burial.

CONGO FERRY IS OPERATED

Vehicle Boat Tied up in Court, Now in Commission.

Through the efforts of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and the Columbiana County Motor club, the vehicle ferry between Third street, Wellsville, and Congo has again been placed in operation.

The boat has been tied up for several weeks because of a court litigation. Secretary Barth of the Chamber of Commerce and E. M. Diehl, secretary of the automobile club went to Wheeling this week and secured permission from the federal court to have the boat released pending a settlement of the litigation.

Since the closing of the East Liverpool-Wellsville road, the detour between the two cities has been via West Point, which is about 40 miles for the round trip. Traffic between the two cities is now across the bridge into Newell and thence back across the river by ferry at Congo. The new arrangement is quite a convenience to local business houses which make daily trips to the sister city.

Commissioners Seek Names of Deceased World War Veterans

Dead line for the receipt of lists of all those graves of soldiers, sailors and marines for which markers are to be furnished by the county commissioners is April 25. The markers are provided by the county under authority of a state law.

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the county commissioners, in issuing this order to ex-service men's organizations says:

"It is my desire that you submit a complete list to me by April 25 of the persons buried in or about who were in the World war, either abroad or in this country. I must have the list on or before the above mentioned date, so that markers will be received for Decoration Day.

"Give the name of the soldier, sailor or marine, company, regiment or other command in which he served, so that this data can be inscribed on each marker."

SIX KILLED, FOUR OTHERS INJURED AS RESULT OF KLAN-ANTI-KLAN ELECTION RIOTS AT HERRIN, ILL.

HERRIN, Ill., April 14. — The heavy tramp of national guardsmen echoed anew in the streets of Herrin today following the latest revival of feudist warfare that has earned for this county the name of "bloody Williamson." An ominous quiet prevails today but an order placing the city under martial law will be issued at the first threat of trouble.

In the morgue are the bodies of six men—victims of the pitched battle fought in the streets during the election here yesterday. Four other men lie seriously wounded in hospitals.

The feudists are of two factions, klansmen and anti-klansmen. After a truce of 14 months yesterday's disturbance broke with a suddenness that rocked the city and sent unallied citizens scurrying to their homes for protection.

The trouble started at the polls. The race for sheriff has been unusually bitter, each faction trying to elect the man who would be partial to its side. When John Smith, alleged leader of Ku Klux Klan forces, challenged a number of Italians' votes, an anti-klan precinct worker struck Smith in the face. A fight ensued but was quelled by local authorities.

An hour later Smith was shot as he stood in front of his garage. He was wounded but crawled to the garage and barricaded the door. A few minutes later four men with a machine gun mounted in their automobile drove by and riddled the garage with bullets. They then drove past the Masonic temple, a polling place, in front of which a number of klansmen were gathered.

A volley of shots was fired into the crowd. Three men fell, mortally wounded. Their companions opened fire on the raiders and two of them fell from the car, dead. Another was mortally wounded.

The small company of guardsmen was then divided into squads and placed about the town. Maj. Davis wired Cairo and Salem to mobilize their guardsmen and have them ready to move at a moment's notice.

Smith was shot through the neck and is expected to recover.

It was hinted today that the shooting was part of a plot to kill the nine principal klansmen in Herrin. Smith and the three klansmen killed were among the marked men, it was said.

Adjt. General Carlos E. Black at Springfield was watching the situation closely today, and is said to have issued orders to Maj. Davis to place the town under martial law at the first indication of renewed rioting.

The chief figures in the trial will be:

John H. Fultz, suspended from office during the latter part of March, by—

Mayor W. L. Fogo, who filed charges of neglect and laxity before—

The Wellsville Civil Service Commission, consisting of Chairman Dwight McLean, A. C. Fogo and Harry Hammond.

Attorneys Ben L. Bennett and Frank E. Grosshans of East Liverpool, and William A. O'Grady of Wellsville, representing the accused police officer.

Attorneys Charles Boyd of Wellsville and Frank L. Lones, of the law firm of Lones, Hill & Davidson of East Liverpool, assisting City Solicitor Samuel C. Luccock of Wellsville, prosecuting the charges.

The defendant asserts that, in the event of an unfavorable decision from the civil service commission, the case will be carried to higher courts.

Mayor W. L. Fogo announces that he is ready to take the charges to as high a tribunal as necessary.

The hearings, according to present indications, will be held chiefly at night. Sessions during the day, Chairman McLean indicates, will be avoided as far as possible.

The suspended police officer, in appealing to the commission for a hearing, denied the charges filed against him.

HOUSE WETS ARE JUBILANT OVER PROPOSED SURVEY OF PROHIBITION

Enforcement Officials to be Questioned Regarding Legislation to Halt Flow of Liquor.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—House wets were jubilant today over the decision of the alcoholic liquor traffic committee to hold a survey of prohibition, commencing next Tuesday.

With the senate judiciary subcommittee finishing its work next week, the wets believed the house hearings would serve to both bring out new facts and keep the issue alive against the coming elections.

This attitude was not shared by Rep. Hudson, Michigan, chairman of the committee. Hudson, regarded as one of the "extra-dry" men in congress, declared today the hearings would not be a forum for debate between wets and drys.

"We propose to hear enforcement officials with a view to recommending legislation, if necessary, to further aid in reducing the flow of liquor," said Hudson.

Despite the cold water thrown on the scope of the survey, Rep. Hill, Maryland, leader of the house wet bloc regarded the move as "most encouraging."

JURY CASE IN MUNICIPAL COURT

WAITRESS ROUTS BOLD BANDIT

MIDDLETOWN, O., April 14.—Undaunted by the bold, bad bandit who pointed a gun at her and demanded that she hand over the contents of the cash register, Miss Bess Ross, waitress in a local restaurant, seized a heavy water carafe and attacked the man. He fled.

VISITING PASTOR HERE TOMORROW

Cleveland Man to Fill Pulpit of First M. E. Church.

Dr. Charles L. DeBow, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Cleveland, will speak at the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night, in connection with the fourth annual Epworth League institute, which is being conducted this week.

Dr. DeBow recently went to Cleveland from the First church at Oklahoma City, Okla. He is regarded as one of the leading pastors in the North-East Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal denomination.

The institute which opened Monday has been well attended. Sessions are held each evening. It will be concluded next Sunday, which will be known as Institute Sunday.

Samuel W. Swindell Former Resident Dies at Chicago

Samuel William Swindell, former resident of East Liverpool, died Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at his home in Chicago, where he had been a resident for approximately 17 years.

In addition to his wife, Fannie Forman Swindell, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sarah Jones, of Chicago; a son, William Swindell, of Inglewood, Ill.; his father, William, of East Palestine; a sister, Mrs. Fred Owen, of East Palestine, and a brother, J. E. Swindell, of Chester, W. Va.

The body will arrive here tomorrow morning at 11:45 o'clock. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, in charge of Rev. F. C. Roberts, rector of the St. Matthew's church, of Chester.

Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Advertising for Baseball Schedule Not Authorized

As a warning to East Liverpool merchants and business men, C. C. Cline, president of the Industrial Baseball League, today announced that the league is not seeking advertisements for score cards or schedule forms and anyone who represents himself in an undertaking of this kind does not have the authority of the league behind him.

President Cline calls the matter to the attention of business men following reports that such solicitation has been made of various merchants.

ROBERT WHITE, 23, SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES EARLY TODAY

Victim Believed to Have Fallen From Train.

INTERNALLY HURT

Body Will be Shipped to Cleveland for Burial.

As a result of injuries sustained Monday morning at 2 o'clock when he fell from an eastbound fast freight at the western end of the Pennsylvania railroad shops, near Boring's Crossing, Wellsville, Robert White, 23 years old, of Cleveland, died this morning at 3:30 o'clock in the City hospital here.

Unconscious When Found.

Although C. & P. railroad representatives at Wellsville today said they knew nothing about the accident, it is believed that White lost his footing at some point on the train and was thrown with great force to the right of way.

He was unconscious when picked up by railroad men at Boring's. He was badly cut and bruised and was believed to have been hurt internally. He was attended by Dr. J. S. McCulloch of Wellsville and Dr. W. A. Hobbs of East Liverpool.

The body was removed to the Miller undertaking establishment and will be shipped today to the family residence in Cleveland for burial.

CONGO FERRY IS OPERATED

Vehicle Boat Tied up in Court, Now in Commission.

Through the efforts of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and the Columbiana County Motor club, the vehicle ferry between Third street, Wellsville, and Congo has again been placed in operation.

The boat has been tied up for several weeks because of a court litigation. Secretary Barth of the Chamber of Commerce and E. M. Diehl, secretary of the automobile club went to Wheeling this week and secured permission from the federal court to have the boat released pending a settlement of the litigation.

Since the closing of the East Liverpool-Wellsville road, the detour between the two cities has been via West Point, which is about 40 miles for the round trip. Traffic between the two cities is now across the bridge into Newell and thence back across the river by ferry at Congo. The new arrangement is quite a convenience to local business houses which make daily trips to the sister city.

Commissioners Seek Names of Deceased World War Veterans

Dead line for the receipt of lists of all those graves of soldiers, sailors and marines for which markers are to be furnished by the county commissioners is April 25. The markers are provided by the county under authority of a state law.

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the county commissioners, in issuing this order to ex-service men's organizations says:

"It is my desire that you submit a complete list to me by April 25 of the persons buried in or about who were in the World war, either abroad or in this country. I must have the list on or before the above mentioned date, so that markers will be received for Decoration Day.

"Give the name of the soldier, sailor or marine, company, regiment or other command in which he served, so that this data can be inscribed on each marker."

SIX KILLED, FOUR OTHERS INJURED AS RESULT OF KLAN-ANTI-KLAN ELECTION RIOTS AT HERRIN, ILL.

HERRIN, Ill., April 14. — The heavy tramp of national guardsmen echoed anew in the streets of Herrin today following the latest revival of feudist warfare that has earned for this county the name of "bloody Williamson." An ominous quiet prevails today but an order placing the city under martial law will be issued at the first threat of trouble.

In the morgue are the bodies of six men—victims of the pitched battle fought in the streets during the election here yesterday. Four other men lie seriously wounded in hospitals.

The feudists are of two factions, klansmen and anti-klansmen. After a truce of 14 months yesterday's disturbance broke with a suddenness that rocked the city and sent unallied citizens scurrying to their homes for protection.

The trouble started at the polls. The race for sheriff has been unusually bitter, each faction trying to elect the man who would be partial to its side. When John Smith, alleged leader of Ku Klux Klan forces, challenged a number of Italians' votes, an anti-klan precinct worker struck Smith in the face. A fight ensued but was quelled by local authorities.

An hour later Smith was shot as he stood in front of his garage. He was wounded but crawled to the garage and barricaded the door. A few minutes later four men with a machine gun mounted in their automobile drove by and riddled the garage with bullets. They then drove past the Masonic temple, a polling place, in front of which a number of klansmen were gathered.

A volley of shots was fired into the crowd. Three men fell, mortally wounded. Their companions opened fire on the raiders and two of them fell from the car, dead. Another was mortally wounded.

The small company of guardsmen was then divided into squads and placed about the town. Maj. Davis wired Cairo and Salem to mobilize their guardsmen and have them ready to move at a moment's notice.

Smith was shot through the neck and is expected to recover.

It was hinted today that the shooting was part of a plot to kill the nine principal klansmen in Herrin. Smith and the three klansmen killed were among the marked men, it was said.

Adjt. General Carlos E. Black at Springfield was watching the situation closely today, and is said to have issued orders to Maj. Davis to place the town under martial law at the first indication of renewed rioting.

Republican Named Mayor.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., April 14.—Gardner C. Weld, Republican, was elected mayor of New Britain over Angelo Paonessa, Democrat, running for re-election.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Property Owners of Bowling Green Like Concrete Streets

More than 3000 American cities and towns from one end of the country to the other have found concrete the ideal street pavement.

They know it withstands the pounding of heavy traffic and that it is always safe to drive on.

They know concrete does away with costly paving repairs.

The first concrete streets in Bowling Green, O., were built in 1914.

Maintenance has been pratically nothing. The city now has sixteen concrete streets.

Experience has proved to Bowling Green people that concrete streets give greater value per dollar.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

Property Owners of Bowling Green Like Concrete Streets

More than 3000 American cities and towns from one end of the country to the other have found concrete the ideal street pavement.

They know it withstands the pounding of heavy traffic and that it is always safe to drive on.

They know concrete does away with costly paving repairs.

The first concrete streets in Bowling Green, O., were built in 1914.

Maintenance has been pratically nothing. The city now has sixteen concrete streets.

Experience has proved to Bowling Green people that concrete streets give greater value per dollar.

Gift Money Suspected

Most foreign countries are glad to get American money on any pretext whatever. Not so Egypt. There is considerable doubt expressed as to whether the Egyptian government will accept the $10,000,000 offered by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for an archeological museum in Cairo.

The terms of Mr. Rockefeller's gift certainly do not seem offensive, even to a country notoriously touchy and super-dignified toward foreigners. There is no attempt to monopolize the relic business in Egypt or dictate to the Egyptian authorities. The donor proposes to have his gift controlled for 30 years by a joint board equally representing Egypt, America, England and France, after which time Egypt is to gain full control.

But even this much renders the Egyptian politicians suspicious and hostile. They cannot understand why any outsider should give so much money just to promote archeology and befriend an ancient and poverty-stricken country. So they may refuse the offer or else hedge it about with crippling conditions—as they have with all the outside archeological work there—until the donor recalls his gift.

There is no accounting for what foreigners will do. Still, who are we to criticise? An American university, only recently, refused some of Mr. Rockefeller's philanthropic money for the same reasons that seem to actuate the Egyptians.

Longer-Playing Records

Another bit of evidence—if any were needed—that the radio has not killed the phonograph is found in the news that records can now be made which play 50 per cent more music than old records of the some size. Other developments in the recording art are expected to increase the life of a record.

Both of these things will increase the enjoyment of phonograph users and the popularity of phonographs.

Longer records will mean the reproduction of longer musical numbers. Instead of giving only fragments of certain lovely instrumental pieces, they can be played clear through. Compositions still too long for even the new records will be divisible into larger units. Perhaps a day will come when a whole symphony or concert can be played from one record.

Everything which tends to bring good music to more people is important and valuable. And neither music artists nor commercial musical interests have anything to fear from such developments. The public seems to have an infinite capacity for musical enjoyment. Music itself satisfies so many tastes and needs that the more people know about it the more they want of it.

A Moslem League

There is talk now of a "Moslem League of Nations" uniting the 220,000,000 Mohammedans of the world. The project, as set forth in some of the foreign dispatches, seems rather alarming.

An Islamic congress is to meet at Cairo in May to elect a new caliph of the Mohammedan faith. There will be an effort made there to call a subsequent assembly at Mecca, representing the whole Moslem world. If the plan of Sheik Abul Azaim is carried out, there will be an effort to organize the caliphate into a sort of super-government for all Moslem states.

"The consequences of this plan would be incalculable," says a British observer. "For it would establish a Moslem league of nations more coherent and effective than its prototype at Geneva."

Moslem scares are periodical and eternal, and it is seldom that anything comes of them. For years now there has been talk of a new "Holy War" against Christendom and Christendom still seems as safe as ever.

It would be "some job," assuredly, to unite the 220,000,000 Moslems of the world for joint action, political or military. There are 4,000,000 of them in Europe, 140,000,000 in Asia, 45,000,000 in Africa and 30,000,000 in Oceania. The various units have all fallen apart, finding co-operation impossible in recent times. The largest continental block, the Asiatic Moslems, are divided among Turkey, Arabia, India and other countries, with most of them in India, which is not a nation at all. Turkey and the Arabian countries are always quarrelling. Mustapha Kemal, the ablest leading Moslem, cares nothing for religion. The religious followers of the prophet elsewhere care nothing for him.

If the fiery sheiks of the desert, however, can drum up some sort of Moslem league of nations, it might really be a good thing in some ways. It would hardly kill off the league at Geneva. A little healthful competition might impel the Geneva organization to get together and develop more efficiency in behalf of international Christendom.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—Millionaires in Gotham seem to be indulging their love of luxury in colorful bathrooms. Each one is outdoing the other. Having a magnificently equipped bath is an indoor conceit comparable to the old outward gesture of a moated castle or a shooting box in Scotland.

The late Frank Munsey spent thousands on an especially equipped bath for his apartment at the Ritz. Another rich bachelor has a bath of black onyx in his Park avenue apartment, with faucets inlaid, with green jade. It is said to have cost $75,000.

A famous Wall Street plunger begins his manoeuvering for the day in his bath. It is a white marbled Roman affair inset in the floor, and when he sinks into its cool depths there is a battery of telephones encased in rubber at his elbow.

He directs preliminary skirmishes of his chiefs over them. He has said most of his clever coups originated while enjoying his morning plunge. Scores of high-powered executives now have shower baths in their offices, to which they may retire in moments of fatigue.

Two skilled architects are devoting their entire talents to bathroom specialization. The bath is no longer a slit in the hall. It is often the size of the drawing room, with equipments as expensive. They are even making miniature baths for the kiddies. Perhaps this is why outlanders say New York is "all wet."

The finest bath I ever saw is in a private home on a Long Island estate. It was the kind that made you wish for Saturday night. The floor was of a green translucent composition under which water constantly flowed. The walls and ceiling were mirrors.

The tub was chiseled out of solid marble. One push button automatically started an old fashioned music box hidden in the wall. Another button automatically sprayed the water released artificial sun rays for the drying process.

I don't think any bathroom medicine cabinet yet devised is large enough. I never saw one not completely filled. In a strange bathroom I invariably snoop into the medicine cabinet. Most of them are veritable Pandora boxes. There are mysterious pellets, balsams, salves and tubes and scores of other highly advertised products, tried once and abandoned. In the same manner I do not believe any place holds such a lure of mystery for a boy as behind the prescription case of an old-fashioned drug store.

So far as I can discover I am the only person invited to Earl Carroll's famous party who did not attend. I was out of town.

A woman appeared in a Broadway cafe the other day wearing the sort of veil so fashionable a few years ago. She created so much excitement that two reporters interviewed her. They scented deep mystery.

There are not perhaps a half dozen remaining of the aristocratic old boarding houses which, after the London fashion, received "paying guests." The landladies were pale, acidulated and snobbish and were given to rustling black silks. They drove every afternoon in their carriages. The boarding houses were the havens of the star boarder who usually seemed as brown and bitter as the coffee. After dinner there was the front parlor. The music professor who lived three flights up and all the way back played a selection or two. It was the nearest approach to small town life to be found in all New York.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Melting Pot of Nations—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—While many Americans are looking upon Mexico as a probable trouble spot, and are awaiting with interest the developments in the effort of Secretary of State Kellogg to secure some amendment or moderate interpretation to Mexican laws affecting American oil and mineral holdings, a very different picture of Mexico is set forth by Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, who has long been interested in Mexican affairs.

In an interview designed for publication in England, Mr. Chandler declares that Mexico has the most glorious future imaginable, and that her policy of "Mexico for Mexicans" as interpreted in her land laws and naturalization laws is probably destined to create a nation which will enjoy a growth and prosperity akin to that of the United States in the last century.

Mr. Chandler makes no reference to his own interests in Mexico, and expresses no alarm about the present dispute between this country and Mexico over Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution and the 1925 laws passed to interpret that article. He asserts the belief that a fair solution of this detail will be arrived at, but says he regards the billion dollars of foreign capital involved—half of it American—as but a small factor in the great prospects for the future of Mexico. What interests him is the broad policy laid down by Mexico in her new laws, which welcome immigration and encourage naturalization by making it a requisite for land ownership in most instances, and which the western publisher forecasts as destined to make of Mexico a new melting pot" for immigration from the old world.

He foresees the same type of courageous immigrants who poured into the United States during the nineteenth century, flocking into Mexico during the remainder of the twentieth century. He points out that less than a year after the United States, by the 1924 immigration act, closed the door to two-thirds of the immigration which had been coming here, Mexico by her 1925 legislation opened her doors to the same type of immigration.

Mr. Chandler sees Mexico in a situation similar to that of the United States one hundred years ago, with vast areas of fertile land undeveloped, great mineral riches untouched, but with the advantage of a transportation system fairly well developed, so that the resources of Mexico are much more readily available to the markets of the world than were those of our own nation a century ago.

Regards Laws As Fair.

In this situation he regards the new Mexican laws, as a whole, as a natural, fair, and wise policy. These laws provide that no alien may own land in Mexico within 60 miles of a frontier or within 30 miles of a seacoast. No alien may acquire sub-soil rights, that is mineral, oil, or water rights, anywhere in Mexico. This in effect is the policy of "Mexico for Mexicans." Mr. Chandler, with years of experience and close contact with Mexican affairs, regards it as a very sound and natural policy, from the Mexican viewpoint. It is coupled with liberal laws of naturalization, so that bona fide settlers may become citizens of Mexico and property owners as readily, and even more readily, than could the immigrant to this country in earlier years.

"The answer," says Mr. Chandler, "is as simple as that of two and two. From the United States the tide of old world immigration is already turning to Mexico. And for the first time in its history, Mexico is in a position to receive its influx, to assimilate it, and to profit by its coming.

"Immigration has never been one of Mexico's primary problems. In pre-revolutionary days the country was in the hands of an aristocracy which maintained effectual control of its land, its wealth and its resources. There was scant opportunity for the alien newcomer with no capital save his hands.

"In the ten years following the overthrow of the Diaz regime Mexico went from one revolution to another. During that period the principal concern of such aliens as were involved was not to get into Mexico but to get out of it safely.

"With the coming of peace and stable government dawned the era of the commoner. A policy was enunciated making the country's natural resources the property of the people. The agrarian law swung the axe on the feudal system of vast landed estates. From a few great parcels of property Mexico was, theoretically at least, broken up into a great number of little pieces for the legal taking of any according to his ability, industry, and influence.

The next step was logical enough. Foreseeing the rush from without to gather up bits of this potential wealth, Mexico enacted into law the slogan, 'Mexico for Mexicans.'

"The effect of these enactments will be to make it necessary for all aliens desirous of owning mining, oil, or farm property in Mexico to become Mexicans in fact or in spirit.

To Eat Her Cake And Have It.

"Thus Mexico will eat her cake and have it, too. She will give away her treasures and keep them as well—and with them will keep as citizens all those who would share in the vast wealth of her natural resources. In exchange for a permanent population of new citizens she offers opportunities such as few lands afford."

Mr. Chandler points out with detailed statistical data the decrease of immigration to the United States and the consequent possibilities for immigration to Mexico. From a high tide of 1,250,000 yearly, our first restriction law cut the influx to 700,000 a year, and then our 1924 act, further restricting the quotas, brought the 1925 total down to 300,000. Thus he estimates that certainly 400,000 Europeans per year who are anxious to come to the new world are barred from the United States and may very naturally turn to the open door of Mexico. This number is probably below the facts, as no one knows how many people would now be coming to America if we had no restrictions whatever.

These immigrants are in large part the same sort of aggressive, pioneer stock who have come to the United States in the past. They are usually willing to become citizens of the new land which offers them homes and a chance for success, and their citizenship becomes strengthened in their children and in succeeding generations. They probably will, in fact, become Mexicans, and will inject new blood into the people of the country and give to that republic a stronger nationality and more aggressive race.

At the same time the immigration will strengthen Mexico. Mr. Chandler foresees a steady development of the Mexican people, who have recently been freed from peonage, and are struggling toward better education through a public school system.

The whole outlook for Mexico in the next few generations is a rosy one, according to the Los Angeles publisher. While he appears to be in sympathy with the idea of "Mexico for Mexicans," he also foresees plenty of opportunity for American capital, but presumably for capital operated by Mexicans and not by outsiders who would go in for a few years, take all they can from the country, and then move out.

It would be "some job," assuredly, to unite the 220,000,000 Moslems of the world for joint action, political or military. There are 4,000,000 of them in Europe, 140,000,000 in Asia, 45,000,000 in Africa and 30,000,000 in Oceania. The various units have all fallen apart, finding co-operation impossible in recent times. The largest continental block, the Asiatic Moslems, are divided among Turkey, Arabia, India and other countries, with most of them in India, which is not a nation at all. Turkey and the Arabian countries are always quarrelling. Mustapha Kemal, the ablest leading Moslem, cares nothing for religion. The religious followers of the prophet elsewhere care nothing for him.

If the fiery sheiks of the desert, however, can drum up some sort of Moslem league of nations, it might really be a good thing in some ways. It would hardly kill off the league at Geneva. A little healthful competition might impel the Geneva organization to get together and develop more efficiency in behalf of international Christendom.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—Millionaires in Gotham seem to be indulging their love of luxury in colorful bathrooms. Each one is outdoing the other. Having a magnificently equipped bath is an indoor conceit comparable to the old outward gesture of a moated castle or a shooting box in Scotland.

The late Frank Munsey spent thousands on an especially equipped bath for his apartment at the Ritz. Another rich bachelor has a bath of black onyx in his Park avenue apartment, with faucets inlaid, with green jade. It is said to have cost $75,000.

A famous Wall Street plunger begins his manoeuvering for the day in his bath. It is a white marbled Roman affair inset in the floor, and when he sinks into its cool depths there is a battery of telephones encased in rubber at his elbow.

He directs preliminary skirmishes of his chiefs over them. He has said most of his clever coups originated while enjoying his morning plunge. Scores of high-powered executives now have shower baths in their offices, to which they may retire in moments of fatigue.

Two skilled architects are devoting their entire talents to bathroom specialization. The bath is no longer a slit in the hall. It is often the size of the drawing room, with equipments as expensive. They are even making miniature baths for the kiddies. Perhaps this is why outlanders say New York is "all wet."

The finest bath I ever saw is in a private home on a Long Island estate. It was the kind that made you wish for Saturday night. The floor was of a green translucent composition under which water constantly flowed. The walls and ceiling were mirrors.

The tub was chiseled out of solid marble. One push button automatically started an old fashioned music box hidden in the wall. Another button automatically sprayed the water released artificial sun rays for the drying process.

I don't think any bathroom medicine cabinet yet devised is large enough. I never saw one not completely filled. In a strange bathroom I invariably snoop into the medicine cabinet. Most of them are veritable Pandora boxes. There are mysterious pellets, balsams, salves and tubes and scores of other highly advertised products, tried once and abandoned. In the same manner I do not believe any place holds such a lure of mystery for a boy as behind the prescription case of an old-fashioned drug store.

So far as I can discover I am the only person invited to Earl Carroll's famous party who did not attend. I was out of town.

A woman appeared in a Broadway cafe the other day wearing the sort of veil so fashionable a few years ago. She created so much excitement that two reporters interviewed her. They scented deep mystery.

There are not perhaps a half dozen remaining of the aristocratic old boarding houses which, after the London fashion, received "paying guests." The landladies were pale, acidulated and snobbish and were given to rustling black silks. They drove every afternoon in their carriages. The boarding houses were the havens of the star boarder who usually seemed as brown and bitter as the coffee. After dinner there was the front parlor. The music professor who lived three flights up and all the way back played a selection or two. It was the nearest approach to small town life to be found in all New York.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Melting Pot of Nations—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—While many Americans are looking upon Mexico as a probable trouble spot, and are awaiting with interest the developments in the effort of Secretary of State Kellogg to secure some amendment or moderate interpretation to Mexican laws affecting American oil and mineral holdings, a very different picture of Mexico is set forth by Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, who has long been interested in Mexican affairs.

In an interview designed for publication in England, Mr. Chandler declares that Mexico has the most glorious future imaginable, and that her policy of "Mexico for Mexicans" as interpreted in her land laws and naturalization laws is probably destined to create a nation which will enjoy a growth and prosperity akin to that of the United States in the last century.

Mr. Chandler makes no reference to his own interests in Mexico, and expresses no alarm about the present dispute between this country and Mexico over Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution and the 1925 laws passed to interpret that article. He asserts the belief that a fair solution of this detail will be arrived at, but says he regards the billion dollars of foreign capital involved—half of it American—as but a small factor in the great prospects for the future of Mexico. What interests him is the broad policy laid down by Mexico in her new laws, which welcome immigration and encourage naturalization by making it a requisite for land ownership in most instances, and which the western publisher forecasts as destined to make of Mexico a new melting pot" for immigration from the old world.

He foresees the same type of courageous immigrants who poured into the United States during the nineteenth century, flocking into Mexico during the remainder of the twentieth century. He points out that less than a year after the United States, by the 1924 immigration act, closed the door to two-thirds of the immigration which had been coming here, Mexico by her 1925 legislation opened her doors to the same type of immigration.

Mr. Chandler sees Mexico in a situation similar to that of the United States one hundred years ago, with vast areas of fertile land undeveloped, great mineral riches untouched, but with the advantage of a transportation system fairly well developed, so that the resources of Mexico are much more readily available to the markets of the world than were those of our own nation a century ago.

Regards Laws As Fair.

In this situation he regards the new Mexican laws, as a whole, as a natural, fair, and wise policy. These laws provide that no alien may own land in Mexico within 60 miles of a frontier or within 30 miles of a seacoast. No alien may acquire sub soil rights, that is mineral, oil, or water rights, anywhere in Mexico. This in effect is the policy of "Mexico for Mexicans." Mr. Chandler, with years of experience and close contact with Mexican affairs, regards it as a very sound and natural policy, from the Mexican viewpoint. It is coupled with liberal laws of naturalization, so that bona fide settlers may become citizens of Mexico and property owners as readily, and even more readily, than could the immigrant to this country in earlier years.

"The answer," says Mr. Chandler, "is as simple as that of two and two. From the United States the tide of old world immigration is already turning to Mexico. And for the first time in its history, Mexico is in a position to receive its influx, to assimilate it, and to profit by its coming.

"Immigration has never been one of Mexico's primary problems. In prerevolutionary days the country was in the hands of an aristocracy which maintained effectual control of its land, its wealth and its resources. There was scant opportunity for the alien newcomer with no capital save his hands.

"In the ten years following the overthrow of the Diaz regime Mexico went from one revolution to another. During that period the principal concern of such aliens as were involved was not to get into Mexico but to get out of it safely.

"With the coming of peace and stable government dawned the era of the commoner. A policy was enunciated making the country's natural resources the property of the people. The agrarian law swung the axe on the feudal system of vast landed estates. From a few great parcels of property Mexico was, theoretically at least, broken up into a great number of little pieces for the legal taking of any according to his ability, industry, and influence.

The next step was logical enough. Foreseeing the rush from without to gather up bits of this potential wealth, Mexico enacted into law the slogan, 'Mexico for Mexicans.'

"The effect of these enactments will be to make it necessary for all aliens desirous of owning mining, oil, or farm property in Mexico to become Mexicans in fact or in spirit.

To Eat Her Cake And Have It.

"Thus Mexico will eat her cake and have it, too. She will give away her treasures and keep them as well—and with them will keep as citizens all those who would share in the vast wealth of her natural resources. In exchange for a permanent population of new citizens she offers opportunities such as few lands afford."

Mr. Chandler points out with detailed statistical data the decrease of immigration to the United States and the consequent possibilities for immigration to Mexico. From a high tide of 1,250,000 yearly, our first restriction law cut the influx to 700,000 a year, and then our 1924 act, further restricting the quotas, brought the 1925 total down to 300,000. Thus he estimates that certainly 400,000 Europeans per year who are anxious to come to the new world are barred from the United States and may very naturally turn to the open door of Mexico. This number is probably below the facts, as no one knows how many people would now be coming to America if we had no restrictions whatever.

These immigrants are in large part the same sort of aggressive, pioneer stock who have come to the United States in the past. They are usually willing to become citizens of the new land which offers them homes and a chance for success, and their citizenship becomes strengthened in their children and in succeeding generations. They probably will, in fact, become Mexicans, and will inject new blood into the people of the country and give to that republic a stronger nationality and more aggressive race.

At the same time the immigration will strengthen Mexico. Mr. Chandler foresees a steady development of the Mexican people, who have recently been freed from peonage, and are struggling toward better education through a public school system.

The whole outlook for Mexico in the next few generations is a rosy one, according to the Los Angeles publisher. While he appears to be in sympathy with the idea of "Mexico for Mexicans," he also foresees plenty of opportunity for American capital, but presumably for capital operated by Mexicans and not by outsiders who would go in for a few years, take all they can from the country, and then move out.

Leaves You Forever

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly refund your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. SEEK APPROVAL OF SETTLEMENT

Plan of Italian Debt Payment to be Ratified.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Administration forces opened a drive in the senate today to obtain ratification of the $2,042,000,000 Italian debt settlement within 10 days.

Under the slogan of "accept this settlement or get nothing from Italy," Republican leaders hoped to hasten a favorable decision. A Democratic group, however, aided by progressive Republicans planned to force a vote upon recommitting the whole settlement to the senate finance committee with instructions to "obtain further information regarding Italy's ability to pay."

Administration spokesmen, led by Senator Smoot (R.), of Utah, a member of the American debt commission, have vigorously opposed this plan.

"There is no need for further study," said Smoot. "The American commission was advised not only from Italian sources but by its own American advisers on Italy's capacity to pay and this was taken into consideration in arranging the settlement. The question before us now is either accept this settlement or get nothing from Italy."

Smoot also declared the Italian settlement, if ratified, could not be used by any other European nation to obtain more lenient terms in settling America's other foreign debts.

"So far as a settlement of the French debt is concerned," Smoot added, "the Italian agreement will have no more effect than a snap of the fingers. There is no comparison between the national wealth and resources of Italy and those of France—no more than between a beggar and a millionaire."

PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Three "Wise Crack" Contestants Get Cash Awards.

Winners in the "wise cracks" contest conducted during the past week in connection with the showing of the film, "Irene," at the American theatre, were announced today.

They are: Jennie Putnam, of Smith's Ferry, Pa., who will receive $5 for her winning contribution.

James Wildblood, 1024 St. Clair avenue, city, who will be awarded $4.

Marie Kirkbride, R. F. D. No. 1, city, who takes down the third cash prize of $3.

Selected from the standpoint of general interest and application the winning "wise cracks" are:

First prize, Irene says: "Suing for a divorce is like making a cake; don't forget anything"—Jennie Putnam, Smiths Ferry, Pa.

Second prize, Irene says: "If a man has the disposition of a mule, you'd better not talk about him behind his back"—James Wildblood, 1024 St. Clair avenue, city.

Third prize, Irene says: "A woman frequently picks out a blooming idiot when she thinks she is getting the flower of manhood"—Marie Kirkbride, R. F. D., No. 1, city.

Hundreds of "Irene says" quips poured in on the contest editor during the week, and the final selection was anything but easy.

Contestants whose contributions were published each afternoon in the Review-Tribune as the best of the lot brought in in each daily mail received tickets to the movie house, and these "cracks" were considered with the others in the final judging.

The three winners can receive their cash awards at the Review-Tribune office.

Retired Steel Head Commits Suicide at Home in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, April 14—Price McKinney, 63, widely known millionaire steel man, was dead here today by his own hand. McKinney shot himself through the head in the bath room of his palatial country home.

McKinney was the head of the McKinney Steel company for more than sixteen years before he retired in May, 1925.

The deceased was born in Butler county, Ohio, and is survived by his widow and three children.

Freezing Temperatures Will Prevail Tonight Weather Man Warns

MAIL CARRIER GOES ON TRIAL

Newcomerstown Man, Charged With Murder of Wife.

By Joe Williams.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 14.—The state today began to build up the chain of evidence which County Prosecutor James E. Patrick hopes will send Harvey E. Haver, former Newcomerstown mail carrier, to the electric chair for the death of his wife, Kathryn Haver, whose body was found last December in an abandoned well.

The jury was completed last night and includes one woman and eleven men. The selection of a 13th juror as alternate was made today.

The jurors are Rev. Paul F. Ebert, Lutheran church pastor; Elias J. Goodering, railroad man; Edward Renner, clay worker; Fred Frutig, farmer; A. Veley, farmer; Lester Stonebrook, shipping clerk; C. K. Kies, building contractor; Denton Young, farmer, former big league baseball pitcher; Clarence R. Ripley, insurance agent and Mrs. A. E. Lichti, wife of a farmer.

Judge Charles S. Turnbaugh of Cambridge, presiding at the trial was expected to rule on admission of depositions from Verna Aulenbach, Reading, Pa., who, the state charges, is the "other woman" in the case, and of Anna Fickes who was a visitor in the Haver home with Miss Aulenbach last August.

The defense will place Haver on the stand late tomorrow or Friday morning, it was indicated today. Haver is expected to tell the same story he told newspaper men last week when he said his wife had died from an overdose of headache tablets and that in the fear of being blamed for hear death, he had become panic stricken and had hidden the body in a well.

real "American Riviera." Others are imitations, and Chicago knows it, if slow New York does not. Fifty-five millions of dollars including some northern millions, are being spent now, on Gulf coast improvements. Magnificent, fast express trains will give direct service from Chicago and the Gulf. Try the Panama limited, on the Illinois Central.

Millions in money and people—will pour in from Chicago and the lake cities to the Gulf coast in winter, disdaining other resorts, as the great crowd from Philadelphia travels to Atlantic City, ignoring New York resorts.

Wise northerners with money are now prospecting, seeking Gulf coast bargains to devour. H. M. Moir, who owns the Morrison hotel in Chicago, is investing two millions in his place at Holmhaven-on-the-Coast.

Beet sugar men are down here, convinced that the soil, deposited more than 150 feet deep by the Mississippi, will do for beef sugar what it does for cane sugar.

TWO things this nation should do now, as the "don't mean maybe" song says. It should establish a waterway for ocean steamers, from New Orleans to Chicago and the other lake cities.

And second, the wasted, surplus waters that rush past this city to the gulf, through a chasm 160 feet deep, should be diverted and made to irrigate lands to the west that need the water.

COL. BOYCE THOMPSON says the Mississippi flood problem could be sending surplus water to western deserts.

Secretary Work, who has energy and is not interested in the word "impossible," should put his own and the army engineers at the two problems.

Secretary Davis, reared on the Mississippi's shore at St. Louis, knows that the proud old river needs handling and controlling, and would gladly help.

And President Coolidge could be made to see that the scheme would yield a profit for the people and then he would be for it. Railroads would oppose the waterway, and it would make them richer. You remember how bankers fought the federal reserve.

NO HOPES FOR DISARMAMENT

Russia's Refusal to Participate Complicates Situation.

LONDON, April 14.—Russia's refusal of the league of nations invitation to participate in the preliminary disarmament conference has only served to heighten pessimism here regarding the possibilities of any further reduction of armaments by international agreement or otherwise.

Although the Baldwin government has announced that it will do all possible to bring about the success of the forthcoming disarmament conference, it is now rumored that there is a chance that the preliminary conference scheduled for May 18 in Geneva may be further postponed.

The ambition disarmament proposals of the league of nations, constituting the most complicated problem with which the world has ever been asked to deal, are still a matter for negotiation and unless Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany can reach a basic agreement of these proposals it is anticipated that there may be a postponement. The league of nations suffered a severe blow to its prestige when the question of Germany's entrance was left unsettled because of disputes, and league leaders would rather postpone the disarmament conference than take a chance on another failure.

PASTOR QUITS HIS CHARGE

Misconduct Charges Filed Against Columbus Minister.

COLUMBUS, April 14—That Rev. James A. Troke, 36, had been forced to resign as pastor of the Eastwood Congregation church there because of alleged misconduct, is the announcement made today by Rev. John A. Schmink, promotion secretary for the Congregational church in Ohio.

The Central Ohio association of Congregational churches, it was stated, has been asked to revoke Troke's certificate as a clergyman. It was charged that Troke, in applying here last February for a license to wed Miss Miram A. Hempstead, Croton, falsely declared he was not previously married and had a wife living.

Local clergymen who conducted an investigation claimed that Troke was divorced from Mrs. Estella Troke, Clarksfield, Minn., his second wife, last September; that he deserted his first wife and unborn babe a few weeks after their marriage; that he tried to obtain money held in trust for his prospective bride, and that he secured funds from relatives of another fiancee an Ohio Wesleyan co-ed, which he spent in obtaining his divorce from the second Mrs. Troke.

Automobile Stolen.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 14.—Tuesday's sharp closing rally, which eliminated a large share of the outstanding short interest, took the "snap" out of the forward movement in prices in the stock market, and the trend of prices turned downward in the first hour today. The swift decline in the specialties like National Biscuit and National Dairy Products, together with the shrinkages of two or three points in the industrial and motors which led yesterday's final rally, emphasized the professional character of the market as a whole.

Prices moved downward in every section of the market in this period in response to heavy offerings of the motor, industrial and specialty stocks by the professionals. National Biscuit sold down 6 points to 70¼ as a result of the failure of the directors to make the regular dividend more than $4 a share. National Dairy Products was under liquidation and declined 4 points to a new low for the year around 53. Hudson Motors, General Motors and Chrysler were pushed on the market and offered at concessions of a point or two, while market leaders like United States Steel and General Electric soon settled to a lower range of prices.

Government Control Of Sale of Beer is Urged by Andrews

WASHINGTON, April 14.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, who for a year has wrestled with the job of enforcing prohibition, created a sensation at the capitol today when he frankly told the senate prohibition committee that he favored a system of governmental control and sale of beer as an aid in enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

The dry czar said he favored sale of beer as an aid to temperance as well as prohibition enforcement.

Andrews also shocked dry members of the committee by declaring his agents were unable to capture more than "one in ten" of the private stills now being operated in the houses of American citizens. He declared he had instituted a new policy, however, of making his men concentrate on "big game" instead of on home brewers.

Andrews declared the day of invading homes without search warrants was passed.

GERMANY TO SEND DELEGATE

Enlargement of League Council to be Discussed.

BERLIN, April 14.—Germany will send a delegate to the league of nations committee which has been appointed to study the question of enlarging the league council, the German cabinet definitely decided today.

Enlargement of the council is proposed as a measure calculated to avoid the controversies over seats which marked the last meeting of the league.

The cabinet, replying to the note, said that it understood the function of the committee was to study "the enlargement of the council, election methods, and the length of terms during which non-permanent members will hold seats."

Foreign Minister Stresemann will sign the note at Locarno, Switzerland, where he is now resting, and forward it to Geneva.

BERGDOLL FACES GERMAN COURT

Draft Evader on Verge of Collapse as Trial Begins.

MOSBACH, Baden, Germany, April 14.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft evader, was in a state of near collapse just before he went on trial today charged with assaulting a 14 year-old girl. Bergdoll faces a sentence of 10 years in the penitentiary if he is convicted.

Bergdoll vehemently protests his innocence. However, the prospective ordeal has brought him to a state of excitement which may mean his collapse before the trial is over, his attorneys said.

Mosbach was crowded this morning with throngs of curious who had come here by train and automobile to attend the trial. At the opening of the trial the presiding judge ordered the public excluded declaring that much of the evidence would endanger public morals. Newspapermen were also forced to leave the court room.

Bergdoll, neatly dressed in a well-cut blue serge suit, appeared in the defendant's box, appearing calm and confident. Miss Freidsel Schmitt, daughter of a banker, is the principal witness against Bergdoll.

The trial has attracted wide attention and even though it was expected that the public would be excluded from the court room, hundreds of Badenese came into Mosbach for the trial.

Bergdoll opened his testimony with a general denial of the charge and declared that it is "the third ruse adopted by Americans to have me ousted from Germany."

The former Philadelphian declared that his American enemies hope that he will be deported from Germany and can be brought back to the United States to complete his sentence for draft dodging.

In his previous appearances in the limelight Bergdoll has been something of a hero but in this case he attracts little attention, and only a small group of friends rallied about him today.

The prosecution has summoned seven witnesses. The defense has summoned six witnesses, including a psychiatric expert, Professor Gruhle of Heidelberg, who will testify as to the credibility of the chief witness of the prosecution, Miss Schmitt.

SEEK APPROVAL OF SETTLEMENT

Plan of Italian Debt Payment to be Ratified.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Administration forces opened a drive in the senate today to obtain ratification of the $2,042,000,000 Italian debt settlement within 10 days.

Under the slogan of "accept this settlement or get nothing from Italy," Republican leaders hoped to hasten a favorable decision. A Democratic group, however, aided by progressive Republicans planned to force a vote upon recommitting the whole settlement to the senate finance committee with instructions to "obtain further information regarding Italy's ability to pay."

Administration spokesmen, led by Senator Smoot (R.), of Utah, a member of the American debt commission, have vigorously opposed this plan.

"There is no need for further study," said Smoot. "The American commission was advised not only from Italian sources but by its own American advisers on Italy's capacity to pay and this was taken into consideration in arranging the settlement. The question before us now is either accept this settlement or get nothing from Italy."

Smoot also declared the Italian settlement, if ratified, could not be used by any other European nation to obtain more lenient terms in settling America's other foreign debts.

"So far as a settlement of the French debt is concerned," Smoot added, "the Italian agreement will have no more effect than a snap of the fingers. There is no comparison between the national wealth and resources of Italy and those of France—no more than between a beggar and a millionaire."

PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Three "Wise Crack" Contestants Get Cash Awards.

Winners in the "wise cracks" contest conducted during the past week in connection with the showing of the film, "Irene," at the American theatre, were announced today.

They are: Jennie Putnam, of Smith's Ferry, Pa., who will receive $5 for her winning contribution.

James Wildblood, 1024 St. Clair avenue, city, who will be awarded $4.

Marie Kirkbride, R. F. D. No. 1, city, who takes down the third cash prize of $3.

Selected from the standpoint of general interest and application the winning "wise cracks" are:

First prize, Irene says: "Suing for a divorce is like making a cake; don't forget anything"—Jennie Putnam, Smiths Ferry, Pa.

Second prize, Irene says: "If a man has the disposition of a mule, you'd better not talk about him behind his back"—James Wildblood, 1024 St. Clair avenue, city.

Third prize, Irene says: "A woman frequently picks out a blooming idiot when she thinks she is getting the flower of manhood"—Marie Kirkbride, R. F. D., No. 1, city.

Hundreds of "Irene says" quips poured in on the contest editor during the week, and the final selection was anything but easy.

Contestants whose contributions were published each afternoon in the Review-Tribune as the best of the lot brought in in each daily mail received tickets to the movie house, and these "cracks" were considered with the others in the final judging.

The three winners can receive their cash awards at the Review-Tribune office.

MAIL CARRIER GOES ON TRIAL

Newcomerstown Man, Charged With Murder of Wife.

By Joe Williams.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., April 14.—The state today began to build up the chain of evidence which County Prosecutor James E. Patrick hopes will send Harvey E. Haver, former Newcomerstown mail carrier, to the electric chair for the death of his wife, Kathryn Haver, whose body was found last December in an abandoned well.

The jury was completed last night and includes one woman and eleven men. The selection of a 13th juror as alternate was made today.

The jurors are Rev. Paul F. Ebert, Lutheran church pastor; Elias J. Goodering, railroad man; Edward Renner, clay worker; Fred Frutig, farmer; A. Veley, farmer; Lester Stonebrook, shipping clerk; C. K. Kies, building contractor; Denton Young, farmer, former big league baseball pitcher; Clarence R. Ripley, insurance agent and Mrs. A. E. Lichti, wife of a farmer.

Judge Charles S. Turnbaugh of Cambridge, presiding at the trial was expected to rule on admission of depositions from Verna Aulenbach, Reading, Pa., who, the state charges, is the "other woman" in the case, and of Anna Fickes who was a visitor in the Haver home with Miss Aulenbach last August.

The defense will place Haver on the stand late tomorrow or Friday morning, it was indicated today. Haver is expected to tell the same story he told newspaper men last week when he said his wife had died from an overdose of headache tablets and that in the fear of being blamed for hear death, he had become panic stricken and had hidden the body in a well.

real "American Riviera." Others are imitations, and Chicago knows it, if slow New York does not. Fifty-five millions of dollars including some northern millions, are being spent now, on Gulf coast improvements. Magnificent, fast express trains will give direct service from Chicago and the Gulf. Try the Panama limited, on the Illinois Central.

Millions in money and people—will pour in from Chicago and the lake cities to the Gulf coast in winter, disdaining other resorts, as the great crowd from Philadelphia travels to Atlantic City, ignoring New York resorts.

Wise northerners with money are now prospecting, seeking Gulf coast bargains to devour. H. M. Moir, who owns the Morrison hotel in Chicago, is investing two millions in his place at Holmhaven-on-the-Coast.

Beet sugar men are down here, convinced that the soil, deposited more than 150 feet deep by the Mississippi, will do for beef sugar what it does for cane sugar.

TWO things this nation should do now, as the "don't mean maybe" song says. It should establish a waterway for ocean steamers, from New Orleans to Chicago and the other lake cities.

And second, the wasted, surplus waters that rush past this city to the gulf, through a chasm 160 feet deep, should be diverted and made to irrigate lands to the west that need the water.

COL. BOYCE THOMPSON says the Mississippi flood problem could be sending surplus water to western deserts.

Secretary Work, who has energy and is not interested in the word "impossible," should put his own and the army engineers at the two problems.

Secretary Davis, reared on the Mississippi's shore at St. Louis, knows that the proud old river needs handling and controlling, and would gladly help.

And President Coolidge could be made to see that the scheme would yield a profit for the people and then he would be for it. Railroads would oppose the waterway, and it would make them richer. You remember how bankers fought the federal reserve.

NO HOPES FOR DISARMAMENT

Russia's Refusal to Participate Complicates Situation.

LONDON, April 14.—Russia's refusal of the league of nations invitation to participate in the preliminary disarmament conference has only served to heighten pessimism here regarding the possibilities of any further reduction of armaments by international agreement or otherwise.

Although the Baldwin government has announced that it will do all possible to bring about the success of the forthcoming disarmament conference, it is now rumored that there is a chance that the preliminary conference scheduled for May 18 in Geneva may be further postponed.

The ambition disarmament proposals of the league of nations, constituting the most complicated problem with which the world has ever been asked to deal, are still a matter for negotiation and unless Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany can reach a basic agreement of these proposals it is anticipated that there may be a postponement. The league of nations suffered a severe blow to its prestige when the question of Germany's entrance was left unsettled because of disputes, and league leaders would rather postpone the disarmament conference than take a chance on another failure.

PASTOR QUITS HIS CHARGE

Misconduct Charges Filed Against Columbus Minister.

COLUMBUS, April 14—That Rev. James A. Troke, 36, had been forced to resign as pastor of the Eastwood Congregation church there because of alleged misconduct, is the announcement made today by Rev. John A. Schmink, promotion secretary for the Congregational church in Ohio.

The Central Ohio association of Congregational churches, it was stated, has been asked to revoke Troke's certificate as a clergyman. It was charged that Troke, in applying here last February for a license to wed Miss Miram A. Hempstead, Croton, falsely declared he was not previously married and had a wife living.

Local clergymen who conducted an investigation claimed that Troke was divorced from Mrs. Estella Troke, Clarksfield, Minn., his second wife, last September; that he deserted his first wife and unborn babe a few weeks after their marriage; that he tried to obtain money held in trust for his prospective bride, and that he secured funds from relatives of another fiancee an Ohio Wesleyan co-ed, which he spent in obtaining his divorce from the second Mrs. Troke.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 14—Tuesday's sharp closing rally, which eliminated a large share of the outstanding short interest, took the "snap" out of the forward movement in prices in the stock market, and the trend of prices turned downward in the first hour today. The swift decline in the specialties like National Biscuit and National Dairy Products, together with the shrinkages of two or three points in the industrial and motors which let yesterday's final rally, emphasized the professional character of the market as a whole.

Prices moved downward in every section of the market in this period in response to heavy offerings of the motor, industrial and specialty stocks by the professionals. National Biscuit sold down 6 points to 70¼ as a result of the failure of the directors to make the regular dividend more than $4 a share. National Dairy Products was under liquidation and declined 4 points to a new low for the year around 53. Hudson Motors, General Motors and Chrysler were pushed on the market and offered at concessions of a point or two, while market leaders like United States Steel and General Electric soon settled to a lower range of prices.

Government Control Of Sale of Beer is Urged by Andrews

WASHINGTON, April 14.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, who for a year has wrestled with the job of enforcing prohibition, created a sensation at the capitol today when he frankly told the senate prohibition committee that he favored a system of governmental control and sale of beer as an aid in enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

The dry czar said he favored sale of beer as an aid to temperance as well as prohibition enforcement.

Andrews also shocked dry members of the committee by declaring his agents were unable to capture more than "one in ten" of the private stills now being operated in the houses of American citizens. He declared he had instituted a new policy, however, of making his men concentrate on "big game" instead of on home brewers.

Andrews declared the day of invading homes without search warrants was passed.

GERMANY TO SEND DELEGATE

Enlargement of League Council to be Discussed.

BERLIN, April 14.—Germany will send a delegate to the league of nations committee which has been appointed to study the question of enlarging the league council, the German cabinet definitely decided today.

Enlargement of the council is proposed as a measure calculated to avoid the controversies over seats which marked the last meeting of the league.

The cabinet, replying to the note, said that it understood the function of the committee was to study "the enlargement of the council, election methods, and the length of terms during which non-permanent members will hold seats."

Foreign Minister Stresemann will sign the note at Locarno, Switzerland, where he is now resting, and forward it to Geneva.

BERGDOLL FACES GERMAN COURT

Draft Evader on Verge of Collapse as Trial Begins.

MOSBACH, Baden, Germany, April 14.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft evader, was in a state of near collapse just before he went on trial today charged with assaulting a 14-year-old girl. Bergdoll faces a sentence of 10 years in the penitentiary if he is convicted.

Bergdoll vehemently protests his innocence. However, the prospective ordeal has brought him to a state of excitement which may mean his collapse before the trial is over, his attorneys said.

Mosbach was crowded this morning with throngs of curious who had come here by train and automobile to attend the trial. At the opening of the trial the presiding judge ordered the public excluded declaring that much of the evidence would endanger public morals. Newspapermen were also forced to leave the court room.

Bergdoll, neatly dressed in a well-cut blue serge suit, appeared in the defendant's box, appearing calm and confident. Miss Freidsel Schmitt, daughter of a banker, is the principal witness against Bergdoll.

The trial has attracted wide attention and even though it was expected that the public would be excluded from the court room, hundreds of Badenese came into Mosbach for the trial.

Bergdoll opened his testimony with a general denial of the charge and declared that it is "the third ruse adopted by Americans to have me ousted from Germany."

The former Philadelphian declared that his American enemies hope that he will be deported from Germany and can be brought back to the United States to complete his sentence for draft dodging.

In his previous appearances in the limelight Bergdoll has been something of a hero but in this case he attracts little attention, and only a small group of friends rallied about him today.

The prosecution has summoned seven witnesses. The defense has summoned six witnesses, including a psychiatric expert, Professor Gruhle of Heidelberg, who will testify as to the credibility of the chief witness of the prosecution, Miss Schmitt.

FORTY-SEVEN.

The soft toile de Jouy hanging at the window of an apartment off Lake Shore drive in Chicago blew gently back and forth with the refreshing breeze ,and ruffled the negligee of the shade of green orchid which scarce concealed the ivory shoulders of Miss Jocelyn Johnstone. She was seated before an elaborate dressing-table which was her altar. She combed out her short hair until it bristled on either side of her face. Now she rubbed cold cream into her flesh, wiping away the discarded artificial complexion with a towel. Then she carefully made up again, applying fresh carmine to her lips, new rouge to her cheeks, and outlining her eyes with a blue pencil. Presently, still sitting before her dressing-table, she lighted a cigaret and began to reflect, one knee resting lightly on the other, swinging her leg backward and forward, from the foot of which a satin mule, the toe sparkling with an infinity of tiny mirrors, depended.

Her thoughts caused her to sigh. She was getting tired of this business of giving her heart and taking it away again. After all, no woman wants to commercialize her heart. . . Why, for instance, shouldn't she marry a man like John Ingate? She didn't love him, but for that reason, no doubt, she could make him a good wife, she decided. . . He was not a bad sort. Central City was a nice town, not too large for her to be a person of importance. . . . Besides old acquaintances would be less likely to run across her in such a place. . . . But, her mind told her, the suit had spoiled everything. . . . Still, possibly. . . . .

Her meditations were disturbed by the ringing of the telephone. "Mr. White wishes to be announced," the knowing voice of the telephone operator downstairs advised.

Jocelyn reflected a moment. She was not sure she wished to see Reggie White this evening. It was late, and she was tired, and she wished to be alone. But her hesitation was of no consequence anyway, for the operator continued: "He's on the way up."

Miss Johnstone threw a soft robe of the color of silver about her, which, however, did not hide her bare ankles. After releasing the latch on the door she sat down by the window, where she could see the lights blinking along Wilson avenue in the distance.

"Well, how's Circe?" He always called her that, particularly because of his delight in the knowledge that she didn't grasp the significance of the appellation.

Miss Johnston had returned only that morning from Central City, and it was the first time she had seen Reggie White since the filing of the $100,000 breach of promise suit against John Ingate. She did not reply to his greeting but continued her moody contemplation of the sight revealed to her eyes by the open window. When Reggie came over to kiss her she submitted without feeling.

"What's the matter. . . . Really in love with Outgate?" Reggie White was always twisting people's name, under the impression that it was humorous.

Jocelyn shrugged. "I'm glad it's over with."

"I was around to see our noble lawyer this afternoon. He says compromise looks easy. He—."

"I was against a suit, Reggie," she crisply announced. "It's—."

"Don't get chicken-hearted. He'll settle quickly enough now. Think he wants his letters published? Think he wants a comedy put on in court, with him as the comedian?"

"Well, our noble lawyer's sly little threats didn't seem to terrify him."

"Well, a suit's different. No doubt his women folks are already frantically beseeching him to settle."

"Probably." She remembered the elder Mrs. Ingate with a frown. Women like Mrs. Ingate were the drawback to marrying men like John. . . . 'Who is this new egg you want me to meet?"

"Big butter and egg man. Really that. Comes from out Nebraska way. However, he's married."

Jocelyn frowned. "And I suppose he's some big hulk with the intelligence of a movie actor. . . . I'm getting tired of all this, Reggie."

The visitor smiled knowingly. "I suppose you have visions of a little gray home in the west—part of Central City."

Contemptuous silence was her reply to this. Reggie went over to the phone and ordered ginger ale sent up.

"Found some good stuff on my little ramble with this butter and egg man. You must try a highball. Don't suppose you've been drinking much lately."

"I don't want anything to drink."

Reggie White regarded her with twinkling eyes as he sat down and lighted a cigaret. "Whew! this Ingate guy seems to have a kick."

Jocelyn looked over at him savagely. "He has some idea of decency. It was a new experience."

Reggie White drew up his mouth in an amused expression. "Save it, Josie, save it! Those tears will be worth $10,000 each in the courtroom."

"I'm not going to go into a courtroom with this. If it has to go that far, then I'm out of it."

Reggie White's expression sobered and a cruel light entered his eyes. "Enough of that talk. You'll stick to the end. It's rather easy to prove conspiracy, you know."

Jocelyn Johnstone gave a nervous start which she ill concealed. She had long lived in fear of becoming entwined in the toils of the law. The fiasco which had forced them to flee New York had given her a bad case of fright, and it was with difficulty that Reggie White had persuaded her to go on with the game of blackmail, in Florida first, then Chicago.

Miss Johnstone threw a soft robe of the color of silver about her, which, however, did not hide her bare ankles. After releasing the latch on the door she sat down by the window, where she could see the lights blinking along Wilson avenue in the distance.

"Well, how's Circe?" He always called her that, particularly because of his delight in the knowledge that she didn't grasp the significance of the appellation.

Miss Johnston had returned only that morning from Central City, and it was the first time she had seen Reggie White since the filing of the $100,000 breach of promise suit against John Ingate. She did not reply to his greeting but continued her moody contemplation of the sight revealed to her eyes by the open window. When Reggie came over to kiss her she submitted without feeling.

"What's the matter. . . . Really in love with Outgate?" Reggie White was always twisting people's name, under the impression that it was humorous.

Jocelyn shrugged. "I'm glad it's over with."

"I was around to see our noble lawyer this afternoon. He says compromise looks easy. He—."

"I was against a suit, Reggie," she crisply announced. "It's—."

"Don't get chicken-hearted. He'll settle quickly enough now. Think he wants his letters published? Think he wants a comedy put on in court, with him as the comedian?"

"Well, our noble lawyer's sly little threats didn't seem to terrify him."

"Well, a suit's different. No doubt his women folks are already frantically beseeching him to settle."

"Probably." She remembered the elder Mrs. Ingate with a frown. Women like Mrs. Ingate were the drawback to marrying men like John. . . . 'Who is this new egg you want me to meet?"

"Big butter and egg man. Really that. Comes from out Nebraska way. However, he's married."

Jocelyn frowned. "And I suppose he's some big hulk with the intelligence of a movie actor. . . . I'm getting tired of all this, Reggie."

The visitor smiled knowingly. "I suupose you have visions of a little gray home in the west—part of Central City."

Contemptuous silence was her reply to this. Reggie went over to the phone and ordered ginger ale sent up.

"Found some good stuff on my little ramble with this butter and egg man. You must try a highball. Don't suppose you've been drinking much lately."

"I don't want anything to drink."

Reggie White regarded her with twinkling eyes as he sat down and lighted a cigaret. "Whew! this Ingate guy seems to have a kick."

Jocelyn looked over at him savagely. "He has some idea of decency. It was a new experience."

Reggie White drew up his mouth in an amused expression. "Save it, Josie, save it! Those tears will be worth $10,000 each in the courtroom."

"I'm not going to go into a courtroom with this. If it has to go that far, then I'm out of it."

Reggie White's expression sobered and a cruel light entered his eyes. "Enough of that talk. You'll stick to the end. It's rather easy to prove conspiracy, you know."

Jocelyn Johnstone gave a nervous start which she ill concealed. She had long lived in fear of becoming entwined in the toils of the law. The fiasco which had forced them to flee New York had given her a bad case of fright, and it was with difficulty that Reggie White had persuaded her to go on with the game of blackmail, in Florida first, then Chicago.

Automobile Is Outstanding Development of Present Age

John V. Swearingen, Local Distributor for General Tires Discusses Growth of Rubber Tire Industry.

The development, within a comparatively short period of years, of the modern automobile, with its present stamina and durability, has been one of the outstanding developments of this marvelous age in which we are living, says John V. Swearingen of Travelers' Garage, local distributor of the General Tire and Rubber company.

"Each part which goes to make up the completed motor car has a story in itself, but I think we will all agree, especially while driving over an unusually rough and rocky road, that the present rubber tire is the crowning achievement of the automobile industry.

"Being identified with the tire industry, and having closely watched the constant improvement that has taken place, I get the tire man's angle as well as a knowledge of the tire user's experience and I can not help but occasionally looking back over the short span of years and wondering if the American people really appreciate the improvement that has been made in the manufacture of automobile tires—an article now a necessity to nearly every one in the country.

"This is the era of the cord tire, and the 'balloons,' those huge low-pressure tires which add riding comfort and other qualities to the automobile as well as giving mileage four or five times as much as the good old tire of only a few years ago. In fact, today the tire is the automobile accessory that causes the least worry.

"Just consider the gruelling punishment a set of tires must stand in the course of carrying of a loaded automobile, weighing two tons or more, over bumps and sharp rocks, through sand and mud, up hill and down, for 15,000 or 20,000 miles. Those comparatively thin and resilient tire walls take all the stress of this fearful treatment day in and day out under all sorts of weather conditions and seldom give out until their part of expected service has been run.

"Service from tires can be counted on nowadays with assurance of its being delivered, and when I return from the factories of the General Tire and Rubber company at Akron, Ohio, the tire center of the world, the romance of it all comes to me. There I see car load after car load, tons and tons of rubber delivered from the other side of the world, where it has come drop by drop, slowly but surely from the trees of the plantation, mysteriously supplied by nature but ready to play a part in modern transportation, but to make that remarkable achievement—the automobile—possible."

RELIEVE SICKNESS THROUGH GLANDS SAYS SCIENTIST

Dr. Serge Voronoff, an international authority on glands, says: "The brain, the nerves, the muscles, as well as the liver, the kidneys and all other organs would be incapable of playing any useful part without the aid of the glands. The functioning of our organs is no more than the result of the activity of our glands, and when the bodily functioning is disturbed, the cause, in most cases should be sought, not in the condition of the organ itself but in the condition of the gland which controls it."

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

DOCTORS OVERPAID EXAMINER CLAIMS

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Alleged overpayments of fees to physicians is adversely criticized in a report made public today by State Examiner Roy E. Kirk, covering inspection of records of the state industrial commission. Kirk asks the commission to investigate the situation. The commission paid $6,539,099 in medical fees during the three years ending June 30, last, according to Kirk, who cited at least 20 physicians of Ohio who received fees totaling from $10,000 to $50,000 annually for services in connection with workmen's compensation cases.

SON OF GENERAL IS NOW PRIVATE

Norwegian Explorer Is Serving in Radio Corps of U. S. Army.

New York—Kipling didn't invent his "gentleman ranker." For in the armies of the world there has always been a sprinkling of men of genius, birth and fortune lured to the company of more humble souls by the magic of soldier life.

And perhaps no medieval men at arms or proud battalion of a pagan emperor ever boasted a more talented or pedigreed array of rear-rank "bucks" than does the present-day regular army of Uncle Sam.

As witness the latest doughboy extraordinary, Private Kristian Brandt, U. S. A.—direct descendant of fierce vikings, his father a major general in the Norwegian army, himself once a distinguished cadet in the West Point of his own country and later an Arctic explorer, big game hunter and radio engineer. Brandt has just been discovered among the soldier students of the army signal school at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Military Career Too Tame.

A mapped-out military career proving too tame, the adventuring globe girdler had followed frozen trails in the south polar regions and adventured within the Arctic circle with thrills a-plenty between the two before the new and fascinating science of radio intrigued his eager interest.

It was while hunting whales in the Antarctic that his knowledge of radio first proved its worth to the expedition. Facing possible death by starvation, Brandt, after all other means of communication had failed to bring relief, built his own radio station in the solid polar ice and brought the party in touch with outposts of civilization. Later this same station received recognition in the net of the International Radio union, and since has become known as the largest floating station in the world.

Although an explorer, whale hunter and radio engineer, Brandt naturally had to be first a soldier, his family having been connected with the Norwegian army for more than 300 years. His father, Maj. Gen. F. O. Brandt, now commanding the First division, Norwegian army, with visions of his own stars on his son's shoulders, sent him to the military academy while he was yet a boy.

But young Brandt left it all and joined an exploring expedition in the Far North. That was in 1920. Shortly after passing Spitsbergen the party got caught in the ice. Yet they did set up a chain of food depots before returning, and for this Roald Amundsen, the polar flyer of 1925, who used at least one of them, has cause to be thankful.

To U. S. for Radio Training.

Back in Norway again Brandt now became interested in radio. This marked a turning point in an adventurous career. It was his Antarctic experiences, however, that whetted his appetite to learn more of the new science, and he finally decided to come to America for advanced radio training.

For ten months after his arrival in the United States he worked in the laboratories of the Radio Corporation of America at New Brunswick, N. J. This position he later resigned to enter the United States army signal corps. His commanding officer at Fort Monmouth that young Brandt is showing himself no less a student than he was an explorer.

Old Swedish Castles to Get Steam Heat

Stockholm.—Steam heat and running water are to be installed in the old royal castles of Sweden. In a special budget just submitted to the riksdag the government asks for the requisite funds.

For water supply in the five hundred-year-old Gripsholm castle, located on an island near Stockholm, an appropriation of $12,000 is requested, and $16,000 is asked for a central heating plant in the Sixteenth century Halmstad castle on the west coast. Though once inhabited by several of the Swedish kings and their families, the Gripsholm castle is now used as a museum and national picture gallery. One of its priceless treasures being a contemporary portrait of Queen Elizabeth of England.

Among the other castles to be modernized are those of Leckoe on the shores of Lake Vanern, once the headquarters of the influential De La Gardie family, and the heavily fortified Calmar castle on the east coast, which in the Middle ages was known as the "key to Sweden."

1,187,500 Crystal Sets Predominate in Britain

Washington.—The radio crystal receiving set, which confines reception mainly to the nearest broadcasting station, still is the predominant type used in the British Isles.

Of the 1,570,000 British receivers, Commerce department figures show that about 75 per cent are crystal sets.

Present indications are that the British Broadcasting company, which conducts all broadcasting in Great Britain under contracts from the government, probably will be bought by the government at the expiration of its contract next year.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—An additional appropriation of $3,000,000 will be asked of congress for prohibition enforcement, it was learned at the treasury today.

President Coolidge and Budget Director H. M. Lord have approved the supplemental appropriation.

Automobile Is Outstanding Development of Present Age

John V. Swearingen, Local Distributor for General Tires Discusses Growth of Rubber Tire Industry.

The development, within a comparatively short period of years, of the modern automobile, with its present stamina and durability, has been one of the outstanding developments of this marvelous age in which we are living, says John V. Swearingen of Travelers' Garage, local distributor of the General Tire and Rubber company.

"Each part which goes to make up the completed motor car has a story in itself, but I think we will all agree, especially while driving over an unusually rough and rocky road, that the present rubber tire is the crowning achievement of the automobile industry.

"Being identified with the tire industry, and having closely watched the constant improvement that has taken place, I get the tire man's angle as well as a knowledge of the tire user's experience, and I can not help but occasionally looking back over the short span of years and wondering if the American people really appreciate the improvement that has been made in the manufacture of automobile tires—an article now a necessity to nearly every car in the country.

"This is the era of the cord tire, and the 'balloons,' those huge low pressure tires which add riding comfort and other qualities to the automobile as well as giving mileage four or five times as much as the good old tire of only a few years ago. In fact, today the tire is the automobile accessory that causes the least worry.

"Just consider the gruelling punishment a set of tires must stand in the course of carrying of a loaded automobile, weighing two tons or more, over bumps and sharp rocks, through sand and mud, up hill and down, for 15,000 or 20,000 miles. Those comparatively thin and resilient tires walls take all the stress of this brutal treatment day in and day out under all sorts of weather conditions and seldom give out until their span of expected service has been run.

"Service from tires can be counted on nowadays with assurance of its being delivered, and when I return from the factories of the General Tire and Rubber company at Akron, Ohio, the tire center of the world, the romance of it all comes to me. There is one car load after car load, tons and tons of rubber delivered from the other side of the world, where it has come drop by drop, slowly but surely from the trees of the plantation, mysteriously supplied by nature not only to play a part in modern transportation but to make that remarkable achievement the automobile possible."

RELIEVE SICKNESS THROUGH GLANDS SAYS SCIENTIST

Dr. Serge Voronoff, an international authority on glands, says: "The brain, the nerves, the muscles, as well as the liver, the kidneys and all other organs would be incapable of playing any useful part without the aid of the glands. The functioning of our organs is no more than the result of the activity of our glands, and when the bodily functioning is disturbed, the cause, in most cases should be sought, not in the condition of the organ itself but in the condition of the gland which controls it."

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

DOCTORS OVERPAID EXAMINER CLAIMS

COLUMBUS, April 14 — Alleged overpayments of fees to physicians is adversely criticized in a report made public today by State Examiner Roy E. Kirk covering inspection of records of the state industrial commission. Kirk asks the commission to investigate the situation. The commission paid $6,539,999 in medical fees during the three years ending June 30, last, according to Kirk, who cited at least 20 physicians of Ohio who received fees totaling from $10,000 to $50,000 annually for services in connection with workmen's compensation cases.

SON OF GENERAL IS NOW PRIVATE

Norwegian Explorer Is Serving in Radio Corps of U. S. Army.

New York—Kipling didn't invent his "gentleman ranker." For in the armies of the world there has always been a sprinkling of men of gentle birth and fortune—lured to the company of more humble souls by the magic of soldier life.

And perhaps no medieval men at arms or proud battalion of a pagan emperor ever boasted a more talented or pedigreed array of rear-rank "bucks" than does the present day regular army of Uncle Sam.

As witness the latest doughboy extraordinary, Private Kristian Brandt, U. S. A.—direct descendant of fierce vikings, his father a major general in the Norwegian army, himself once a distinguished cadet in the West Point of his own country and later an Arctic explorer, big game hunter and radio engineer. Brandt has just been discovered among the soldier students of the army signal school at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Military Career Too Tame.

A mapper-out military career proving too tame, this intrepid young globe girdler had followed frozen trails in the south polar regions and adventured within the Arctic circle with thrills a-plenty between the two before the new and fascinating science of radio intrigued his eager interest.

It was while hunting whales in the Antarctic that his knowledge of radio first proved its worth to the expedition. Facing possible death by starvation, Brandt, after all other means of communication had failed to bring relief, built his own radio station in the south polar ice and brought the party in touch with outposts of civilization. Later this same station received recognition in the net of the International Radio union, and since has become known as the largest floating station in the world.

Although an explorer, whale hunter and radio engineer, Brandt naturally had to be first a soldier, his family having been connected with the Norwegian army for more than 300 years. His father, Maj. Gen. F. O. Brandt, now commanding the First division, Norwegian army, with visions of his own stars on his son's shoulders, sent him to the military academy while he was yet a boy.

But young Brandt left it all and joined an exploring expedition in the Far North. That was in 1920. Shortly after passing Spitzbergen the party got caught in the ice. Yet they did set up a chain of food depots before returning, and for this Roald Amundsen, the polar flyer of 1925, who used at least one of them, has come to be thankful.

To U. S. for Radio Training.

Back in Norway again Brandt now became interested in radio. This marked a turning point in an adventurous career. It was his Antarctic experiences, however, that whetted his appetite to learn more of the new science, and he finally decided to come to America for advanced radio training.

For ten months after his arrival in the United States he worked in the laboratories of the Radio Corporation of America at New Brunswick, N. J. This position he later resigned to enter the United States army signal corps. His commanding officer at Fort Monmouth that young Brandt is showing himself no less a student than he was an explorer.

REPORT FILED ON STATE CROPS

Wheat and Rye Under Average Record for 10 Years.

The April crop report issued yesterday by the West Virginia crop and live stock reporting service shows the condition of the state's wheat and rye crops to be better than was reported on the same date a year ago but below a ten-year average for the state; pasture as yet is short and farmers report that adverse weather conditions have kept them from seeding oats and doing other spring work.

The unusual wet fall of 1925 caused much of the wheat and rye to be sown late, giving it a poor start, but this was followed by fair snow covering with other favorable conditions, and on December 1 a condition of 85 per cent was reported for wheat and 86 per cent for rye. The recent freezing and thawing caused by changeable weather and continued winter, has resulted in the condition being lowered somewhat and at present the wheat condition is estimated as 80 per cent compared to last year's average at this date of 73 per cent and a ten-year average of 80 per cent; rye condition being estimated at 83 per cent against last year's of 81 per cent and ten-year average of 88 per cent.

Pastures throughout the state are in need of warm weather to start their growth, and have a reported condition of 77 per cent as compared to 87 per cent last April. Much damage is being done to young clover by freezing and thawing, causing the plants to be lifted, while grasses are reported as being in fair shape but short.

The report also shows that the supply of farm labor at present is 102 per cent of the demand which is equal that for the same period last year. Wages have declined slightly and farmers say they are hiring as few men as possible, because they cannot afford to pay wages as high as mining, oil and industrial interests of the state. Present prices of farm monthly labor is $34.25 a month with board, $48.50 without board, while day labor is $1.70 with board and $2.35 without board.

TELEPHONE RATE BOOST APPROVED

The order of the Public Service commission approving some increases in telephone rates in this state was approved except in one particular by the supreme court of appeals today in a decision refusing the motions of Huntington, Charleston and other cities to suspend the Public Service Commission order.

The supreme court, however, modified the commission order by eliminating provisions for automatic regrouping of cities as their number of telephones increase, holding that this was in opposition to the requirements for hearings on changes in rates.

Judge H. B. Woods concurring in part in the decision of the majority of the court dissented in some respects and in a minority opinion suggested that the increase of rates should be suspended and the case remanded to the commission for further hearing.

MADE PROFIT OF $10,000 IN ONLY THREE WEEKS

By simply following the advise of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, O., considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advise of friends, after having taken, as he says, "barrels of medicine without result," he began a treatment of Ka-di-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Owen declared to the Ka-di-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself "$10,000 better off." This is a genuine statement coming from a most grateful friend of Ka-di-ok, and what Ka-di-ok did for Mr. Carr it has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousand more, if sufferers will but give it a chance by taking a treatment.

Mr. Owen Carr

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended at Mathews Medicine Store.

"Three Faces East" Is Photoplay Hit At Strand Theatre

Scoring an emphatic hit, "Three Faces East," a Rupert Julian production featuring Jetta Goudal, Robert Ames, Henry Walthall and Clive Brook, has its last Strand presentation at the theatre tonight. It is a picture of exceptional dramatic force and the scenes are effective and thrilling. The story deals with the British and German Secret Service during the World War, and in its development to a surprising climax, no pains were spared to render it an absorbing and appealing spectacle. The portrayals by the featured players were artistic and satisfying. Every lover of strong virile motion pictures will find in "Three Faces East" just what they are looking for and then some.

4 out of 5 lose

RHEUMATISM, neuritis and other kindred ailments frequently follow pyorrhea, the dread disease of the gums. Yet carelessness makes pyorrhea all too prevalent. Four out of five suffer from it after forty, and many younger, according to your dentist's own figures.

To be among the fortunate few who escape pyorrhea, begin at once using Forhan's for the Gums. If used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents or checks pyorrhea and safeguards your health.

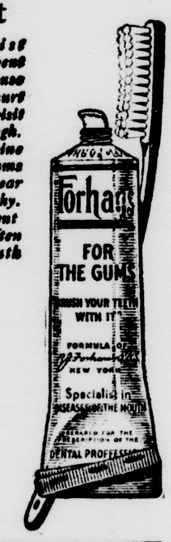

It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid, which has been used by dentists for the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea. It is a pleasant, cleansing dentifrice that the entire family likes.

Today is none too soon to start brushing your teeth with Forhan's. Buy a tube right away and don't give pyorrhea a chance. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Rely on your Dentist

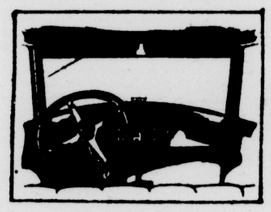

Your dentist wants to prevent pain, not to cause it. He won't hurt you, if you go visit him often enough. Have him examine your teeth and gums at least twice a year to keep them healthy. He may prevent serious illness often caused by mouth infections.

Safety demands clear vision

In the Hupmobile Six, with its narrow pillars—the result of its new composite, steel-and-wood body construction—vision ahead is improved 40 per cent over less modern construction.

A thick, broad front pillar can completely hide an object even as bulky as another motor car, as the left hand diagram shows.

And, as the right hand diagram shows, the slender Hupmobile pillar permits the driver to see the same car, at the same distance, in plenty of time.

That is safety vision—and it is but one of the superior features which you always associate with Hupmobile history and reputation.

Outstanding by reason of these definite superiorities—summed up in its wonderful performance, its beauty, its demonstrated economy—the Hupmobile Six is winning thousands away from the higher priced, as well as the lower priced, sixes.

REPORT FILED ON STATE CROPS

Wheat and Rye Under Average Record for 10 Years.

The April crop report issued yesterday by the West Virginia crop and live stock reporting service shows the condition of the state's wheat and rye crops to be better than was reported on the same date a year ago but below a ten-year average for the state; pasture as yet is short and farmers report that adverse weather conditions have kept them from seeding oats and doing other spring work.

The unusual wet fall of 1925 caused much of the wheat and rye to be sown late, giving it a poor start, but this was followed by fair snow covering with other favorable conditions, and on December 1 a condition of 85 per cent was reported for wheat and 86 per cent for rye. The recent freezing and thawing caused by changeable weather and continued winter, has resulted in the condition being lowered somewhat and at present the wheat condition is estimated as 80 per cent compared to last year's average at this date of 73 per cent and a ten-year average of 80 per cent; rye condition being estimated at 83 per cent against last year's of 81 per cent and ten-year average of 88 per cent.

Pastures throughout the state are in need of warm weather to start their growth, and have a reported condition of 77 per cent as compared to 87 per cent last April. Much damage is being done to young clover by freezing and thawing, causing the plants to be lifted, while grasses are reported as being in fair shape but short.

The report also shows that the supply of farm labor at present is 102 per cent of the demand which is equal that for the same period last year. Wages have declined slightly and farmers say they are hiring as few men as possible, because they cannot afford to pay wages as high as mining, oil and industrial interests of the state. Present prices of farm monthly labor is $34.25 a month with board, $48.50 without board, while day labor is $1.70 with board and $2.35 without board.

TELEPHONE RATE BOOST APPROVED

The order of the Public Service commission approving some increases in telephone rates in this state was approved except in one particular by the supreme court of appeals today in a decision refusing the motions of Huntington, Charleston and other cities to suspend the Public Service Commission order.

The supreme court, however, modified the commission order by eliminating provisions for automatic regrouping of cities as their number of telephones increase, holding that this was in opposition to the requirements for hearings on changes in rates.

Judge H. B. Woods concurring in part in the decision of the majority of the court dissented in some respects and in a minority opinion suggested that the increase of rates should be suspended and the case remanded to the commission for further hearing.

MADE PROFIT OF $10,000 IN ONLY THREE WEEKS

By simply following the advise of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, O., considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advise of friends, after having taken, as he says, "barrels of medicine without result," he began a treatment of Ka-di-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Owen declared to the Ka-di-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself "$10,000 better off." This is a genuine statement coming from a most grateful friend of Ka-di-ok, and what Ka-di-ok did for Mr. Carr it has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousand more, if sufferers will but give it a chance by taking a treatment.

Mr. Owen Carr

Ka-di-ok is sold and recommended at Mathews Medicine Store.

"Three Faces East" Is Photoplay Hit At Strand Theatre

Scoring an emphatic hit, "Three Faces East," a Rupert Julian production featuring Jetta Goudal, Robert Ames, Henry Walthall and Clive Brook, has its last Strand presentation at the theatre tonight. It is a picture of exceptional dramatic force and the scenes are effective and thrilling. The story deals with the British and German Secret Service during the World War, and in its development to a surprising climax, no pains were spared to render it an absorbing and appealing spectacle. The portrayals by the featured players were artistic and satisfying. Every lover of strong virile motion pictures will find in "Three Faces East" just what they are looking for and then some.

4 out of 5 lose

RHEUMATISM, neuritis and other kindred ailments frequently follow pyorrhea, the dread disease of the gums. Yet carelessness makes pyorrhea all too prevalent. Four out of five suffer from it after forty, and many younger, according to your dentist's own figures.

To be among the fortunate few who escape pyorrhea, begin at once using Forhan's for the Gums. If used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents or checks pyorrhea and safeguards your health.

It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid, which has been used by dentists for the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea. It is a pleasant, cleansing dentifrice that the entire family likes.

Today is none too soon to start brushing your teeth with Forhan's. Buy a tube right away and don't give pyorrhea a chance. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Safety demands clear vision

In the Hupmobile Six, with its narrow pillars—the result of its new composite, steel-and-wood body construction—vision ahead is improved 40 per cent over less modern construction.

A thick, broad front pillar can completely hide an object even as bulky as another motor car, as the left hand diagram shows.

And, as the right hand diagram shows, the slender Hupmobile pillar permits the driver to see the same car, at the same distance, in plenty of time.

That is safety vision—and it is but one of the superior features which you always associate with Hupmobile history and reputation.

Outstanding by reason of these definite superiorities—summed up in its wonderful performance, its beauty, its demonstrated economy—the Hupmobile Six is winning thousands away from the higher priced, as well as the lower priced, sixes.

PUBLIC HEALTH LEAGUE MEETS

New Officers Elected at Meeting Held Here Recently.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County Public Health league, held in Lisbon at the offices of the County Board of Health, B. Goldsmith was elected president; Dr. J. F. Steele, vice president, and George L. Lafferty, secretary-treasurer, all residents of Lisbon.

While there was a general discussion at this meeting relative to the location of the fresh air camp for 1926 no definite conclusions were reached, for the reason that funds are not sufficient at this time to build necessary permanent buildings. It is not certain at this time whether or not tents and cots can be borrowed from the United States army as has been the custom during the last few years. Another meeting of the committee will be held within two weeks, at which time it may be possible to definitely determine the status of the camp program for the current season.

ROAD ESTIMATE TO BE PREPARED

Following a conference between the trustees of West township and the county commissioners, an order was issued by the latter to County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk to make a survey and prepare an estimate for the improvement of the No. 1-A secondary road in West township. This road extends two miles north from Bayard, thence one mile west. The survey and estimate is to be furnished the commissioners and the trustees as soon as it is possible for the force under Surveyor Kirk to get to this work.

Wasn't Intended to Beautify People, But It Does

Remarkable Results Follow the Taking of the Wonderful World's Tonic

"For years I had suffered from indigestion. The effects were marked, for while I am yet a young woman, I grew painfully thin, the color left my skin and it became sallow and ugly and my eyes lost their sparkle and grew so weak I had to wear glasses.

"Nobody seemed able to tell me what was the matter, and I didn't feel like going out with other young people at all. Finally my grocer told me he had been wonderfully helped by World's Tonic, and urged me to get a bottle. He said he thought I had catarrh. I guess he was right, for about the first effect of this wonderful medicine was to clear up my head. In a few days my appetite increased and I felt much better. After two bottles my skin began to clear up, and the pink showed through. At the end of three bottles I commenced to gain in weight.

"Now people comment on my improvement. My skin is clear and I have gained twenty pounds. I didn't commence World's Tonic as a beautifier, but in addition to relieving my catarrh it has done more for me than all the face creams, mud packs, etc., that I have ever used."

That is the story told by a young woman who visited E. Liverpool Monday.

World's Tonic will help you. It is sold by Carnahan's and all other reliable druggists.

Excellence

comes into its own

In the past twelve months a substantially greater percentage of purchasers of America's finest motor cars has come over to the Willys-Knight Great Six. . .

This superb automobile is forging ahead in popularity solely as a result of its outstanding performance-record and the superior beauty and luxury it affords. . .

The advantages of the silent, super-smooth, super-efficient sleeve-valve engine—the only motor-car engine that actually improves with use—the supreme comfort of the magnificently-built Willys-Knight chassis and the richness of this car's equipment and appointments admit of but few competitors in the luxury-group of fine automobiles.

The Knight sleeve-valve engine is a patented engine. Its general use is prohibited by law. Other car manufacturers would gladly pay millions of dollars for the privilege of using it. But this is not now permitted, nor will it be until the Knight engine patents in America expire 7 years hence.

The New Willys Finance Plan means a smaller down payment, smaller monthly payments; and the lowest credit-cost in the industry.

The

NEW STUTZ

with SAFETY CHASSIS

Why are 1923 cars worth so much less than 1924 cars?

STUTZ SAFETY CHASSIS 8

THE market value of the average 1923 model is far below that of the 1924 model. Between the cars of those years there is a much greater difference in value than one year's difference in date of production usually means.

The answer, of course, is that 1924 saw the general adoption of four-wheel brakes and balloon tires, practically obsoleting all cars not so equipped. History is beginning to repeat itself between the cars of 1926 conventional chassis design and those of the years to come.

The advanced engineering ushered in by The NEW STUTZ Safety Chassis, achieving a much lower center of gravity and thus accomplishing greater safety and roadability, has set new standards.

The basic changes in chassis construction, inaugurated by The NEW STUTZ and today exclusive in The NEW STUTZ, will be copied hereafter by manufacturers of other fine cars. Cars built on present conventional lines will then be classed as obsolete and their market or "trade-in" value will suffer, just as that of 1923 cars has suffered in comparison with 1924 four-wheel braking and balloon-tire equipped cars.

Body five inches nearer the ground
—yet providing full road clearance and headroom

Radically lowered center of gravity
—giving greater safety, comfort and roadability

Quiet, long-lived, worm-drive rear axle
—permitting lowered body; it improves with use

90 H. P. motor; with overhead camshaft
—novel design; smooth, flexible, vibrationless

New, non-leaking hydrostatic brakes
—inherently equalized; quick-acting and positive

Six body styles, designed and constructed under the supervision of Brewster of New York. All closed bodies automatically ventilated. All models priced F. O. B. Indianapolis, tax excluded, but fully equipped except spare tires.

Protect your investment for the future

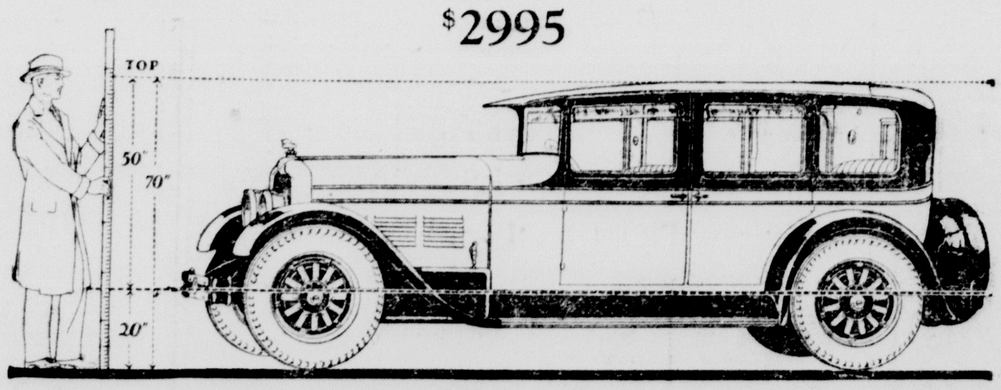

Today you are not purchasing an automobile for one year. You are looking to that investment as seriously as though it were an investment for income.

Protect your investment by buying a car that will be modern and up-to-date two years from now.

Even though you may not be able to get immediate delivery of a NEW STUTZ, remember that in buying this car today you are really getting an automobile that is years in advance of current conventional design.

Is it not safer for you to perhaps wait for delivery, and secure this modern car, than to take the chance that your investment will be seriously depreciated a year hence?

"Nobody seemed able to tell me what was the matter, and I didn't feel like going out with other young people at all. Finally my grocer told me he had been wonderfully helped by World's Tonic, and urged me to get a bottle. He said he thought I had catarrh. I guess he was right, for about the first effect of this wonderful medicine was to clear up my head. In a few days my appetite increased and I felt much better. After two bottles my skin began to clear up, and the pink showed through. At the end of three bottles I commenced to gain in weight.

"Now people comment on my improvement. My skin is clear and I have gained twenty pounds. I didn't commence World's Tonic as a beautifier, but in addition to relieving my catarrh it has done more for me than all the face creams, mud packs, etc., that I have ever used."

That is the story told by a young woman who visited E. Liverpool Monday.

Excellence
comes into its own

In the past twelve months a substantially greater percentage of purchasers of America's finest motor cars has come over to the Willys-Knight Great Six. . .

This superb automobile is forging ahead in popularity solely as a result of its outstanding performance-record and the superior beauty and luxury it affords. . .

The advantages of the silent, super-smooth, super-efficient sleeve-valve engine—the only motor-car engine that actually improves with use—the supreme comfort of the magnificently-built Willys-Knight chassis and the richness of this car's equipment and appointments admit of but few competitors in the luxury-group of fine automobiles.

The Knight sleeve-valve engine is a patented engine. Its general use is prohibited by law. Other car manufacturers would gladly pay millions of dollars for the privilege of using it. But this is not now permitted, nor will it be until the Knight engine patents in America expire 7 years hence.

The New Willys Finance Plan means a smaller down payment, smaller monthly payments; and the lowest credit-cost in the industry.

Prices from $1750 to $2495, f.o.b. factory. We reserve the right to change prices and specifications without notice.

The
NEW STUTZ
with SAFETY CHASSIS

Why are 1923 cars worth so much less than 1924 cars?

STUTZ SAFETY CHASSIS

THE market value of the average 1923 model is far below that of the 1924 model. Between the cars of those years there is a much greater difference in value than one year's difference in date of production usually means.

The answer, of course, is that 1924 saw the general adoption of four-wheel brakes and balloon tires, practically obsoleting all cars not so equipped. History is beginning to repeat itself between the cars of 1926 conventional chassis design and those of the years to come.

The advanced engineering ushered in by The NEW STUTZ Safety Chassis, achieving a much lower center of gravity and thus accomplishing greater safety and roadability, has set new standards.

The basic changes in chassis construction, inaugurated by The NEW STUTZ and today exclusive in The NEW STUTZ, will be copied hereafter by manufacturers of other fine cars. Cars built on present conventional lines will then be classed as obsolete and their market or "trade-in" value will suffer, just as that of 1923 cars has suffered in comparison with 1924 four-wheel braking and balloon-tire equipped cars.

Body five inches nearer the ground
—yet providing full road clearance and headroom

Radically lowered center of gravity
—giving greater safety, comfort and roadability

Quiet, long-lived, worm-drive rear axle
—permitting lowered body; it improves with use

90 H. P. motor; with overhead camshaft
—novel design; smooth, flexible, vibrationless

New, non-leaking hydrostatic brakes
—inherently equalized; quick-acting and positive

Protect your investment for the future

Today you are not purchasing an automobile for one year. You are looking to that investment as seriously as though it were an investment for income.

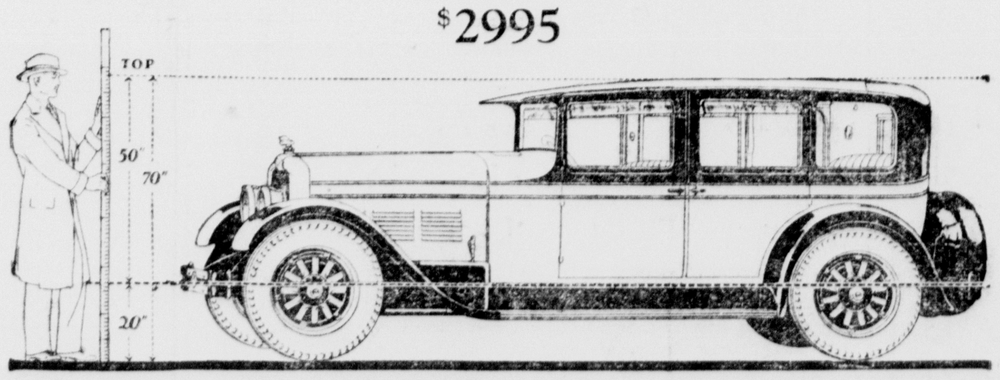

Protect your investment by buying a car that will be modern and up-to-date two years from now.

Even though you may not be able to get immediate delivery of a NEW STUTZ, remember that in buying this car today you are really getting an automobile that is years in advance of current conventional design.

Is it not safer for you to perhaps wait for delivery, and secure this modern car, than to take the chance that your investment will be seriously depreciated a year hence?

Six body styles, designed and constructed under the supervision of Brewster of New York. All closed bodies automatically ventilated. All models priced F. O. B. Indianapolis, tax excluded, but fully equipped except spare tires.

"Stepping Stones," Big Musical Comedy, is Ceramic Booking.

The great triennial musical comedy event in East Liverpool is the advent of Fred Stone in a new Charles Dillingham production, and the announcement that Mr. Stone is booked for an engagement at the Ceramic theatre on Monday, April 19, will arouse the enthusiasm of the Stone admirers.

The fact that the famous entertainer will be assisted in the new play by his brilliant young daughter gives extraordinary interest to the announcement. Dorothy Stone, who is not yet 18 years of age, became a star overnight by reason of her remarkable performance in "Stepping Stones" a year ago, and the partnership of father and daughter is an artistic combination such as the stage has seldom seen.

"Stepping Stones" is said to be the most amusing, sumptuous and dazzling of all the Fred Stone successes.

FREEMAN GIVEN $360 VERDICT

A jury in the case of Isaac Freeman against the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, returned a damage verdict for $360 in favor of the plaintiff, wherein the plaintiff sued for $5,000 damages.

Freeman was injured and suffered a broken arm when he alighted from a car of the defendant company in Third street, Wellsville, opposite the Whitacre flats April 15, 1924. The defendant claimed it was not its fault and denied liability. The jury was out but a short time.

ASK INJUNCTION ON ARCADIA LOTS

Two restraining orders have been sought in common pleas court against the continued sale of lots in "Arcadia" addition, Wellsville. The petitions seeking these orders were filed by Attorney James E. O'Grady, of Wellsville, in behalf of M. K. Duty, of Wellsville, and Clapsaddle & Kirk, civil engineers, of East Liverpool.

The petition of Duty was the first to be filed, his claim being for $1,109.58 for work and labor performed in clearing the tract, which is a plat over looking Enghteenth street, Wellsville.

Clapsaddle & Kirk, a firm of civil engineers in East Liverpool, laid out the tract, and their itemized statement presented the promoters and upon which payment was refused amounted to $1,355.50.

The restraining order sought was against the continued sale of lots, and for the conveyance of any property.

The defendants named in the petition are Cecil H. Taylor, trustee; W. A., L. B. and H. L. Post, of Pittsburgh, Pa., also Ernest Richards, agent of H. L. Post & Sons; the Perpetual Savings and Loan company and C. W. Arnold, both of Wellsville.

Pouring of concrete on this half-mile job will begin within a few days, and with favorable weather prevailing, the work should be completed within eight days. Three weeks will be required for the new concrete to "cure" after which the road will be opened into Salineville.

Stevenson, according to authorities, enroute from Canton, driving a car belonging to "Bud" Pugh, passed a wagon on a graded "curve a short distance north of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, and hit Culp's machine almost head-on. Culp, authorities said, was on the right side of the road.

Major League Openers Show No Effects of "Rabbit Ball"

Nats-Athletics Play 15 Frames to Decide Single-Run Contest

Inaugural Games Tend to Support Theory That Lively Horsehide Has Disappeared Between Seasons, Which, if True, May Mean End of Home Run Era.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 14.—It may be a bit early to start using one's mouth for a megaphone but quite a lot of able citizens have gone on record as declaring that the "rabbit ball" has been quietly dropped by organized baseball between seasons and yesterday's major league opening seemed to support this contention. This, if true, means the unlamented end of the home run era.

Except in one or two instances, there wasn't a great plenty of hitting anywhere and in Washington the ultimate was achieved when Walter Johnson breezed fifteen innings and Eddie Rommel fourteen without allowing a run. These performances, added to Jess Petty's one-hit effort at the Polo grounds, haven't been duplicated on inaugural day during recent years.

Petty, as a matter of fundamental fact, would have turned in a no-hit game, if Fournier had kept away from the play and permitted Cox to handle Frisch's fly unmolested.

Even in several of the free-scoring games, the hitting hardly kept pace with the runs. The Cards, for example, got seven runs but only ten hits and the Pirates replied by getting six runs from nine hits. The same ratio held true for the Reds' 7 to 6 decision over the Cubs.

Yanks-Sox Exception.

By way of further evidence, Lyons stopped the slugging Browns with one run and Uhle and Whitehill pitched excellent ball during the Indians' to to 1 verdict over the Tigers, hard hitting outfits both. The Tigers got eight hits off Uhle and the Indians nine off Whitehill and the man who relieved him for one inning. Carlson also turned in an adequate performance against the Braves, who got nine hits and three runs.

The only notable exception was furnished by the Yankees and Red Sox, the latter losing by 12 and 11. However, this sort of thing bobs up every now and then, even with the best of pitching and the Sox-Yanks variety was the absolute worst.

Conviction that the "rabbit" was no more was borne in upon the writer, not as a preconceived notion, but by degrees. In the several games he has watched this spring the ball failed to leave the bat with the old scream and this prompted me to believe, at first, that the pitchers were using a great deal of stuff.

Close observation, however, failed to prove that they had any more on the ball than is usually the case. It seemed to be the ball itself. The hitter met it fairly often enough but it seldom traveled on a line to distant fields. After watching the runaway rabbit for years, the effect was distinctly that of an indoor baseball being hit with a fungo bat.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

Spring being reputedly the season of the year for young pitchers, Walter Johnson had to go 15 innings before he could defeat the Athletics, 1 to 0. They got just six hits off Walter and 12 fanned the air. Rommel also turned in quite a performance but hits by S. Harris, Goslin and J. Harris in the final inning decided the issue.

Jess Petty finally began paying some overdue installments on his generous purchase price by shutting the Giants right out while the Dodgers got to Barnes for enough hits to win, 3 to 0. The Giants got one hit off Petty and that was of very dubious antecedents.

In spite of the fact that they had to dig the park out of a snow bank, a record crowd of 37,000 turned out to see the White Sox beat the Browns, 5 to 1, thanks to Lyons' pinch hitting.

After the Cubs had chased Donohue in the eighth, they folded up in the tenth and the Reds won, 7 to 6.

Another 37,000 crowd stampeded into Navin park but Uhle's pitching turned the Tigers back, the Indians getting a 2 to 1 decision by bunching blows against Whitehill. The Tigers filled the bases with two out in the ninth but Blue emptied them—with a pop fly to the infield.

Bottomley's homer with two on in the fifth was the abiding factor in the Cards' 7 to 6 decision over the Pirates. Hornsby had a perfect day with three hits.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Poise with the golf club develops with the study of your own golf form, and in reality that elusive term we know as golf form translates into nothing more than poise. After the player, through easy and studied practice swing, begins to sense the poise and balance of it he is pretty close to the real thing. The many details to which the player's attention is directed all have the one purpose of aiding him, in a large way, to keep his poise and balance. I urge the short back swing because, with the club topped short, balance is more easily held. Also, the player should understand that the more power factors he introduces into the swing, or the more violently he introduces these power factors, the more he increases likelihood of losing poise. Thus a short back swing, with poise and rhythm, will put much more force into the clubhead than a long, extended back swing lacking balance and timing. Keep that always in mind.

Jess Petty Blanks M'Graw's Giants

NEW YORK, April 14. — Rallying behind sensational pitching by Jess Petty, the Brooklyn Robins shut out the New York Giants before an opening throng of 45,000 fans yesterday 3 to 0. The big left-hander yielded only one hit, a scratch double by Frisch in the sixth.

Zach Wheat, veteran Brooklyn outfielder, led the attack on Virgil Barnes, Giant moundsman, hitting a double, two singles and a sacrifice. He drove in Brooklyn's first run in the third, while Fournier batted in two more tallies in the seventh.

Rabbit Maranville, making his first appearance at shortstop for the Robins, played a spectacular fielding game.

Mayor Walker of New York threw out the first ball.

Scott Plays Great Game for White Sox

CHICAGO, April 14—The Chicago White Sox opened the American league season here yesterday by defeating St. Louis, 5 to 1, before a crowd estimated at 37,000, the largest for any opening day in Sox park. Lyons, White Sox ace, pitched in fine form.

Bunching hits off Gaston, the Sox led off with a two-run lead. Gaston settled down and pitched well until he retired in favor of a pinch hitter after the sixth. Ballou, his successor, was driven from the mound after yielding five hits which brought three runs. Lyons, although touched for 10 safeties, tightened up in the pinches and was given perfect support.

Everett Scott, former Senator and New York shortstop, made his debut with the Sox with a great game in the field.

Uhle Hurls Indians To Win at Detroit

DETROIT, April 14.—George Uhle put Cleveland through a 2-to-1 victory over Detroit before 36,565 persons who paid to see the Tigers and Indians inaugurate the 1926 American league season here yesterday.

Spurgeon's single in the third scored Jamieson, who had got on base on a fielder's choice, and successive doubles by J. Sewell and Burns in the fourth, accounted for the other run.

Detroit threatened several times, but only in the sixth, when Tavener doubled after Blue had walked, did they score. In the eighth inning Manush, pinch hitting for Bassler doubled with one out, but Cobb, batting for Whitehill, lined into Uhle's hand and Manush was doubled at second. In the last inning, Detroit filled the bases on two walks and a single by Fothergill, but Blue popped out to end the game.

Bancroft's Braves Fall Before Phils

PHILADELPHIA, April 14. — The Phillies opened the season here yesterday by taking Bancroft's revamped Boston Braves into camp, 6 to 3. The Braves were helpless against the pitching of Carlson until the closing innings. Jimmy Johnston, former Brooklyn veteran, pinch batted for Hearn in the ninth and hit a home run with none on base.

The usual opening game celebration preceded the contest, Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick throwing out the first ball.

Johnson Gets Off With Shutout Win

WASHINGTON, April 14. — Washington and Philadelphia opened the baseball season in gala style here yesterday, battling 15 innings before the champion Senators won, 1 to 0. The game was a brilliant duel between pitching veterans, Walter Johnson for the Senators, beginning his nineteenth season, and Ed Rommel for the Athletics.

More than 25,000 fans braved the chilly weather and saw Vice President Dawes toss out the first ball. A floral piece was presented to Manager Bucky Harris and Johnson received a loving cup.

Bucky Scores Run.

Manager Harris crossed the plate with the winning run after he had singled. Goslin doubled and Joe Harris singled. Twice the Senators had filled the bags with two out, only to fall before Rommel's pitching. The Senators went hitless during the first four innings.

Twelve of the Athletics went down by the strikeout route, Johnson's curves and fast ones appearing as effective as ever. Rommel struck out one man and walked five while Johnson passed three.

The veteran Peckinpaugh sat on the bench and watched his substitute Buddy Myer play at shortstop. The youngster handled four chances and muffed one.

WONDERFUL NEW REMEDY FOR YOUR ACHES AND PAINS

STOPS ACHES, PAINS, STIFFNESS, QUICKLY

MIKE MARTIN, Trainer
Washington Baseball Club
American League Champions 1924-25.

Big league baseball stars like Walter Johnson, Bucky Harris, Ty Cobb, George Sisler, Coveleski, and others cannot afford to be laid up with aches, pains, swollen joints or stiffness a single day, so they must use the best remedy money can buy.

The liniment they use out at the ball park works like lightning and in a jiffy relieves aches, pains, stiffness or swollen joints due to sprains, rheumatic troubles, neuritis, neuralgia, etc. A thousand times each baseball season this wonderful liniment does its work in big league circles, and yet this liniment they use is so mild it wouldn't harm a baby's skin and never blisters no matter how much you rub it in or bandage it up.

The liniment is named after the man who for years was trainer of the New York "Yankees," Cincinnati "Reds," Columbia University, etc., and now is trainer of Washington's 1924-1925 American League Champion Baseball Club.

It is called Mike Martin's Liniment. Local drug stores are featuring it. Any person suffering with aches, pains, lame back, rheumatism, swollen joints, stiffness, neuralgia or neuritis should get a bottle. It is pleasant to use, never stains and by rubbing a little into the sore, stiff achy parts you get almost magic relief.

Ball players often catch cold, get stiff, sore or bunged up and come to the ball park hardly able to work, yet out they come from a good rub with Mike Martin's Liniment, as lively, full of pep and ginger as anybody could wish. Watch them scamper and prance in rain or shine. You'd never dream they had an ache or pain in their lives. Mike Martin by making this liniment available to the general public in drug stores is doing a great thing for those who suffer. If reader lives out of town and druggist hasn't it, write Mike Martin, Washington Ball Club, Washington, D. C., and he will send a large family size bottle with full directions, parcel post, for $1. The Carnahan's three Drug Stores and all good druggists sell smaller trial-size bottles for a few cents.

Johnson Gets Off With Shutout Win

WASHINGTON, April 14. — Washington and Philadelphia opened the baseball season in gala style here yesterday, battling 15 innings before the champion Senators won, 1 to 0. The game was a brilliant duel between pitching veterans, Walter Johnson for the Senators, beginning his nineteenth season, and Ed Rommel for the Athletics.

More than 25,000 fans braved the chilly weather and saw Vice President Dawes toss out the first ball. A floral piece was presented to Manager Bucky Harris and Johnson received a loving cup.

Bucky Scores Run.

Manager Harris crossed the plate with the winning run after he had singled. Goslin doubled and Joe Harris singled. Twice the Senators had filled the bags with two out, only to fall before Rommel's pitching. The Senators went hitless during the first four innings.

Twelve of the Athletics went down by the strikeout route, Johnson's curves and fast ones appearing as effective as ever. Rommel struck out one man and walked five while Johnson passed three.

The veteran Peckinpaugh sat on the bench and watched his substitute Buddy Myer play at shortstop. The youngster handled four chances and muffed one.

WONDERFUL NEW REMEDY FOR YOUR ACHES AND PAINS

STOPS ACHES, PAINS, STIFFNESS, QUICKLY

MIKE MARTIN, Trainer
Washington Baseball Club
American League Champions 1924-25.

Big league baseball stars like Walter Johnson, Bucky Harris, Ty Cobb, George Sisler, Coveleski, and others cannot afford to be laid up with aches, pains, swollen joints or stiffness a single day, so they must use the best remedy money can buy.

The liniment they use out at the ball park works like lightning and in a jiffy relieves aches, pains, stiffness or swollen joints due to sprains, rheumatic troubles, neuritis, neuralgia, etc. A thousand times each baseball season this wonderful liniment does its work in big league circles, and yet this liniment they use is so mild it wouldn't harm a baby's skin and never blisters no matter how much you rub it in or bandage it up.

The liniment is named after the man who for years was trainer of the New York "Yankees," Cincinnati "Reds," Columbia University, etc., and now is trainer of Washington's 1924-1925 American League Champion Baseball Club.

It is called Mike Martin's Liniment. Local drug stores are featuring it. Any person suffering with aches, pains, lame back, rheumatism, swollen joints, stiffness, neuralgia or neuritis should get a bottle. It is pleasant to use, never stains and by rubbing a little into the sore, stiff achy parts you get almost magic relief.

Ball players often catch cold, get stiff, sore or bunged up and come to the ball park hardly able to work, yet out they come from a good rub with Mike Martin's Liniment, as lively, full of pep and ginger as anybody could wish. Watch them scamper and prance in rain or shine. You'd never dream they had an ache or pain in their lives. Mike Martin by making this liniment available to the general public in drug stores is doing a great thing for those who suffer. If reader lives out of town and druggist hasn't it, write Mike Martin, Washington Ball Club, Washington, D. C., and he will send a large family size bottle with full directions, parcel post, for $1. The Carnahan's three Drug Stores and all good druggists sell smaller trial-size bottles for a few cents.

CHICAGO O. K.'S BOXING BILL

Five to One Verdict Returned Yesterday at Polls.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 14. — Chicago will have legalized boxing just as soon as Governor Len Small appoints the state boxing commission, following the passage by heavy majorities in yesterday's primary of the state boxing bill. The bill carried in Chicago—the only city voting on it—by 5 to 1, incomplete returns early today indicate.

The appointment of the commission and the perfecting of its organization is expected to take at least two months. A question on the subject wired to Governor Small at his home in Kankakee last night brought this reply: "I haven't given a thought to the commission."

Until the passage of the present bill prize fighting in Chicago had been outlawed for 20 years. Prominent features of the new bill are these:

Boxing will be under the supervision of a commission of three members and a secretary, appointed by the governor.

No bout shall exceed 10 rounds.

Champions will be compelled to defend their titles in decision affairs.

The commission shall regulate the prices of all shows.

All promoters must be residents of the state for at least three years prior to application for license.

MORRIS VICTOR IN CUE CONTEST

C. Morris easily defeated Shorty Shaffer, substituting for Charley Brown, in last night's match in the Grand Billiard parlors' city title cue tournament.

Coggy Moore will take on Frank Sainor in Thursday's match.

Morris has high run of 18 in last night's event. The scores by innings:

Morris—0, 1, 2, 7, 10, 0, 7, 7, 0, 1, 0, 18 0, 1, 2, 4, 3.

Shaffer—1, 1, 8, 0, 5, 0, 0, 0, 5, 1, 4, 2, 6, 1, 1, 3, 4, 3, 2.

Reds Go 10 Innings To Trim Cubs, 7 to 6

CINCINNATI, April 14.—The Cincinnati Reds took the opening game from Chicago, 7 to 6, here yesterday in a 10-inning exhibition, marked by rather free hitting, with poor fielding on the part of the Cubs.

Donahue was knocked out of the box in the eighth inning after keeping the hits well scattered until that period. Luque, who replaced him, pitched to two men, and May took the mound in the ninth.

Picinich registered the first homer of the season in the fifth inning, and Freigau duplicated with a homer for Chicago in the eighth inning.

JUNIOR SQUADS PLAY TO 2-2 TIE

The Rinkeydinks and the Tigers played to a 2-2 deadlock yesterday afternoon at West End. The contest was originally billed for seven frames but two extra innings were tacked on and, with the count still knotted, the contest was called on account of darkness.

R. Hanlon, of the Rinkeydinks fanned 13. Howell, of the Tigers, breezed seven.

What Pretty Girl Did For Sick Stomach

Miss E. Rich of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I don't know what the cause was, but every few days my stomach would feel all bloated up with gas, my appetite was poor and I felt sick to my stomach—to say nothing of headaches.

"I never thought of using Carter's Little Liver Pills until nothing seemed to help. After using Carter's I felt relieved at once—and now as soon as my stomach 'talks' back I answer with Carter's and have the last word."

CHICAGO O. K.'S BOXING BILL

Five to One Verdict Returned Yesterday at Polls.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 14. — Chicago will have legalized boxing just as soon as Governor Len Small appoints the state boxing commission, following the passage by heavy majorities in yesterday's primary of the state boxing bill. The bill carried in Chicago—the only city voting on it—by 5 to 1, incomplete returns early today indicate.

The appointment of the commission and the perfecting of its organization is expected to take at least two months. A question on the subject wired to Governor Small at his home in Kankakee last night brought this reply: "I haven't given a thought to the commission."

Until the passage of the present bill prize fighting in Chicago had been outlawed for 20 years. Prominent features of the new bill are these:

Boxing will be under the supervision of a commission of three members and a secretary, appointed by the governor.

No bout shall exceed 10 rounds.

Champions will be compelled to defend their titles in decision affairs.

The commission shall regulate the prices of all shows.

All promoters must be residents of the state for at least three years prior to application for license.

MORRIS VICTOR IN CUE CONTEST

C. Morris easily defeated Shorty Shaffer, substituting for Charley Brown, in last night's match in the Grand Billiard parlors' city title cue tournament.

Coggy Moore will take on Frank Sainor in Thursday's match.

Morris has high run of 18 in last night's event. The scores by innings:

Morris—0, 1, 2, 7, 10, 0, 7, 7, 6, 1, 0, 18, 0, 1, 2, 4, 3.

Shaffer—1, 1, 8, 9, 5, 0, 0, 0, 5, 1, 4, 2, 6, 1, 1, 3, 4, 3, 2.

Reds Go 10 Innings To Trim Cubs, 7 to 6

CINCINNATI, April 14.—The Cincinnati Reds took the opening game from Chicago, 7 to 6, here yesterday in a 10-inning exhibition, marked by rather free hitting, with poor fielding on the part of the Cubs.

Donahue was knocked out of the box in the eighth inning after keeping the hits well scattered until that period. Luque, who replaced him, pitched to two men, and May took the mound in the ninth.

Picinich registered the first homer of the season in the fifth inning, and Freigau duplicated with a homer for Chicago in the eighth inning.

JUNIOR SQUADS PLAY TO 2-2 TIE

The Rinkeydinks and the Tigers played to a 2-2 deadlock yesterday afternoon at West End. The contest was originally billed for seven frames but two extra innings were tacked on and, with the count still knotted, the contest was called on account of darkness.

R. Hanlon, of the Rinkeydinks fanned 13. Howell, of the Tigers, breezed seven.

INJURED RAILROADER DIES

Now Burbank Knows.
Consider New Orleans.
Hear Colonel Ewing.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

BURBANK is dead, and now knows more than he could guess at concerning Providence and the hereafter.

He said, in a hasty moment, that he did not believe an all powerful and merciful God would create weak human beings, knowing exactly what they would do when created, and then burn them through all eternity. He, Burbank, would not treat one of his plants that way. For expressing his views, he was overwhelmed with reproaches and many abusive letters, from well meaning believers. His doctor says the abuse undoubtedly shortened the old man's life. He was 77.

This shows that it is hard for us, even for some clergymen, to take seriously the doctrine that Americans have a constitutional right to believe what they choose, and express their beliefs. Religions can set up theories flatly contradicting each other, and each is respected as it should be. But let any one say "you can't all be right, and I think you are all wrong," and you hear dismal howling.

Burbank cultivated his own garden, made plants grow better than they had grown before, did his work well. Perhaps Divine justice will forgive him for suggesting that it could be guilty of such cruelty as would disgrace an Apache Indian on the war path.

THIS is written after seeing New Orleans, with Colonel Ewing, who will go to his grave, 40 or 50 years hence, filled with anguish, that millions of Americans should have lived and died without spending at least a month in New Orleans. It is to him like living in Egypt, without seeing the pyramids.

One hundred and thirty-five thousand men and women of French descent live in New Orleans, which means many things, including perfect cooking, that other cities have not.

The old French Cathedral is beautiful and the Cabildo, in which was signed the Louisiana purchase, is a museum of American treasures and memories, not equaled elsewhere.

We bought Louisiana, by the way, a territory that reached north, from the gulf to the Great Lakes, for there cents an acre, the world's record in real estate bargains. "The first consul of France," as Napoleon was then called, must often wonder, in Heaven, why he did not hold on to that parcel.

NEW ORLEANS is a city of sunlight, warmth, beauty, grace, wide streets that make Fifth avenue or State street seem narrow lanes. The people are cheerful, courteous and energetic. But Col. Ewing wants you to know first of all, that New Orleans is a leading American boom town. He must have written the sign that taxi drivers put on their windshields: I Believe in New Orleans.

Bear in mind and remember, Col. Ewing tells it to you, that the Gulf coast, adjoining New Orleans, is the

GRAND JURY INDICTS TRIO FOR ARSON

SUSPECTS IN VAUGHN HOME CONFLAGRATION TO FACE TRIAL

JAIL INSPECTED

Time for Arraignment of Prisoners Not Determined.

Indictments, charging arson, were returned by the grand jury late yesterday afternoon against William Uhlworm, 21, Clyde Jackson, 23, and Harlan H. Crawford, 45, all of this city in connection with the attempted burning of the Mrs. Agnes Vaughn home, Crook alley, Saturday, April 3.

In Session Two Days.

Uhlworm and Jackson pleaded guilty to arson charges upon preliminary arraignment, the former having made a written confession to his part in the crime. Crawford, who denies any complicity in the fire, is at liberty under $2,000 bond.

The grand jury, which was in session but two days, returned eleven true bills, three of them being secret indictments. Forty-seven witnesses were examined, 16 cases considered and four cases ignored. George Blackmore, of East Liverpool, was foreman of the jury.

County Jail Visited.

The jurors made their customary visit to the county jail before adjourning.

"We find the jail in excellent condition and commend Sheriff George Wright and his wife for the way in which it is kept," the report reads.

Judge Glenn, Coshocton, excused the jury, which will be subject to the call of the clerk of courts any time during the present term. Arraignment day has not been set by the court.

True bills returned by the jury are as follows:

Everett Shaw, East Liverpool, burglary, (two counts).

William Uhlworm, Clyde Jackson and Harlan H. Crawford, East Liverpool, arson.

Arnold Whittington, East Liverpool, operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner.

Russell O. Sanor, West township, abandonment.

Joseph Chefelo, Wellsville, shooting with intent to kill Alfonso Rocco.

Marion L. English, Wellsville, shooting with intent to kill Perry Daniels.

Harry Marton, East Liverpool, failure to support minor child.

Strange Disappearance Of Mansfield Man To be Investigated

COLUMBUS, April 14.—Only on petition of Mansfield citizens, will Governor Donahey consider the appointment of special counsel to investigate the mysterious disappearance from Mansfield on March 10 of Clark Baker, dance hall proprietor, the governor announced today.

The governor's statement was prompted by a visit here of Phillip Wolfe, Mansfield editor, who told the executive Richland county officials were making no progress in the investigation.

Wolfe also conferred with Attorney General Crabbe but was informed that the attorney general's office could take no action in the matter unless ordered by the governor.

Wife, Who Talks in Her Sleep, Guilty of Moral Misconduct

PARIS, April 14.—There are worried folk in France today.

A magistrate in southern France has granted a divorce to a husband who charged that while his wife talked in her sleep she mentioned the name of another man.

"Even though the wife did not actually commit misconduct," said the court's judgment, "she rendered herself guilty of moral misconduct by pronouncing in her sleep the name of a man other than her husband."

LEAVES LISBON

Case to be Assigned at End of Present Term.

George A. Anderson, of East Liverpool, held following the slaying of Frank R. McLain, fleet manager of the McLain Yellow Cab system here, today is free under bond of $4,000.

Verdict of manslaughter found against Anderson at a hearing in common pleas court, was reversed by the court of appeals, on account of the charge to the jury of Judge John Worley, of Cadiz.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes today did not indicate when the case will again be assigned, although it was thought probable that no action will be taken until after the present work of the grand jury has been completed.

Anderson was returned to the county jail on Friday night from the state penitentiary at Columbus after the court of appeals had granted a new trial.

Anderson furnished bond Tuesday and left Lisbon in company with his counsel and a number of friends.

Two Payroll Bandits Kidnap Truck Driver And Make Big Haul

INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., April 14.—Approximately $50,000 of the Inland Steel company's payroll and three sacks of mail are believed to have been taken by two armed bandits who kidnaped the driver of a United States mail truck here early today.

Postal officials were unable to valuate the loot in the three sacks, but expressed the fear that part of the Inland payroll and other valuable registered mail composed their contents.

The kidnapers, who escaped with the government employee in a high-speed motor car, headed toward Chicago.

World Court Opponent Easy Winner In Illinois Race

Smith Beats McKinley for Republican Nomination for Senator by 100,000 Majority—Brennan is Democratic Choice.

CHICAGO, April 14.—With returns little more than half tabulated, aides of Col. Frank L. Smith today proclaimed his victory for the Republican nomination for United States senator over Senator William B. McKinley in yesterday's primaries by upwards of 100,000 majority. McKinley late last night conceded defeat and sent his congratulations to Col. Smith.

George E. Brennan won the Democratic senatorial nomination by an overwhelming majority.

After the first few precincts in Chicago had reported it became apparent that Smith would carry the city by a huge figure. His aides place his majority in Cook county at 65,000. Smith also developed unusual strength downstate. Even in districts where McKinley was thought invincible, Smith not only held his own but polled slight majorities.

Col. Smith made his campaign almost solely on an anti-world court issue, with McKinley's vote favoring the world court as his chief target.

The nomination of Brennan by the Democrats, to oppose Smith at the November general elections, assures a wet and dry referendum in Illinois this fall. Smith is a dry and has been indorsed by the Anti-Saloon league. Brennan made his campaign on his advocacy of modification of the prohibition laws to permit sale and manufacture of light wines and beer, and predicts his election in November on this platform.

Returns from the congressional districts, near enough complete in most districts to make the results certain, show that practically all of the state's 27 congressmen were renominated. In many districts there were no contests, particularly on the Democratic side, and it is highly probable that all of the incumbents will be renominated when final returns are in.

Only meagre returns are available in the Republican race for two congressman-at-large, but these figures show an overwhelming tendency toward nomination of the present congressmen, Richard Yates and Henry R. Rathbone.

TRIAL OF DEPOSED POLICE CHIEF OF WELLSVILLE STARTS TOMORROW

Civil Service Commission Will Hear Charges Which Mayor Fogo Has Filed Against Ex-police Department Head.

John H. Fultz, deposed chief of police of Wellsville, tomorrow night at 7 o'clock will go on trial before the Wellsville civil service commission on charges of neglect of duty and laxity in enforcement of state and municipal laws brought by Mayor W. L. Fogo.

The hearing, which is expected to continue over a period of several days as a result of the large number of witnesses said to have been subpoenaed by both the prosecution and the defense, will be staged in council chamber of the city hall building.

The chief figures in the trial will be:

John H. Fultz, suspended from office during the latter part of March, by—

Mayor W. L. Fogo, who filed charges of neglect and laxity before—

The Wellsville Civil Service Commission, consisting of Chairman Dwight McLean, A. C. Fogo and Harry Hammond.

Attorneys Ben L. Bennett and Frank E. Grosshans of East Liverpool, and William A. O'Grady of Wellsville, representing the accused police officer.

Attorneys Charles Boyd of Wellsville and Frank L. Lones, of the law firm of Lones, Hill & Davidson of East Liverpool, assisting City Solicitor Samuel C. Luccock of Wellsville, prosecuting the charges.

The defendant asserts that, in the event of an unfavorable decision from the civil service commission, the case will be carried to higher courts.

Mayor W. L. Fogo announces that he is ready to take the charges to as high a tribunal as necessary.

The hearings, according to present indications, will be held chiefly at night. Sessions during the day, Chairman McLean indicates, will be avoided as far as possible.

The suspended police officer, in appealing to the commission for a hearing, denied the charges filed against him.

HOUSE WETS ARE JUBILANT OVER PROPOSED SURVEY OF PROHIBITION

Enforcement Officials to be Questioned Regarding Legislation to Halt Flow of Liquor.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—House wets were jubilant today over the decision of the alcoholic liquor traffic committee to hold a survey of prohibition, commencing next Tuesday.

With the senate judiciary subcommittee finishing its work next week, the wets believed the house hearings would serve to both bring out new facts and keep the issue alive against the coming elections.

This attitude was not shared by Rep. Hudson, Michigan, chairman of the committee. Hudson, regarded as one of the "extra-dry" men in congress, declared today the hearings would not be a forum for debate between wets and drys.

"We propose to hear enforcement officials with a view to recommending legislation, if necessary, to further aid in reducing the flow of liquor," said Hudson.

Despite the cold water thrown on the scope of the survey, Rep. Hill, Maryland, leader of the house wet bloc regarded the move as "most encouraging."

The following jurors have been drawn: Cora M. Beatty, Harry Altman, G. R. Pattison, T. J. Kerr, Sylvester Cripps, Clara M. Osborne, Leon Rubin and Alfred Peterson.

MIDDLETOWN, O., April 14.—Undaunted by the bold, bad bandit who pointed a gun at her and demanded that she hand over the contents of the cash register, Miss Bess Ross, waitress in a local restaurant, seized a heavy water carafe and attacked the man. He fled.

The institute which opened Monday has been well attended. Sessions are held each evening. It will be concluded next Sunday, which will be known as Institute Sunday.

Samuel W. Swindell Former Resident Dies at Chicago

Samuel William Swindell, former resident of East Liverpool, died Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at his home in Chicago, where he had been a resident for approximately 17 years.

In addition to his wife, Fannie Forman Swindell, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sarah Jones, of Chicago; a son, William Swindell, of Inglewood, Ill.; his father, William, of East Palestine; a sister, Mrs. Fred Owen, of East Palestine, and a brother, J. E. Swindell, of Chester, W. Va.

The body will arrive here tomorrow morning at 11:45 o'clock. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, in charge of Rev. F. C. Roberts, rector of the St. Matthew's church, of Chester.

Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Advertising for Baseball Schedule Not Authorized

As a warning to East Liverpool merchants and business men, C. C. Cline, president of the Industrial Baseball League, today announced that the league is not seeking advertisements for score cards or schedule forms and anyone who represents himself in an undertaking of this kind does not have the authority of the league behind him.

President Cline calls the matter to the attention of business men following reports that such solicitation has been made of various merchants.

ROBERT WHITE, 23, SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES EARLY TODAY

Victim Believed to Have Fallen From Train.

INTERNALLY HURT

Body Will be Shipped to Cleveland for Burial.

As a result of injuries sustained Monday morning at 2 o'clock when he fell from an eastbound fast freight at the western end of the Pennsylvania railroad shops, near Boring's Crossing, Wellsville, Robert White, 23 years old, of Cleveland, died this morning at 3:30 o'clock in the City hospital here.

Unconscious When Found.

Although C. & P. railroad representatives at Wellsville today said they knew nothing about the accident, it is believed that White lost his footing at some point on the train and was thrown with great force to the right of way.

He was unconscious when picked up by railroad men at Boring's. He was badly cut and bruised and was believed to have been hurt internally. He was attended by Dr. J. S. McCulloch of Wellsville and Dr. W. A. Hobbs of East Liverpool.

The body was removed to the Miller undertaking establishment and will be shipped today to the family residence in Cleveland for burial.

CONGO FERRY IS OPERATED

Vehicle Boat Tied up in Court, Now in Commission.

Through the efforts of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and the Columbiana County Motor club, the vehicle ferry between Third street, Wellsville, and Congo has again been placed in operation.

The boat has been tied up for several weeks because of a court litigation. Secretary Barth of the Chamber of Commerce and E. M. Diehl, secretary of the automobile club went to Wheeling this week and secured permission from the federal court to have the boat released pending a settlement of the litigation.

Since the closing of the East Liverpool-Wellsville road, the detour between the two cities has been via West Point, which is about 40 miles for the round trip. Traffic between the two cities is now across the bridge into Newell and thence back across the river by ferry at Congo. The new arrangement is quite a convenience to local business houses which make daily trips to the sister city.

Commissioners Seek Names of Deceased World War Veterans

Dead line for the receipt of lists of all those graves of soldiers, sailors and marines for which markers are to be furnished by the county commissioners is April 25. The markers are provided by the county under authority of a state law.

L. H. Johnson, clerk to the county commissioners, in issuing this order to ex-service men's organizations says:

"It is my desire that you submit a complete list to me by April 25 of the persons buried in or about who were in the World war, either abroad or in this country. I must have the list on or before the above mentioned date, so that markers will be received for Decoration Day.

"Give the name of the soldier, sailor or marine, company, regiment or other command in which he served, so that this data can be inscribed on each marker."

SIX KILLED, FOUR OTHERS INJURED AS RESULT OF KLAN-ANTI-KLAN ELECTION RIOTS AT HERRIN, ILL.

HERRIN, Ill., April 14. — The heavy tramp of national guardsmen echoed anew in the streets of Herrin today following the latest revival of feudist warfare that has earned for this county the name of "bloody Williamson." An ominous quiet prevails today but an order placing the city under martial law will be issued at the first threat of trouble.

In the morgue are the bodies of six men—victims of the pitched battle fought in the streets during the election here yesterday. Four other men lie seriously wounded in hospitals.

The feudists are of two factions, klansmen and anti-klansmen. After a truce of 14 months yesterday's disturbance broke with a suddenness that rocked the city and sent unallied citizens scurrying to their homes for protection.

The trouble started at the polls. The race for sheriff has been unusually bitter, each faction trying to elect the man who would be partial to its side. When John Smith, alleged leader of Ku Klux Klan forces, challenged a number of Italians' votes, an anti-klan precinct worker struck Smith in the face. A fight ensued but was quelled by local authorities.

An hour later Smith was shot as he stood in front of his garage. He was wounded but crawled to the garage and barricaded the door. A few minutes later four men with a machine gun mounted in their automobile drove by and riddled the garage with bullets. They then drove past the Masonic temple, a polling place, in front of which a number of klansmen were gathered.

A volley of shots was fired into the crowd. Three men fell, mortally wounded. Their companions opened fire on the raiders and two of them fell from the car, dead. Another was mortally wounded.

The small company of guardsmen was then divided into squads and placed about the town. Maj. Davis wired Cairo and Salem to mobilize their guardsmen and have them ready to move at a moment's notice.

Smith was shot through the neck and is expected to recover.

It was hinted today that the shooting was part of a plot to kill the nine principal klansmen in Herrin. Smith and the three klansmen killed were among the marked men, it was said.

Adjt. General Carlos E. Black at Springfield was watching the situation closely today, and is said to have issued orders to Maj. Davis to place the town under martial law at the first indication of renewed rioting.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Property Owners of Bowling Green Like Concrete Streets

More than 3000 American cities and towns from one end of the country to the other have found concrete the ideal street pavement.

They know it withstands the pounding of heavy traffic and that it is always safe to drive on.

They know concrete does away with costly paving repairs.

The first concrete streets in Bowling Green, O., were built in 1914.

Maintenance has been pratically nothing. The city now has sixteen concrete streets.

Experience has proved to Bowling Green people that concrete streets give greater value per dollar.

Gift Money Suspected

Most foreign countries are glad to get American money on any pretext whatever. Not so Egypt. There is considerable doubt expressed as to whether the Egyptian government will accept the $10,000,000 offered by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for an archeological museum in Cairo.

The terms of Mr. Rockefeller's gift certainly do not seem offensive, even to a country notoriously touchy and super-dignified toward foreigners. There is no attempt to monopolize the relic business in Egypt or dictate to the Egyptian authorities. The donor proposes to have his gift controlled for 30 years by a joint board equally representing Egypt, America, England and France, after which time Egypt is to gain full control.

But even this much renders the Egyptian politicians suspicious and hostile. They cannot understand why any outsider should give so much money just to promote archeology and befriend an ancient and poverty-stricken country. So they may refuse the offer or else hedge it about with crippling conditions—as they have with all the outside archeological work there—until the donor recalls his gift.

There is no accounting for what foreigners will do. Still, who are we to criticise? An American university, only recently, refused some of Mr. Rockefeller's philanthropic money for the same reasons that seem to actuate the Egyptians.

Longer-Playing Records

Another bit of evidence—if any were needed—that the radio has not killed the phonograph is found in the news that records can now be made which play 50 per cent more music than old records of the some size. Other developments in the recording art are expected to increase the life of a record.

Both of these things will increase the enjoyment of phonograph users and the popularity of phonographs.

Longer records will mean the reproduction of longer musical numbers. Instead of giving only fragments of certain lovely instrumental pieces, they can be played clear through. Compositions still too long for even the new records will be divisible into larger units. Perhaps a day will come when a whole symphony or concert can be played from one record.

Everything which tends to bring good music to more people is important and valuable. And neither music artists nor commercial musical interests have anything to fear from such developments. The public seems to have an infinite capacity for musical enjoyment. Music itself satisfies so many tastes and needs that the more people know about it the more they want of it.

A Moslem League

There is talk now of a "Moslem League of Nations" uniting the 220,000,000 Mohammedans of the world. The project, as set forth in some of the foreign dispatches, seems rather alarming.

An Islamic congress is to meet at Cairo in May to elect a new caliph of the Mohammedan faith. There will be an effort made there to call a subsequent assembly at Mecca, representing the whole Moslem world. If the plan of Sheik Abul Azaim is carried out, there will be an effort to organize the caliphate into a sort of super-government for all Moslem states.

"The consequences of this plan would be incalculable," says a British observer. "For it would establish a Moslem league of nations more coherent and effective than its prototype at Geneva."

Moslem scares are periodical and eternal, and it is seldom that anything comes of them. For years now there has been talk of a new "Holy War" against Christendom and Christendom still seems as safe as ever.

It would be "some job," assuredly, to unite the 220,000,000 Moslems of the world for joint action, political or military. There are 4,000,000 of them in Europe, 140,000,000 in Asia, 45,000,000 in Africa and 30,000,000 in Oceania. The various units have all fallen apart, finding co-operation impossible in recent times. The largest continental block, the Asiatic Moslems, are divided among Turkey, Arabia, India and other countries, with most of them in India, which is not a nation at all. Turkey and the Arabian countries are always quarrelling. Mustapha Kemal, the ablest leading Moslem, cares nothing for religion. The religious followers of the prophet elsewhere care nothing for him.

If the fiery sheiks of the desert, however, can drum up some sort of Moslem league of nations, it might really be a good thing in some ways. It would hardly kill off the league at Geneva. A little healthful competition might impel the Geneva organization to get together and develop more efficiency in behalf of international Christendom.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 14.—Millionaires in Gotham seem to be indulging their love of luxury in colorful bathrooms. Each one is outdoing the other. Having a magnificently equipped bath is an indoor conceit comparable to the old outward gesture of a moated castle or a shooting box in Scotland.

The late Frank Munsey spent thousands on an especially equipped bath for his apartment at the Ritz. Another rich bachelor has a bath of black onyx in his Park avenue apartment, with faucets inlaid, with green jade. It is said to have cost $75,000.

A famous Wall Street plunger begins his manoeuvering for the day in his bath. It is a white marbled Roman affair inset in the floor, and when he sinks into its cool depths there is a battery of telephones encased in rubber at his elbow.

He directs preliminary skirmishes of his chiefs over them. He has said most of his clever coups originated while enjoying his morning plunge. Scores of high-powered executives now have shower baths in their offices, to which they may retire in moments of fatigue.

Two skilled architects are devoting their entire talents to bathroom specialization. The bath is no longer a slit in the hall. It is often the size of the drawing room, with equipments as expensive. They are even making miniature baths for the kiddies. Perhaps this is why outlanders say New York is "all wet."

The finest bath I ever saw is in a private home on a Long Island estate. It was the kind that made you wish for Saturday night. The floor was of a green translucent composition under which water constantly flowed. The walls and ceiling were mirrors.

The tub was chiseled out of solid marble. One push button automatically started an old fashioned music box hidden in the wall. Another button automatically sprayed the water released artificial sun rays for the drying process.

I don't think any bathroom medicine cabinet yet devised is large enough. I never saw one not completely filled. In a strange bathroom I invariably snoop into the medicine cabinet. Most of them are veritable Pandora boxes. There are mysterious pellets, balsams, salves and tubes and scores of other highly advertised products, tried once and abandoned. In the same manner I do not believe any place holds such a lure of mystery for a boy as behind the prescription case of an old-fashioned drug store.

So far as I can discover I am the only person invited to Earl Carroll's famous party who did not attend. I was out of town.

A woman appeared in a Broadway cafe the other day wearing the sort of veil so fashionable a few years ago. She created so much excitement that two reporters interviewed her. They scented deep mystery.

There are not perhaps a half dozen remaining of the aristocratic old boarding houses which, after the London fashion, received "paying guests." The landladies were pale, acidulated and snobbish and were given to rustling black silks. They drove every afternoon in their carriages. The boarding houses were the havens of the star boarder who usually seemed as brown and bitter as the coffee. After dinner there was the front parlor. The music professor who lived three flights up and all the way back played a selection or two. It was the nearest approach to small town life to be found in all New York.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Melting Pot of Nations—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.—While many Americans are looking upon Mexico as a probable trouble spot, and are awaiting with interest the developments in the effort of Secretary of State Kellogg to secure some amendment or moderate interpretation to Mexican laws affecting American oil and mineral holdings, a very different picture of Mexico is set forth by Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, who has long been interested in Mexican affairs.

In an interview designed for publication in England, Mr. Chandler declares that Mexico has the most glorious future imaginable, and that her policy of "Mexico for Mexicans" as interpreted in her land laws and naturalization laws is probably destined to create a nation which will enjoy a growth and prosperity akin to that of the United States in the last century.

Mr. Chandler makes no reference to his own interests in Mexico, and expresses no alarm about the present dispute between this country and Mexico over Article 27 of the Mexican Constitution and the 1925 laws passed to interpret that article. He asserts the belief that a fair solution of this detail will be arrived at, but says he regards the billion dollars of foreign capital involved—half of it American—as but a small factor in the great prospects for the future of Mexico. What interests him is the broad policy laid down by Mexico in her new laws, which welcome immigration and encourage naturalization by making it a requisite for land ownership in most instances, and which the western publisher forecasts as destined to make of Mexico a new melting pot" for immigration from the old world.

He foresees the same type of courageous immigrants who poured into the United States during the nineteenth century, flocking into Mexico during the remainder of the twentieth century. He points out that less than a year after the United States, by the 1924 immigration act, closed the door to two-thirds of the immigration which had been coming here, Mexico by her 1925 legislation opened her doors to the same type of immigration.

Mr. Chandler sees Mexico in a situation similar to that of the United States one hundred years ago, with vast areas of fertile land undeveloped, great mineral riches untouched, but with the advantage of a transportation system fairly well developed, so that the resources of Mexico are much more readily available to the markets of the world than were those of our own nation a century ago.

Regards Laws As Fair.

In this situation he regards the new Mexican laws, as a whole, as a natural, fair, and wise policy. These laws provide that no alien may own land in Mexico within 60 miles of a frontier or within 30 miles of a seacoast. No alien may acquire sub-soil rights, that is mineral, oil, or water rights, anywhere in Mexico. This in effect is the policy of "Mexico for Mexicans." Mr. Chandler, with years of experience and close contact with Mexican affairs, regards it as a very sound and natural policy, from the Mexican viewpoint. It is coupled with liberal laws of naturalization, so that bona fide settlers may become citizens of Mexico and property owners as readily, and even more readily, than could the immigrant to this country in earlier years.

"The answer," says Mr. Chandler, "is as simple as that of two and two. From the United States the tide of old world immigration is already turning to Mexico. And for the first time in its history, Mexico is in a position to receive its influx, to assimilate it, and to profit by its coming.

"Immigration has never been one of Mexico's primary problems. In prerevolutionary days the country was in the hands of an aristocracy which maintained effectual control of its land, its wealth and its resources. There was scant opportunity for the alien newcomer with no capital save his hands.

"In the ten years following the overthrow of the Diaz regime Mexico went from one revolution to another. During that period the principal concern of such aliens as were involved was not to get into Mexico but to get out of it safely.

"With the coming of peace and stable government dawned the era of the commoner. A policy was enunciated making the country's natural resources the property of the people. The agrarian law swung the axe on the feudal system of vast landed estates. From a few great parcels of property Mexico was, theoretically at least, broken up into a great number of little pieces for the legal taking of any according to his ability, industry, and influence.

The next step was logical enough. Foreseeing the rush from without to gather up bits of this potential wealth, Mexico enacted into law the slogan, 'Mexico for Mexicans.'

"The effect of these enactments will be to make it necessary for all aliens desirous of owning mining, oil, or farm property in Mexico to become Mexicans in fact or in spirit.

To Eat Her Cake And Have It.

"Thus Mexico will eat her cake and have it, too. She will give away her treasures and keep them as well—and with them will keep as citizens all those who would share in the vast wealth of her natural resources. In exchange for a permanent population of new citizens she offers opportunities such as few lands afford."

Mr. Chandler points out with detailed statistical data the decrease of immigration to the United States and the consequent possibilities for immigration to Mexico. From a high tide of 1,250,000 yearly, our first restriction law cut the influx to 700,000 a year, and then our 1924 act, further restricting the quotas, brought the 1925 total down to 300,000. Thus he estimates that certainly 400,000 Europeans per year who are anxious to come to the new world are barred from the United States and may very naturally turn to the open door of Mexico. This number is probably below the facts, as no one knows how many people would now be coming to America if we had no restrictions whatever.

These immigrants are in large part the same sort of aggressive, pioneer stock who have come to the United States in the past. They are usually willing to become citizens of the new land which offers them homes and a chance for success, and their citizenship becomes strengthened in their children and in succeeding generations. They probably will, in fact, become Mexicans, and will inject new blood into the people of the country and give to that republic a stronger nationality and more aggressive race.

At the same time the immigration will strengthen Mexico. Mr. Chandler foresees a steady development of the Mexican people, who have recently been freed from peonage, and are struggling toward better education through a public school system.

The whole outlook for Mexico in the next few generations is a rosy one, according to the Los Angeles publisher. While he appears to be in sympathy with the idea of "Mexico for Mexicans," he also foresees plenty of opportunity for American capital, but presumably for capital operated by Mexicans and not by outsiders who would go in for a few years, take all they can from the country, and then move out.

SEEK APPROVAL OF SETTLEMENT

Plan of Italian Debt Payment to be Ratified.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Administration forces opened a drive in the senate today to obtain ratification of the $2,042,000,000 Italian debt settlement within 10 days.

Under the slogan of "accept this settlement or get nothing from Italy," Republican leaders hoped to hasten a favorable decision. A Democratic group, however, aided by progressive Republicans planned to force a vote upon recommitting the whole settlement to the senate finance committee with instructions to "obtain further information regarding Italy's ability to pay."

Administration spokesmen, led by Senator Smoot (R.), of Utah, a member of the American debt commission, have vigorously opposed this plan.

"There is no need for further study," said Smoot. "The American commission was advised not only from Italian sources but by its own American advisers on Italy's capacity to pay and this was taken into consideration in arranging the settlement. The question before us now is either accept this settlement or get nothing from Italy."

Smoot also declared the Italian settlement, if ratified, could not be used by any other European nation to obtain more lenient terms in settling America's other foreign debts.

"So far as a settlement of the French debt is concerned," Smoot added, "the Italian agreement will have no more effect than a snap of the fingers. There is no comparison between the national wealth and resources of Italy and those of France—no more than between a beggar and a millionaire."

PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Three "Wise Crack" Contestants Get Cash Awards.

Winners in the "wise cracks" contest conducted during the past week in connection with the showing of the film, "Irene," at the American theatre, were announced today.

They are: Jennie Putnam, of Smith's Ferry, Pa., who will receive $5 for her winning contribution.

James Wildblood, 1024 St. Clair avenue, city, who will be awarded $4.

Marie Kirkbride, R. F. D. No. 1, city, who takes down the third cash prize of $3.

Selected from the standpoint of general interest and application the winning "wise cracks" are:

First prize, Irene says: "Suing for a divorce is like making a cake; don't forget anything"—Jennie Putnam, Smiths Ferry, Pa.

Second prize, Irene says: "If a man has the disposition of a mule, you'd better not talk about him behind his back"—James Wildblood, 1024 St. Clair avenue, city.

Third prize, Irene says: "A woman frequently picks out a blooming idiot when she thinks she is getting the flower of manhood"—Marie Kirkbride, R. F. D., No. 1, city.

Hundreds of "Irene says" quips poured in on the contest editor during the week, and the final selection was anything but easy.

Contestants whose contributions were published each afternoon in the Review-Tribune as the best of the lot brought in in each daily mail received tickets to the movie house, and these "cracks" were considered with the others in the final judging.

The three winners can receive their cash awards at the Review-Tribune office.

The jurors are Rev. Paul F. Ebert, Lutheran church pastor; Elias J. Goodering, railroad man; Edward Renner, clay worker; Fred Frutig, farmer; A. Veley, farmer; Lester Stonebrook, shipping clerk; C. K. Kies, building contractor; Denton Young, farmer, former big league baseball pitcher; Clarence R. Ripley, insurance agent and Mrs. A. E. Lichti, wife of a farmer.

Judge Charles S. Turnbaugh of Cambridge, presiding at the trial was expected to rule on admission of depositions from Verna Aulenbach, Reading, Pa., who, the state charges, is the "other woman" in the case, and of Anna Fickes who was a visitor in the Haver home with Miss Aulenbach last August.

The defense will place Haver on the stand late tomorrow or Friday morning it was indicated today. Haver is expected to tell the same story he told newspaper men last week when he said his wife had died from an overdose of headache tablets and that in the fear of being blamed for hear death, he had become panic stricken and had hidden the body in a well.

real "American Riviera." Others are imitations, and Chicago knows it, if slow New York does not. Fifty-five millions of dollars including some northern millions, are being spent now, on Gulf coast improvements. Magnificent, fast express trains will give direct service from Chicago and the Gulf. Try the Panama limited, on the Illinois Central.

Millions in money and people—will pour in from Chicago and the lake cities to the Gulf coast in winter, disdaining other resorts, as the great crowd from Philadelphia travels to Atlantic City, ignoring New York resorts.

Wise northerners with money are now prospecting, seeking Gulf coast bargains to devour, H. M. Moir, who owns the Morrison hotel in Chicago, is investing two millions in his place at Holmhaven-on-the-Coast.

Beet sugar men are down here, convinced that the soil, deposited more than 150 feet deep by the Mississippi, will do for beef sugar what it does for cane sugar.

TWO things this nation should do now, as the "don't mean maybe" song says. It should establish a waterway for ocean steamers, from New Orleans to Chicago and the other lake cities.

And second, the wasted, surplus waters that rush past this city to the gulf, through a chasm 160 feet deep, should be diverted and made to irrigate lands to the west that need the water.

COL. BOYCE THOMPSON says the Mississippi flood problem could be sending surplus water to western deserts.

Secretary Work, who has energy and is not interested in the word "impossible," should put his own and the army engineers at the two problems.

Secretary Davis, reared on the Mississippi's shore at St. Louis, knows that the proud old river needs handling and controlling, and would gladly help.

And President Coolidge could be made to see that the scheme would yield a profit for the people and then he would be for it. Railroads would oppose the waterway, and it would make them richer. You remember how bankers fought the federal reserve.

SOFIA, April 14. — More than 200 participants in the Greek revolt at Salonica were killed, according to 12 survivors of the insurrection who arrived here today. Premier Pangalos, they said, personally ordered the soldiers to fire at the rebels, and to show no mercy.

NO HOPES FOR DISARMAMENT

Russia's Refusal to Participate Complicates Situation.

LONDON, April 14.—Russia's refusal of the league of nations invitation to participate in the preliminary disarmament conference has only served to heighten pessimism here regarding the possibilities of any further reduction of armaments by international agreement or otherwise.

Although the Baldwin government has announced that it will do all possible to bring about the success of the forthcoming disarmament conference, it is now rumored that there is a chance that the preliminary conference scheduled for May 18 in Geneva may be further postponed.

The ambition disarmament proposals of the league of nations, constituting the most complicated problem with which the world has ever been asked to deal, are still a matter for negotiation and unless Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany can reach a basic agreement of these proposals it is anticipated that there may be a postponement. The league of nations suffered a severe blow to its prestige when the question of Germany's entrance was left unsettled because of disputes, and league leaders would rather postpone the disarmament conference than take a chance on another failure.

PASTOR QUITS HIS CHARGE

Misconduct Charges Filed Against Columbus Minister.

COLUMBUS, April 14.—That Rev. James A. Troke, 36, had been forced to resign as pastor of the Eastwood Congregation church there because of alleged misconduct, is the announcement made today by Rev. John A. Schmink, promotion secretary for the Congregational church in Ohio.

The Central Ohio association of Congregational churches, it was stated, has been asked to revoke Troke's certificate as a clergyman. It was charged that Troke, in applying here last February for a license to wed Miss Miram A. Hempstead, Croton, falsely declared he was not previously married and had a wife living.

Local clergymen who conducted an investigation claimed that Troke was divorced from Mrs. Estella Troke, Clarksfield, Minn., his second wife, last September; that he deserted his first wife and unborn babe a few weeks after their marriage; that he tried to obtain money held in trust for his prospective bride, and that he secured funds from relatives of another fiancee an Ohio Wesleyan co-ed, which he spent in obtaining his divorce from the second Mrs. Troke.

Automobile Stolen.

George Cornell, 1208 Oak street, reported to the police today that his Chevrolet coupe bearing license number 242,561 was stolen Monday night while parked in Broadway.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 14.—Tuesday's sharp closing rally, which eliminated a large share of the outstanding short interest, took the "snap" out of the forward movement in prices in the stock market, and the trend of prices turned downward in the first hour today. The swift decline in the specialties like National Biscuit and National Dairy Products, together with the shrinkages of two or three points in the industrial and motors which led yesterday's final rally, emphasized the professional character of the market as a whole.

Prices moved downward in every section of the market in this period in response to heavy offerings of the motor, industrial and specialty stocks by the professionals. National Biscuit sold down 6 points to 70¼ as a result of the failure of the directors to make the regular dividend more than $4 a share. National Dairy Products was under liquidation and declined 4 points to a new low for the year around 53. Hudson Motors, General Motors and Chrysler were pushed on the market and offered at concessions of a point or two, while market leaders like United States Steel and General Electric soon settled to a lower range of prices.

Government Control Of Sale of Beer is Urged by Andrews

WASHINGTON, April 14.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, who for a year has wrestled with the job of enforcing prohibition, created a sensation at the capitol today when he frankly told the senate prohibition committee that he favored a system of governmental control and sale of beer as an aid in enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

The dry czar said he favored sale of beer as an aid to temperance as well as prohibition enforcement.

Andrews also shocked dry members of the committee by declaring his agents were unable to capture more than "one in ten" of the private stills now being operated in the houses of American citizens. He declared he had instituted a new policy, however, of making his men concentrate on "big game" instead of on home brewers.

Andrews declared the day of invading homes without search warrants was passed.

GERMANY TO SEND DELEGATE

Enlargement of League Council to be Discussed.

BERLIN, April 14. — Germany will send a delegate to the league of nations committee which has been appointed to study the question of enlarging the league council, the German cabinet definitely decided today.

Enlargement of the council is proposed as a measure calculated to avoid the controversies over seats which marked the last meeting of the league.

The cabinet, replying to the note, said that it understood the function of the committee was to study "the enlargement of the council, election methods, and the length of terms during which non-permanent members will hold seats."

Foreign Minister Stresemann will sign the note at Locarno, Switzerland, where he is now resting, and forward it to Geneva.

Kiwanis Governor Will Visit Local Club Tomorrow

BERGDOLL FACES GERMAN COURT

Draft Evader on Verge of Collapse as Trial Begins.

MOSBACH, Baden, Germany, April 14.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft evader, was in a state of near collapse just before he went on trial today charged with assaulting a 14-year-old girl. Bergdoll faces a sentence of 10 years in the penitentiary if he is convicted.

Bergdoll vehemently protests his innocence. However, the prospective ordeal has brought him to a state of excitement which may mean his collapse before the trial is over, his attorneys said.

Mosbach was crowded this morning with throngs of curious who had come here by train and automobile to attend the trial. At the opening of the trial the presiding judge ordered the public excluded declaring that much of the evidence would endanger public morals. Newspapermen were also forced to leave the court room.

Bergdoll, neatly dressed in a well-cut blue serge suit, appeared in the defendant's box, appearing calm and confident. Miss Freidsel Schmitt, daughter of a banker, is the principal witness against Bergdoll.

The trial has attracted wide attention and even though it was expected that the public would be excluded from the court room, hundreds of Badenese came into Mosbach for the trial.

Bergdoll opened his testimony with a general denial of the charge and declared that it is "the third ruse adopted by Americans to have me ousted from Germany."

The former Philadelphian declared that his American enemies hope that he will be deported from Germany and can be brought back to the United States to complete his sentence for draft dodging.

In his previous appearances in the limelight Bergdoll has been something of a hero but in this case he attracts little attention, and only a small group of friends rallied about him today.

The prosecution has summoned seven witnesses. The defense has summoned six witnesses, including a psychiatric expert, Professor Gruhle of Heidelberg, who will testify as to the credibility of the chief witness of the prosecution, Miss Schmitt.

FORTY-SEVEN.

The soft toile de Jouy hanging at the window of an apartment off Lake Shore drive in Chicago blew gently back and forth with the refreshing breeze ,and ruffled the negligee of the shade of green orchid which scarce concealed the ivory shoulders of Miss Jocelyn Johnstone. She was seated before an elaborate dressing-table which was her altar. She combed out her short hair until it bristled on either side of her face. Now she rubbed cold cream into her flesh, wiping away the discarded artificial complexion with a towel. Then she carefully made up again, applying fresh carmine to her lips, new rouge to her cheeks, and outlining her eyes with a blue pencil. Presently, still sitting before her dressing-table, she lighted a cigaret and began to reflect, one knee resting lightly on the other, swinging her leg backward and forward, from the foot of which a satin mule, the toe sparkling with an infinity of tiny mirrors, depended.

Her thoughts caused her to sigh. She was getting tired of this business of giving her heart and taking it away again. After all, no woman wants to commercialize her heart. . . Why, for instance, shouldn't she marry a man like John Ingate? She didn't love him, but for that reason, no doubt, she could make him a good wife, she decided. . . He was not a bad sort. Central City was a nice town, not too large for her to be a person of importance. . . . Besides old acquaintances would be less likely to run across her in such a place. . . . But, her mind told her, the suit had spoiled everything. . . . Still, possibly. . . . .

Her meditations were disturbed by the ringing of the telephone. "Mr. White wishes to be announced," the knowing voice of the telephone operator downstairs advised.

Jocelyn reflected a moment. She was not sure she wished to see Reggie White this evening. It was late, and she was tired, and she wished to be alone. But her hesitation was of no consequence anyway, for the operator continued: "He's on the way up."

Miss Johnstone threw a soft robe of the color of silver about her, which, however, did not hide her bare ankles. After releasing the latch on the door she sat down by the window, where she could see the lights blinking along Wilson avenue in the distance.

"Well, how's Circe?" He always called her that, particularly because of his delight in the knowledge that she didn't grasp the significance of the appellation.

Miss Johnston had returned only that morning from Central City, and it was the first time she had seen Reggie White since the filing of the $100,000 breach of promise suit against John Ingate. She did not reply to his greeting but continued her moody contemplation of the sight revealed to her eyes by the open window. When Reggie came over to kiss her she submitted without feeling.

"What's the matter. . . . Really in love with Outgate?" Reggie White was always twisting people's name, under the impression that it was humorous.

Jocelyn shrugged. "I'm glad it's over with."

"I was around to see our noble lawyer this afternoon. He says compromise looks easy. He—."

"I was against a suit, Reggie," she crisply announced. "It's—."

"Don't get chicken-hearted. He'll settle quickly enough now. Think he wants his letters published? Think he wants a comedy put on in court, with him as the comedian?"

"Well, our noble lawyer's sly little threats didn't seem to terrify him."

"Well, a suit's different. No doubt his women folks are already frantically beseeching him to settle."

"Probably." She remembered the elder Mrs. Ingate with a frown. Women like Mrs. Ingate were the drawback to marrying men like John. . . . "Who is this new egg you want me to meet?"

"Big butter and egg man. Really that. Comes from out Nebraska way. However, he's married."

Jocelyn frowned. "And I suppose he's some big hulk with the intelligence of a movie actor. . . . I'm getting tired of all this, Reggie."

The visitor smiled knowingly. "I suupose you have visions of a little gray home in the west—part of Central City."

Contemptuous silence was her reply to this. Reggie went over to the phone and ordered ginger ale sent up.

"Found some good stuff on my little ramble with this butter and egg man. You must try a highball. Don't suppose you've been drinking much lately."

"I don't want anything to drink."

Reggie White regarded her with twinkling eyes as he sat down and lighted a cigaret. "Whew! this Ingate guy seems to have a kick."

Jocelyn looked over at him savagely. "He has some idea of decency. It was a new experience."

Reggie White drew up his mouth in an amused expression. "Save it, Josie, save it! Those tears will be worth $10,000 each in the courtroom."

"I'm not going to go into a courtroom with this. If it has to go that far, then I'm out of it."

Reggie White's expression sobered and a cruel light entered his eyes. "Enough of that talk. You'll stick to the end. It's rather easy to prove conspiracy, you know."

Jocelyn Johnstone gave a nervous start which she ill concealed. She had long lived in fear of becoming entwined in the toils of the law. The fiasco which had forced them to flee New York had given her a bad case of fright, and it was with difficulty that Reggie White had persuaded her to go on with the game of blackmail in Florida first, then Chicago.

Automobile Is Outstanding Development of Present Age

John V. Swearingen, Local Distributor for General Tires Discusses Growth of Rubber Tire Industry.

The development, within a comparatively short period of years, of the modern automobile, with its present stamina and durability, has been one of the outstanding developments of this marvelous age in which we are living, says John V. Swearingen of Travelers' Garage, local distributor of the General Tire and Rubber company.

"Each part which goes to make up the completed motor car has a story in itself, but I think we will all agree, especially while driving over an unusually rough and rocky road, that the present rubber tire is the crowning achievement of the automobile industry.

"Being identified with the tire industry, and having closely watched the constant improvement that has taken place, I get the tire man's angle as well as a knowledge of the tire user's experience, and I can not help but occasionally looking back over the short span of years and wondering if the American people really appreciate the improvement that has been made in the manufacture of automobile tires—an article now a necessity to nearly every one in the country.

"This is the era of the cord tire, and the balloons, those low pressure tires which add riding comfort and other qualities to the automobile as well as giving mileage four or five times as much as the good old tire of only a few years ago. In fact, today the tire is the automobile accessory that causes the least worry.

"Just consider the gruelling punishment a set of tires must stand in the course of carrying of a loaded automobile, weighing two tons or more, over bumps and sharp rocks, through sand and mud, up hill and down, for 15,000 or 20,000 miles. Those comparatively thin and resilient tire walls take all the stress of this fearful treatment day in and day out under all sorts of weather conditions and seldom give out until their span of expected service has been run.

"Service from tires can be counted on nowadays with assurance of its being delivered, and when I return from the factories of the General Tire and Rubber company at Akron, Ohio, the tire center of the world, the romance of it all comes to me. There I see car load after car load, tons and tons of rubber delivered from the other side of the world; where it has come, drop by drop, slowly but surely from the trees of the plantation, mysteriously supplied by nature not only to play a part in modern transportation but to make that remarkable achievement —the automobile—possible."

RELIEVE SICKNESS THROUGH GLANDS SAYS SCIENTIST

Dr. Serge Voronoff, an international authority on glands, says: "The brain, the nerves, the muscles, as well as the liver, the kidneys and all other organs would be incapable of playing any useful part without the aid of the glands. The functioning of our organs is no more than the result of the activity of our glands, and when the bodily functioning is disturbed, the cause, in most cases should be sought not in the condition of the organ itself but in the condition of the gland which controls it."

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

DOCTORS OVERPAID EXAMINER CLAIMS

COLUMBUS, April 14. — Alleged overpayments of fees to physicians is adversely criticized in a report made public today by State Examiner Roy E. Kirk, covering inspection of records of the state industrial commission. Kirk asks the commission to investigate the situation. The commission paid $6,539,699 in medical fees during the three years ending June 30, last, according to Kirk, who cited at least 20 physicians of Ohio who received fees totaling from $10,000 to $50,000 annually for services in connection with workmen's compensation cases.

SON OF GENERAL IS NOW PRIVATE

Norwegian Explorer Is Serving in Radio Corps of U. S. Army.

New York—Kipling didn't invent his "gentleman ranker." For in the armies of the world there has always been a sprinkling of men of gentle birth and fortune—lured to the company of more humble souls by the magic of soldier life.

And perhaps no medieval men at arms or proud battalion of a pagan emperor ever boasted a more talented or pedigreed array of rear-rank "bucks" than does the present-day regular army of Uncle Sam.

As witness the latest doughboy extraordinary, Private Kristian Brandt, U. S. A.—direct descendant of fierce vikings, his father a major general in the Norwegian army, himself once a distinguished cadet in the West Point of his own country and later an Arctic explorer, big game hunter and radio engineer. Brandt has just been discovered among the soldier students of the army signal school at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Military Career Too Tame.

A mapped-out military career proving too tame, this intrepid young globe girdler had followed frozen trails in the south polar regions and adventured within the Arctic circle with thrills aplenty between the two before the new and fascinating science of radio intrigued his eager interest.

It was while hunting whales in the Antarctic that his knowledge of radio first proved its worth to the expedition. Facing possible death by starvation, Brandt, after all other means of communication had failed to bring relief, built his own radio station in the south polar ice and brought the party in touch with outposts of civilization. Later this same station received recognition in the net of the International Radio union, and since has become known as the largest floating station in the world.

Although an explorer, whale hunter and radio engineer, Brandt naturally had to be first a soldier, his family having been connected with the Norwegian army for more than 300 years. His father, Maj. Gen. F. O. Brandt, now commanding the First division, Norwegian army, with visions of his own stars on his son's shoulders, sent him to the military academy while he was yet a boy.

But young Brandt left it all and joined an exploring expedition in the Far North. That was in 1920. Shortly after passing Spitzbergen the party got caught in the ice. Yet they did set up a chain of food depots before returning, and for this Roald Amundsen, the polar flyer of 1925, who used at least one of them, has cause to be thankful.

To U. S. for Radio Training.

Back in Norway again Brandt now became interested in radio. This marked a turning point in an adventurous career. It was his Antarctic experiences, however, that whetted his appetite to learn more of the new science, and he finally decided to come to America for advanced radio training.

For ten months after his arrival in the United States he worked in the laboratories of the Radio Corporation of Amerlca at New Brunswick, N. J. This position he later resigned to enter the United States army signal corps. His commanding officer at Fort Monmouth that young Brandt is showing himself no less a student than he was an explorer.

Old Swedish Castles to Get Steam Heat

Stockholm.—Steam heat and running water are to be installed in the old royal castles of Sweden. In a special budget just submitted to the riksdag the government asks for the requisite funds.

For water supply in the five hundred-year-old Gripsholm castle, located on an island near Stockholm, an appropriation of $12,000 is requested, and $16,000 is asked for a central heating plant in the Sixteenth century Halmstad castle on the west coast. Though once inhabited by several of the Swedish kings and their families, the Gripsholm castle is now used as a museum and national picture gallery. One of its priceless treasures being a contemporary portrait of Queen Elizabeth of England.

Among the other castles to be modernized are those of Leckoe on the shores of Lake Vanern, once the headquarters of the influential De La Gardie family, and the heavily fortified Calmar castle on the east coast, which in the Middle ages was known as the "key to Sweden."

1,187,500 Crystal Sets Predominate in Britain

Washington.—The radio crystal receiving set, which confines reception mainly to the nearest broadcasting station, still is the predominant type used in the British Isles.

Of the 1,570,000 British receivers, Commerce department figures show that about 75 per cent are crystal sets.

Present indications are that the British Broadcasting company, which conducts all broadcasting in Great Britain under contracts from the government, probably will be bought by the government at the expiration of its contract next year.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—An additional appropriation of $3,000,000 will be asked of congress for prohibition enforcement, it was learned at the treasury today.

President Coolidge and Budget director H. M. Lord have approved the supplemental appropriation.

Wheat and Rye Under Average Record for 10 Years.

The April crop report issued yesterday by the West Virginia crop and live stock reporting service shows the condition of the state's wheat and rye crops to be better than was reported on the same date a year ago but below a ten-year average for the state; pasture as yet is short and farmers report that adverse weather conditions have kept them from seeding oats and doing other spring work.

The unusual wet fall of 1925 caused much of the wheat and rye to be sown late, giving it a poor start, but this was followed by fair snow covering with other favorable conditions, and on December 1 a condition of 85 per cent was reported for wheat and 86 per cent for rye. The recent freezing and thawing caused by changeable weather and continued winter, has resulted in the condition being lowered somewhat and at present the wheat condition is estimated as 80 per cent compared to last year's average at this date of 73 per cent and a ten-year average of 80 per cent; rye condition being estimated at 83 per cent against last year's of 81 per cent and ten year average of 88 per cent.

Pastures throughout the state are in need of warm weather to start their growth, and have a reported condition of 77 per cent as compared to 87 per cent last April. Much damage is being done to young clover by freezing and thawing, causing the plants to be lifted, while grasses are reported as being in fair shape but short.

The report also shows that the supply of farm labor at present is 102 per cent of the demand which is equal that for the same period last year. Wages have declined slightly and farmers say they are hiring as few men as possible, because they cannot afford to pay wages as high as mining, oil and industrial interests of the state. Present prices of farm monthly labor is $34.25 a month with board, $48.50 without board, while day labor is $1.70 with board and $2.35 without board.

TELEPHONE RATE BOOST APPROVED

The order of the Public Service commission approving some increases in telephone rates in this state was approved except in one particular by the supreme court of appeals today in a decision refusing the motions of Huntington, Charleston and other cities to suspend the Public Service Commission order.

The supreme court, however, modified the commission order by eliminating provisions for automatic regrouping of cities as their number of telephones increase, holding that this was in opposition to the requirements for hearings on changes in rates.

Judge H. B. Woods concurring in part in the decision of the majority of the court dissented in some respects and in a minority opinion suggested that the increase of rates should be suspended and the case remanded to the commission for further hearing.

MADE PROFIT OF $10,000 IN ONLY THREE WEEKS

By simply following the advise of friends, Mr. Owen Carr, aged 71 years, and a lifelong resident of Bridgeport, O., considers himself $10,000 better off within a period of three weeks. This is how it happened: For four years or more Mr. Carr was a sufferer from rheumatism and neuritis, and recently sustained a stroke of paralysis. His stomach was in bad shape, and coupled with his other major ailments, life was simply a misery to him. Upon advise of friends, after having taken, as he says, "barrels of medicine without result," he began a treatment of Ka-di-ok, the wonderful herbal system builder and stomach tonic. In three weeks, Mr. Owen declared to the Ka-di-ok representative, he was a well man, and considers himself "$10,000 better off." This is a genuine statement coming from a most grateful friend of Ka-di-ok, and what Ka-di-ok did for Mr. Carr it has done for thousands of others and will continue to do for many thousand more, if sufferers will but give it a chance by taking a treatment.

Mr. Owen Carr

"Three Faces East" Is Photoplay Hit At Strand Theatre

Scoring an emphatic hit, "Three Faces East," a Rupert Julian production featuring Jetta Goudal, Robert Ames, Henry Walthall and Clive Brook, has its last Strand presentation at the theatre tonight. It is a picture of exceptional dramatic force and the scenes are effective and thrilling. The story deals with the British and German Secret Service during the World War, and in its development to a surprising climax, no pains were spared to render it an absorbing and appealing spectacle. The portrayals by the featured players were artistic and satisfying. Every lover of strong virile motion pictures will find in "Three Faces East" just what they are looking for and then some.

4 out of 5 lose

RHEUMATISM, neuritis and other kindred ailments frequently follow pyorrhea, the dread disease of the gums. Yet carelessness makes pyorrhea all too prevalent. Four out of five suffer from it after forty, and many younger, according to your dentist's own figures.

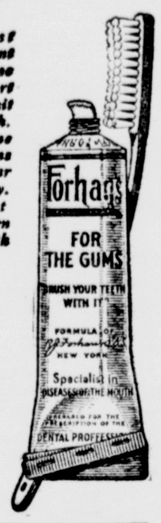

To be among the fortunate few who escape pyorrhea, begin at once using Forhan's for the Gums. If used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents or checks pyorrhea and safeguards your health.

It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid, which has been used by dentists for the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea. It is a pleasant, cleansing dentifrice that the entire family likes.

Today is none too soon to start brushing your teeth with Forhan's. Buy a tube right away and don't give pyorrhea a chance. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

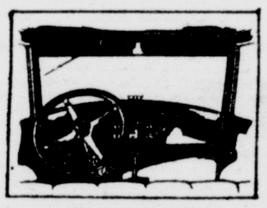

Rely on your Dentist

Your dentist wants to prevent pain, not to cause it. He won't hurt you, if you go visit him often enough. Have him examine your teeth and gums at least twice a year to keep them healthy. He may prevent serious illness often caused by mouth infections.

Safety demands clear vision

In the Hupmobile Six, with its narrow pillars—the result of its new composite, steel-and-wood body construction—vision ahead is improved 40 per cent over less modern construction.

A thick, broad front pillar can completely hide an object even as bulky as another motor car, as the left hand diagram shows.

And, as the right hand diagram shows, the slender Hupmobile pillar permits the driver to see the same car, at the same distance, in plenty of time.

That is safety vision—and it is but one of the superior features which you always associate with Hupmobile history and reputation.

Outstanding by reason of these definite superiorities—summed up in its wonderful performance, its beauty, its demonstrated economy—the Hupmobile Six is winning thousands away from the higher priced, as well as the lower priced, sixes.

PUBLIC HEALTH LEAGUE MEETS

New Officers Elected at Meeting Held Here Recently.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Columbiana County Public Health league, held in Lisbon at the offices of the County Board of Health, B. Goldsmith was elected president; Dr. J. F. Steele, vice president, and George L. Lafferty, secretary-treasurer, all residents of Lisbon.

While there was a general discussion at this meeting relative to the location of the fresh air camp for 1926 no definite conclusions were reached, for the reason that funds are not sufficient at this time to build necessary permanent buildings. It is not certain at this time whether or not tents and cots can be borrowed from the United States army as has been the custom during the last few years. Another meeting of the committee will be held within two weeks, at which time it may be possible to definitely determine the status of the camp program for the current season.

ROAD ESTIMATE TO BE PREPARED

Following a conference between the trustees of West township and the county commissioners, an order was issued by the latter to County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk to make a survey and prepare an estimate for the improvement of the No. 1-A secondary road in West township. This road extends two miles north from Bayard, thence one mile west. The survey and estimate is to be furnished the commissioners and the trustees as soon as it is possible for the force under Surveyor Kirk to get to this work.

Wasn't Intended to Beautify People, But It Does

Remarkable Results Follow the Taking of the Wonderful World's Tonic

"For years I had suffered from indigestion. The effects were marked, for while I am yet a young woman, I grew painfully thin, the color left my skin and it became sallow and ugly and my eyes lost their sparkle and grew so weak I had to wear glasses.

"Nobody seemed able to tell me what was the matter, and I didn't feel like going out with other young people at all. Finally my grocer told me he had been wonderfully helped by World's Tonic, and urged me to get a bottle. He said he thought I had catarrh. I guess he was right, for about the first effect of this wonderful medicine was to clear up my head. In a few days my appetite increased and I felt much better. After two bottles my skin began to clear up, and the pink showed through. At the end of three bottles I commenced to gain in weight.

"Now people comment on my improvement. My skin is clear and I have gained twenty pounds. I didn't commence World's Tonic as a beautifier, but in addition to relieving my catarrh it has done more for me than all the face creams, mud packs, etc., that I have ever used."

That is the story told by a young woman who visited E. Liverpool Monday.

World's Tonic will help you. It is sold by Carnahan's and all other reliable druggists.

Excellence
comes into its own

In the past twelve months a substantially greater percentage of purchasers of America's finest motor cars has come over to the Willys-Knight Great Six. . .

This superb automobile is forging ahead in popularity solely as a result of its outstanding performance-record and the superior beauty and luxury it affords. . .

The advantages of the silent, super-smooth, super-efficient sleeve-valve engine—the only motor-car engine that actually improves with use—the supreme comfort of the magnificently-built Willys-Knight chassis and the richness of this car's equipment and appointments admit of but few competitors in the luxury-group of fine automobiles.

The Knight sleeve-valve engine is a patented engine. Its general use is prohibited by law. Other car manufacturers would gladly pay millions of dollars for the privilege of using it. But this is not now permitted, nor will it be until the Knight engine patents in America expire 7 years hence.

The
NEW STUTZ
with SAFETY CHASSIS

Why are 1923 cars worth so much less than 1924 cars?

STUTZ SAFETY CHASSIS 8

Body five inches nearer the ground
—yet providing full road clearance and headroom

Radically lowered center of gravity
—giving greater safety, comfort and roadability

Quiet, long-lived, worm-drive rear axle
—permitting lowered body; it improves with use

90 H. P. motor; with overhead camshaft
—novel design; smooth, flexible, vibrationless

New, non-leaking hydrostatic brakes
—inherently equalized; quick-acting and positive

THE market value of the average 1923 model is far below that of the 1924 model. Between the cars of those years there is a much greater difference in value than one year's difference in date of production usually means.

The answer, of course, is that 1924 saw the general adoption of four-wheel brakes and balloon tires, practically obsoleting all cars not so equipped. History is beginning to repeat itself between the cars of 1926 conventional chassis design and those of the years to come.

The advanced engineering ushered in by The NEW STUTZ Safety Chassis, achieving a much lower center of gravity and thus accomplishing greater safety and roadability, has set new standards.

The basic changes in chassis construction, inaugurated by The NEW STUTZ and today exclusive in The NEW STUTZ, will be copied hereafter by manufacturers of other fine cars. Cars built on present conventional lines will then be classed as obsolete and their market or "trade-in" value will suffer, just as that of 1923 cars has suffered in comparison with 1924 four-wheel braking and balloon-tire equipped cars.

Protect your investment for the future

Today you are not purchasing an automobile for one year. You are looking to that investment as seriously as though it were an investment for income.

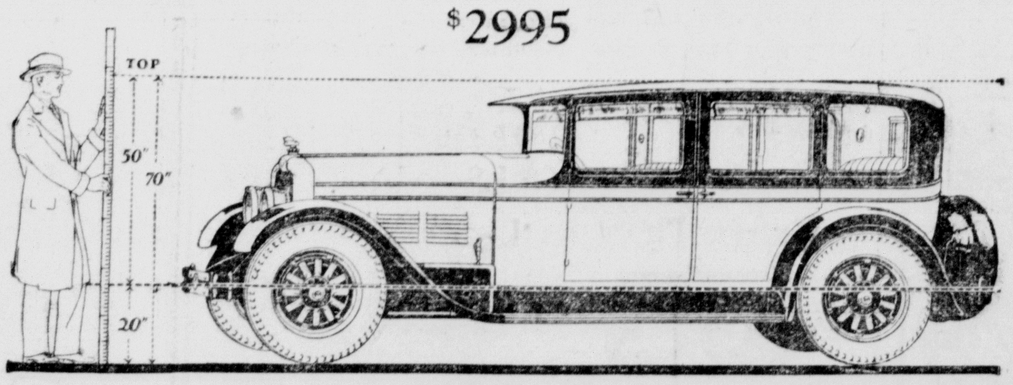

Protect your investment by buying a car that will be modern and up-to-date two years from now.

Even though you may not be able to get immediate delivery of a NEW STUTZ, remember that in buying this car today you are really getting an automobile that is years in advance of current conventional design.

Is it not safer for you to perhaps wait for delivery, and secure this modern car, than to take the chance that your investment will be seriously depreciated a year hence?

FRED STONE HERE APRIL 19

"Stepping Stones," Big Musical Comedy, is Ceramic Booking.

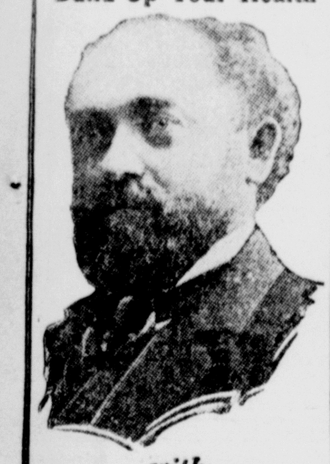

The great triennial musical comedy event in East Liverpool is the advent of Fred Stone in a new Charles Dillingham production, and the announcement that Mr. Stone is booked for an engagement at the Ceramic theatre on Monday, April 19, will arouse the enthusiasm of the Stone admirers.

The fact that the famous entertainer will be assisted in the new play by his brilliant young daughter gives extraordinary interest to the announcement. Dorothy Stone, who is not yet 18 years of age, became a star overnight by reason of her remarkable performance in "Stepping Stones" a year ago, and the partnership of father and daughter is an artistic combination such as the stage has seldom seen.

"Stepping Stones" is said to be the most amusing, sumptuous and dazzling of all the Fred Stone successes.

ASK INJUNCTION ON ARCADIA LOTS

Two restraining orders have been sought in common pleas court against the continued sale of lots in "Arcadia" addition, Wellsville. The petitions seeking these orders were filed by Attorney James E. O'Grady, of Wellsville, in behalf of M. K. Duty, of Wellsville, and Clapsaddle & Kirk, civil engineers, of East Liverpool.

The petition of Duty was the first to be filed, his claim being for $1,109.58 for work and labor performed in clearing the tract, which is a plat over looking Enghteenth street, Wellsville.

Clapsaddle & Kirk, a firm of civil engineers in East Liverpool, laid out the tract, and their itemized statement presented the promoters and upon which payment was refused amounted to $1,355.50.

The restraining order sought was against the continued sale of lots, and for the conveyance of any property.

The defendants named in the petition are Cecil H. Taylor, trustee; W. A., L. B. and H. L. Post, of Pittsburgh, Pa., also Ernest Richards, agent of H. L. Post & Sons; the Perpetual Savings and Loan company and C. W. Arnold, both of Wellsville.

WILL START ROAD WORK TOMORROW

"The Salineville-Wellsville road will be closed at 7 o'clock Thursday morning," County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk announced today. The highway will be closed only within a half mile from the Salineville end of the road, and where a detour of one-quarter of a mile has been provided for travel into Salineville.

Pouring of concrete on this half-mile job will begin within a few days, and with favorable weather prevailing, the work should be completed within eight days. Three weeks will be required for the new concrete to "cure" after which the road will be opened into Salineville.

I want to take this opportunity to thank my friends and all those who so kindly assisted me in winning first place in the F. A. Musser contest.

FACES RECKLESS DRIVING COUNT

James W. Stevenson, Twelfth and Commerce streets, last night was given a hearing before Justice James Stevenson, at Hillcrest, on a charge of reckless driving, as an aftermath of a collision Monday between the defendant's car and a machine owned and driven by Newton Culp, of Hammondsville. Justice Stevenson today had not announced a decision in the case.

Stevenson, according to authorities, enroute from Canton, driving a car belonging to "Bud" Pugh, passed a wagon on a graded "curve a short distance north of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian church, and hit Culp's machine almost head-on. Culp, authorities said, was on the right side of the road.

Both machines, of heavy construction, were badly wrecked by the crash. Mrs. Culp and three children miraculously escaped with only cuts and bruises. Following the accident they were brought to the city by Dr. J. M. King and later taken to their home.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEET TONIGHT

20 COMPETE IN CHECKER TOURNEY

The Wellsville city checker tournament which started early in March with an entry list of 20 of the city's best performers, is nearing the completion of the third round.

The tournament is being conducted on the "Heffner double knockout plan," which eliminates any player when beaten twice.

At the close of the second round six players had been eliminated while indications point to the retirement of five more at the conclusion of the third round.

MARATHON GASOLINE

"Puts Pep in Your Motor"

----Get Your Money's Worth Out of Your Car

Your car was built to deliver many thousands of miles of transportation. You lose good money if you don't use them. For an automobile depreciates faster according to the years it has lived than the miles it has run. And interest on your investment and garage expense go on just the same.

Figure it out. Estimate this year's depreciation. And garage and interest costs. nIclude gas, oil and tire wear to cover say 6000 miles. Figure the cost per mile. Then make a calculation on a 10,000 basis.

You'll be surprised. You'll find your cost per mile approximately one-third lower on the higher mileage. You're getting more of your money's worth out of your car.

And to get the most out of the operation of your car, keep your tank filled with MARATHON GASOLINE. Any expert will tell you that your motor will perform better, and require less attention if fed consistently on one gasoline of high, uniform quality. There is no finer motor fuel made than MARATHON GASOLINE. It is clean, It is full-powered. It is right for present day operating conditions.

It Never Varies. Always Dependable.

Major League Openers Show No Effects of "Rabbit Ball"

Nats-Athletics Play 15 Frames to Decide Single-Run Contest

Inaugural Games Tend to Support Theory That Lively Horsehide Has Disappeared Between Seasons, Which, if True, May Mean End of Home Run Era.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 14.—It may be a bit early to start using one's mouth for a megaphone but quite a lot of able citizens have gone on record as declaring that the "rabbit ball" has been quietly dropped by organized baseball between seasons and yesterday's major league opening seemed to support this contention. This, if true, means the unlamented end of the home run era.

Except in one or two instances, there wasn't a great plenty of hitting anywhere and in Washington the ultimate was achieved when Walter Johnson breezed fifteen innings and Eddie Rommel fourteen without allowing a run. These performances, added to Jess Petty's one-hit effort at the Polo grounds, haven't been duplicated on inaugural day during recent years.

Petty, as a matter of fundamental fact, would have turned in a no-hit game, if Fournier had kept away from the play and permitted Cox to handle Frisch's fly unmolested.

Even in several of the free-scoring games, the hitting hardly kept pace with the runs. The Cards, for example, got seven runs but only ten hits and the Pirates replied by getting six runs from nine hits. The same ratio held true for the Reds' 7 to 6 decision over the Cubs.

Yanks-Sox Exception.

By way of further evidence, Lyons stopped the slugging Browns with one run and Uhle and Whitehill pitched excellent ball during the Indians' to to 1 verdict over the Tigers, hard hitting outfits both. The Tigers got eight hits off Uhle and the Indians nine off Whitehill and the man who relieved him for one inning. Carlson also turned in an adequate performance against the Braves, who got nine hits and three runs.

The only notable exception was furnished by the Yankees and Red Sox, the latter losing by 12 and 11. However, this sort of thing bobs up every now and then, even with the best of pitching and the Sox-Yanks variety was the absolute worst.

Conviction that the "rabbit" was no more was borne in upon the writer, not as a preconceived notion, but by degrees. In the several games he has watched this spring the ball failed to leave the bat with the old scream and this prompted me to believe, at first, that the pitchers were using a great deal of stuff.

Close observation, however, failed to prove that they had any more on the ball than is usually the case. It seemed to be the ball itself. The hitter met it fairly often enough but it seldom traveled on a line to distant fields. After watching the runaway rabbit for years, the effect was distinctly that of an indoor baseball being hit with a fungo bat.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

Spring being reputedly the season of the year for young pitchers, Walter Johnson had to go 15 innings before he could defeat the Athletics, 1 to 0. They got just six hits off Walter and 12 fanned the air. Rommel also turned in quite a performance but hits by S. Harris, Goslin and J. Harris in the final inning decided the issue.

Jess Petty finally began paying some overdue installments on his generous purchase price by shutting the Giants right out while the Dodgers got to Barnes for enough hits to win, 3 to 0. The Giants got one hit off Petty and that was of very dubious antecedents.

In spite of the fact that they had to dig the park out of a snow bank, a record crowd of 37,000 turned out to see the White Sox beat the Browns, 5 to 1, thanks to Lyons' pinch hitting.

After the Cubs had chased Donohue in the eighth, they folded up in the tenth and the Reds won, 7 to 6.

Another 37,000 crowd stampeded into Navin park but Uhle's pitching turned the Tigers back, the Indians getting a 2 to 1 decision by bunching blows against Whitehill. The Tigers filled the bases with two out in the ninth but Blue emptied them—with a pop fly to the infield.

Bottomley's homer with two on in the fifth was the abiding factor in the Cards' 7 to 6 decision over the Pirates. Hornsby had a perfect day with three hits.

PIRATES DROP OPENER, 7 TO 6

Bottomley's Homer With Two on Gives Cards Victory.

ST. LOUIS, April 14.—Bottomley's home run with two men on base gave the St. Louis Cardinals a victory over the world champions, Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 6, in the National league opener here yesterday.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Poise with the golf club develops with the study of your own golf form, and in reality that elusive term we know as golf form translates into nothing more than poise. After the player, through easy and studied practice swing, begins to sense the poise and balance of it he is pretty close to the real thing. The many details to which the player's attention is directed all have the one purpose of aiding him, in a large way, to keep his poise and balance. I urge the short back swing because, with the club topped short, balance is more easily held. Also, the player should understand that the more power factors he introduces into the swing, or the more violently he introduces these power factors, the more he increases likelihood of losing poise. Thus a short back swing, with poise and rhythm, will put much more force into the clubhead than a long, extended back swing lacking balance and timing. Keep that always in mind.

Jess Petty Blanks M'Graw's Giants

NEW YORK, April 14. — Rallying behind sensational pitching by Jess Petty, the Brooklyn Robins shut out the New York Giants before an opening throng of 45,000 fans yesterday 3 to 0. The big left-hander yielded only one hit, a scratch double by Frisch in the sixth.

Zach Wheat, veteran Brooklyn outfielder, led the attack on Virgil Barnes, Giant moundsman, hitting a double, two singles and a sacrifice. He drove in Brooklyn's first run in the third, while Fournier batted in two more tallies in the seventh.

Rabbit Maranville, making his first appearance at shortstop for the Robins, played a spectacular fielding game.

Mayor Walker of New York threw out the first ball.

Scott Plays Great Game for White Sox

CHICAGO, April 14—The Chicago White Sox opened the American league season here yesterday by defeating St. Louis, 5 to 1, before a crowd estimated at 37,000, the largest for any opening day in Sox park. Lyons, White Sox ace, pitched in fine form.

Bunching hits off Gaston, the Sox led off with a two-run lead. Gaston settled down and pitched well until he retired in favor of a pinch hitter after the sixth. Ballou, his successor, was driven from the mound after yielding five hits which brought three runs. Lyons, although touched for 10 safeties, tightened up in the pinches and was given perfect support.

Everett Scott, former Senator and New York shortstop, made his debut with the Sox with a great game in the field.

Uhle Hurls Indians To Win at Detroit

DETROIT, April 14.—George Uhle put Cleveland through a 2-to-1 victory over Detroit before 36,565 persons who paid to see the Tigers and Indians inaugurate the 1926 American league season here yesterday.

Spurgeon's single in the third scored Jamieson, who had got on base on a fielder's choice, and successive doubles by J. Sewell and Burns in the fourth, accounted for the other run.

Detroit threatened several times, but only in the sixth, when Tavener doubled after Blue had walked, did they score. In the eighth inning Manush, pinch hitting for Bassler doubled with one out, but Cobb, batting for Whitehill, lined into Uhle's hand and Manush was doubled at second. In the last inning, Detroit filled the bases on two walks and a single by Fothergill, but Blue popped out to end the game.

Bancroft's Braves Fall Before Phils

PHILADELPHIA, April 14. — The Phillies opened the season here yesterday by taking Bancroft's revamped Boston Braves into camp, 6 to 3. The Braves were helpless against the pitching of Carlson until the closing innings. Jimmy Johnston, former Brooklyn veteran, pinch batted for Hearn in the ninth and hit a home run with none on base.

The usual opening game celebration preceded the contest, Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick throwing out the first ball.

Johnson Gets Off With Shutout Win

WASHINGTON, April 14. — Washington and Philadelphia opened the baseball season in gala style here yesterday, battling 15 innings before the champion Senators won, 1 to 0. The game was a brilliant duel between pitching veterans, Walter Johnson for the Senators, beginning his nineteenth season, and Ed Rommel for the Athletics.

More than 25,000 fans braved the chilly weather and saw Vice President Dawes toss out the first ball. A floral piece was presented to Manager Bucky Harris and Johnson received a loving cup.

Bucky Scores Run.

Manager Harris crossed the plate with the winning run after he had singled. Goslin doubled and Joe Harris singled. Twice the Senators had filled the bags with two out, only to fall before Rommel's pitching. The Senators went hitless during the first four innings.

Twelve of the Athletics went down by the strikeout route, Johnson's curves and fast ones appearing as effective as ever. Rommel struck out one man and walked five while Johnson passed three.

The veteran Peckinpaugh sat on the bench and watched his substitute Buddy Myer play at shortstop. The youngster handled four chances and muffed one.

The liniment is named after the man who for years was trainer of the New York "Yankees," Cincinnati "Reds," Columbia University, etc., and now is trainer of Washington's 1924-1925 American League Champion Baseball Club.

It is called Mike Martin's Liniment. Local drug stores are featuring it. Any person suffering with aches, pains, lame back, rheumatism, swollen joints, stiffness, neuralgia or neuritis should get a bottle. It is pleasant to use, never stains and by rubbing a little into the sore, stiff achy parts you get almost magic relief.

Ball players often catch cold, get stiff, sore or bunged up and come to the ball park hardly able to work, yet out they come from a good rub with Mike Martin's Liniment, as lively, full of pep and ginger as anybody could wish. Watch them scamper and prance in rain or shine. You'd never dream they had an ache or pain in their lives. Mike Martin by making this liniment available to the general public in drug stores is doing a great thing for those who suffer. If reader lives out of town and druggist hasn't it, write Mike Martin, Washington Ball Club, Washington, D. C., and he will send a large family size bottle with full directions, parcel post, for $1. CHICAGO O. K.'S BOXING BILL

Five to One Verdict Returned Yesterday at Polls.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 14. — Chicago will have legalized boxing just as soon as Governor Len Small appoints the state boxing commission, following the passage by heavy majorities in yesterday's primary of the state boxing bill. The bill carried in Chicago—the only city voting on it—by 5 to 1, incomplete returns early today indicate.

The appointment of the commission and the perfecting of its organization is expected to take at least two months. A question on the subject wired to Governor Small at his home in Kankakee last night brought this reply: "I haven't given a thought to the commission."

Until the passage of the present bill prize fighting in Chicago had been outlawed for 20 years. Prominent features of the new bill are these:

Boxing will be under the supervision of a commission of three members and a secretary, appointed by the governor.

No bout shall exceed 10 rounds.

Champions will be compelled to defend their titles in decision affairs.

The commission shall regulate the prices of all shows.

All promoters must be residents of the state for at least three years prior to application for license.

MORRIS VICTOR IN CUE CONTEST

C. Morris easily defeated Shorty Shaffer, substituting for Charley Brown, in last night's match in the Grand Billiard parlors' city title cue tournament.

Coggy Moore will take on Frank Sainor in Thursday's match.

Morris has high run of 18 in last night's event. The scores by innings:

Morris—0, 1, 2, 7, 10, 0, 7, 7, 6, 1, 0, 18 0, 1, 2, 4, 3.

Shaffer—1, 1, 8, 9, 5, 0, 0, 0, 5, 1, 4, 2, 6, 1, 1, 3, 4, 3, 2.

Reds Go 10 Innings To Trim Cubs, 7 to 6

CINCINNATI, April 14.—The Cincinnati Reds took the opening game from Chicago, 7 to 6, here yesterday in a 10-inning exhibition, marked by rather free hitting, with poor fielding on the part of the Cubs.

Donahue was knocked out of the box in the eighth inning after keeping the hits well scattered until that period. Luque, who replaced him, pitched to two men, and May took the mound in the ninth.

Picinich registered the first homer of the season in the fifth inning, and Freigau duplicated with a homer for Chicago in the eighth inning.

What Pretty Girl Did For Sick Stomach

Miss E. Rich of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I don't know what the cause was, but every few days my stomach would feel all bloated up with gas, my appetite was poor and I felt sick to my stomach—to say nothing of headaches.

"I never thought of using Carter's Little Liver Pills until nothing seemed to help. After using Carter's I felt relieved at once—and now as soon as my stomach 'talks' back I answer with Carter's and have the last word."

Women Find

Great comfort in this new hygienic pad that discards easily as tissue—no laundry

ON many important counts, women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad."

There is a new way. A way that multiplies protection. A way, too, that solves the old problem and embarrassment of disposal.

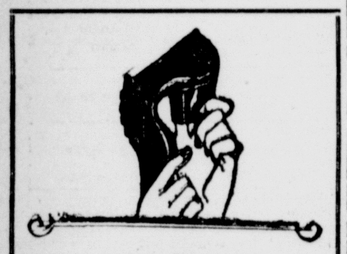

It is called "KOTEX." Ends the insecurity of the old-time sanitary pad. Five times as absorbent! And deodorizes—ends ALL fear of offending.

✓ As easily disposed of as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Eight in 10 better-class women employ it. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.
